

ASSISTED LIVING

Assisted living communities represent more than a third of our membership nationwide. As an important part of the continuum of aging services, assisted living members benefit from LeadingAge's open learning environment and the opportunity to network with nonprofit providers. Members share what's working, identify key innovations and how to implement them, and discover ways to expand their service offerings to improve the lives of older adults.

Member benefits specific to assisted living include:

Advocacy

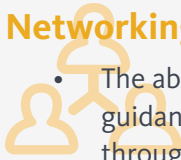

- Federal advocacy and monitoring of state and federal regulations pertaining to assisted living.
- Personalized assistance in learning how to advocate/educate your state/national elected officials through grassroots outreach.

Education/Professional Development

- Access to the latest news in the field and in the life plan/assisted living line of service through the Life Plan/Assisted Living Report Newsletter.
- The opportunity to build your skill set and knowledge base through the online LeadingAge Learning Hub on topics impacting the field, such as dementia, ageism, and workforce.

Networking

- The ability to share ideas, challenges, or get guidance from your aging services peers through listservs including: Assisted Living, Dementia Services, Wellness and Wellbeing.
- Peer learning through educational content at the LeadingAge Annual Meeting & EXPO and LeadingAge Leadership Summit.

Resources

- Access to workforce resources for aging services which contains promising practices, ideas for key partnerships, tools to calculate turnover, fact sheets, and other relevant information in the Center for Workforce Solutions.
- Information, education, and tools providers need to participate in managed care, integrated service delivery, and alternative payment models through the Center for Managed Care Solutions and Innovations.
- Access to Center for Aging Services Technologies (CAST) resources on technology for assisted living settings, including technology selection tools and the tracking of technology spending and adoption.
- Access to research, resources, and information on housing plus services through the LeadingAge LTSS Center@UMass Boston.
- Opportunity to access LeadingAge staff experts for guidance or technical assistance on topics related to assisted living, such as Medicaid.
