

Recreational Boating Industries Educational Foundation

Industry Application

Applications: Due 30 days prior to start of educational program

The purpose of this scholarship, which is awarded to a person who is currently employed in the marine industry who would like to further his/her education within the marine industry, is to offer financial assistance for technical, sales, or other relevant training for marine industry personnel. The recipient of this scholarship will receive financial support to be paid to their training institution to help offset the student's tuition expenses.

Criteria

The applying marine technical school student must currently be enrolled in an approved marine technical program or show proof of enrollment in relevant training prior to distribution of funds.

Application Process

Complete the application below.

Include other documentation such as a letter, article, video, statement, or any other information which supports your interest in attending a continued education facility or program. Please provide a detail of your goals and aspirations regarding your career path and how you could become a valued industry advocate. The RBIEF scholarship review committee will consider any other pertinent information you wish to submit.
