WHAT IS MAPPS?

MAPPS is the geospatial industry’s largest professional business association. Members include the nation’s foremost aerial mapping, GIS, survey, and SUE companies, as well as technology and innovation companies that support geospatial programs and their projects which shape our world.

WHAT DOES MAPPS DO?

MAPPS is dedicated to the business aspects of geospatial professional services including surveying, mapping, remote sensing, and GIS. Therefore, MAPPS provides networking opportunities to:

• develop business to business partnerships;
• create new business opportunities;
• learn about geospatial market demands and product requirements; and
• understand emerging technologies and best practices.

MAPPS is also a policy advocate. Every year the federal, state and local government spends hundreds of millions of dollars on mapping initiatives. MAPPS coordinates with:

• key federal and state agencies, including USGS, USACE, USDOT and others to better know their mapping priorities; and
• Congress to help assure federal funding is available to support those priorities.
