OVERVIEW:
Advance care planning is making decisions about the care a patient wants to receive if they become unable to speak for themselves. It is important to engage with the patient on what matters to them at end-of-life care and to respect their wishes for care. During this webinar, our speaker will discuss the CMS hospital Conditions of Participation (CoP) on advance directives, along with the Joint Commission standards, to help hospitals ensure compliance. This program will cover in detail advance directives, such as living wills, durable powers of attorney, mental health declarations, patient advocates and “do not resuscitate” orders. In addition, the speaker will share what healthcare personnel should do about asking patients about end-of-life wishes and resources on advance care planning, including a toolkit.

OBJECTIVES:
• Recall that the CMS CoP has requirements for advance directives for hospitals;
• Discuss that CMS will now pay physicians to do advance care planning;
• Describe that the Joint Commission has standards on advance directives;
• Explain what is required of hospitals under the federal Patient Self Determination Act;
• Discuss that CMS has now issued a deficiency report that shows the number of hospitals out of compliance with the advance directive standards; and
• Discuss that information on the hospital’s advance directive policies must be given to inpatients, EDs, observations, and same-day surgery patients under the CMS CoP hospital manual.
