OVERVIEW:

This complimentary webinar will review how healthcare providers can eradicate cervical cancer through the use of evidence-based interventions to support effective screening and HPV vaccination.

OBJECTIVES:

At the conclusion of this session, participants will be able to:

- Describe the available cervical cancer screening test and the recommendations for cervical cancer screening from the United States Preventive Services Task Force and the American Cancer Society;
- Describe the value of the HPV vaccine as cancer prevention, and the ACIP recommendations for HPV vaccination;
- Employ at least one communication technique to strongly recommend the HPV vaccine to parents of 11-12 year olds; and
- Integrate evidence-based cervical cancer screening and HPV vaccination resources from the American Cancer Society, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and other organizations into their practice.

MEET YOUR FACULTY:

Debbie Saslow, PhD

Dr. Debbie Saslow, is the Managing Director of HPV & GYN Cancers at the American Cancer Society where she has worked since 1997. Dr. Saslow serves as the ACS lead for HPV-related cancers and directs its HPV vaccination nationwide priority program of work; provides strategic direction and leads staff teams working on the implementation of HPV-related activities; and provides evidence-based guidance to the organization. She is responsible for developing and updating ACS guidelines, including those for cervical cancer screening and for HPV vaccination. She also serves as ACS's lead for the elimination of cervical cancer as a public health problem. Dr. Saslow is also the Principal Investigator on two cooperative agreements to increase HPV vaccination and serves as the vice-chair of the National HPV Vaccination Roundtable.
