

Harry Berrier, DVM Dies at Age 95

Dr. Harry Berrier died Sunday. He was 95. Dr. Berrier was a veterinary pathologist and a professor of clinical pathology and toxicology at the University of Missouri College of Veterinary Medicine. He also founded the American Society for Veterinary Clinical Pathology. He retired in 1983 and was an emeritus professor.

He was also well-known for creating Show-Me Bar-B-Q sauce, as well as his devotion and support of the Missouri Symphony Society.

His wife, Lina, is planning a memorial service on April 27. Details will be published in The Columbia Daily Tribune closer to that date.