Individual & Organizational Wellness To Fuel You 'Til We Meet Again

Wellness is a hot and relevant topic in society today. Our industry serves as leaders of wellness in our communities for our residents but how well do we promote wellness amongst ourselves? This year's closing general session will ask and answer key questions about a myriad of wellness topics with a theme of HOW ARE YOU CARING FOR YOU. Parks and Recreation professionals are among the hardest working and under appreciated people in our nation and are often remiss in taking time to care for themselves as much as they care for the communities they serve. Through a lively panel discussion and peer interaction activity, mParks conference attendees will leave the 2019 conference energized to drive individual and organizational wellness in their home communities. You will not want to miss this year's closing session!
