MPCA Mission

To advocate for and enhance comprehensive, accessible, innovative, and affordable community-based health services while influencing and advancing health policy at the state and national level.
A Message from our CEO

Last year, Michigan’s health centers faced unprecedented challenges as the health care landscape shifted in Washington, D.C. And yet, despite a year of uncertainty, all 45 of our member community health center organizations continued their critical mission of providing preventive and primary care to underserved communities.

The need for quality, affordable care is strong. In a world where access is increasingly uncertain, that need for community health centers will only expand. More than 680,000 Michigan residents sought care from a local community health center, totaling more than 2.5 million visits for medical, dental, behavioral health, pharmacy, vision, and substance use disorder services.

In 2018, we'll continue to look forward, forging relationships with new state and national partners to make sure we can provide the best possible services to our network of health centers. Together, we'll relentlessly pursue innovations that improve care, population health, and savings through better residency programs in underserved areas, sustained funding for Community Health Workers, telehealth services, and providing care to people returning from prison.

It shouldn’t matter where you live, who you are, or whether you have insurance — people deserve care. That’s why it’s our mission to advocate for and enhance comprehensive, accessible, innovative, and affordable community-based health services while influencing and advancing health policy at the state and national level.

This booklet outlines how we will achieve that — and how you can help. Michigan is in a unique position to lead, and we hope you’ll join us in making a healthier Michigan a reality.

Yours in health,

Loretta V. Bush, MSHA
Chief Executive Officer
Michigan Primary Care Association
What’s a Community Health Center?

Community health centers are local clinics that provide care to people who live in medically underserved areas. Their services are tailored to fit the unique needs of the communities they serve, and their mission is simple: provide high-quality, affordable, and comprehensive medical services to everyone — regardless of who they are, where they come from, or their ability to pay. That’s important, because many health center patients live on low incomes or face significant barriers to accessing care.

Health centers provide cost-effective primary and preventive care, including dental, behavioral health services, substance use disorder treatment, vision, and pharmacy, that helps people get and stay healthy. They also connect their patients to social services, such as food or housing assistance, and enabling services that help them access care, such as transportation or translation. Those factors, combined with the ability to address multiple health needs under one roof, are why health centers are leaders in treating chronic diseases, reducing health disparities, and keeping people out of the emergency department.

Recruiting and Retaining Quality Providers for Michigan’s Future Health Care Needs

THE PROBLEM:
Michigan is facing a serious shortage of providers, especially those trained and interested in providing care to patients in underserved areas.

HOW COME?
It’s a little complicated. Medicaid Graduate Medical Education funding overwhelmingly ends up awarded to doctors pursuing specialties. Only a fraction of that funding goes to doctors training in primary care, and an even smaller dollar amount is made available to practices providing care to underserved communities.

THE SOLUTION:
Health centers, of course! Research tells us that physicians tend to practice where they train. That’s why learning at a Michigan health center will help ensure the next generation of Michigan’s primary care workforce is trained in offering competent, culturally appropriate, team-based, and patient-centered care — and in underserved areas, to boot.

WHAT CAN THE LEGISLATURE DO?
Listen to MIDOCS! With the formation of the MIDOCS Consortium, the state has already formally acknowledged the need for more primary care physicians in underserved areas. And MIDOCS understands health centers are best positioned to train and place primary care physicians where they’re needed most — all while helping our state more responsibly use its Medicaid Graduate Medical Education funding. Support the MIDOCS Consortium appropriations and accept their recommendations that identify Michigan’s health centers are key training institutions for primary care residents.
Reducing Recidivism by Linking People Returning from Prison to Integrated Care and Social Services

THE PROBLEM:
Michigan lacks a single, accountable entity that coordinates care for returning residents. As a result, many never get help for any unaddressed mental health, substance use, or physical health issues they may have.

HOW COME?
It’s been challenging to find an organization that can coordinate health care and social services outside of the Michigan Department of Corrections. This leads to a multitude of problems, including overuse of the emergency department and a return to the justice system if medical and social needs aren’t being met.

THE SOLUTION:
Research suggests that when returning residents have access to health care and social support services, they may be less likely to reoffend. That’s where the Michigan Primary Care Association (MPCA) and the health centers they represent can help. The MPCA is currently operating a pilot program that involves “warm hand-offs” from the Michigan Department of Corrections to the MPCA to ensure returning residents are connected to a Federally Qualified Health Center within seven days of release. At the health center, returning residents have access to medical, dental, behavioral, and substance use disorder services, as well as a health coach with relevant lived experience. The health center also connects the returning residents with appropriate social services, such as Michigan Works! or food services, temporary and permanent supportive housing assistance, or transportation.

WHAT CAN THE LEGISLATURE DO?
You can support the Federally Qualified Health Centers criminal justice pilot by protecting relevant appropriations (Section 406, FY17–18) and providing fiscal resources to expand this critical program for FY18–19. Even better, you can support policies that mandate following up with the assigned Federally Qualified Health Center as a condition of parole.

Expanding Access to Care through Telehealth at the State Level — And Getting Paid for It

THE PROBLEM:
Telehealth is expanding access to care in Michigan, but health centers aren’t receiving full payments from Medicaid for services rendered.

HOW COME?
Here in Michigan, Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) can bill Medicaid for telehealth services, but they’re unable to receive the full FQHC encounter rate for those services when the provider is not physically located at a health center site. As a result, health centers are losing revenue that they desperately need to keep providing high-quality care to the state’s most underserved communities.

THE SOLUTION:
It’s easy: update policy to match changes in technology. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has the ability to revise administrative policy to make Federally Qualified Health Centers eligible to receive the federally mandated FQHC encounter rate. As long as the telehealth providers are credentialed by and are providing services on behalf of the health center, they shouldn’t have to be located onsite to receive appropriate payment.

WHAT CAN THE LEGISLATURE DO?
Public policy needs to catch up with technology. As a legislator, you have a unique opportunity to create statute that requires the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services to revise policy to meet the needs of the twenty-first century.

Health centers provide 2.5 million clinic visits
THE PROBLEM:
Although Community Health Workers are frontline public health workers who serve as crucial links between health and social services in the community, their services aren’t currently reimbursable under Medicaid.

HOW COME?
The Michigan Community Health Worker Alliance has led efforts to create Community Health Worker certifications and standards, but Michigan still has no formal infrastructure in place for the sustainability and widespread application of Community Health Worker services. Despite the fact that Community Health Workers empower patients, lower the cost of care, and improve health outcomes, their work often remains funded by program-specific, time-limited grants. When the money runs out, so do the positive health outcomes.

THE SOLUTION:
Create a new Medicaid reimbursement option for Community Health Workers who support primary care providers. Under 42 CFR 440.130(c), non-licensed providers can provide “preventive services” recommended by a licensed provider, which gives Michigan flexibility in determining what qualifies as a preventive service.

WHAT CAN THE LEGISLATURE DO?
We recommend that the state pursue a State Plan Amendment for Community Health Worker reimbursement that includes billable codes for Community Health Worker services. Additionally, some states have pursued legislation requiring their state health departments to develop education and training requirements, and mandate licensure of Community Health Workers.
Sustaining Funding for Community Health Centers

THE PROBLEM:
To continue providing integrated, coordinated care that helps people in underserved communities get and stay healthy, health centers require level annual discretionary appropriations.

HOW COME?
Thanks to bipartisan support and investments from Congress for more than 50 years, community health centers serve more than 27 million patients in nearly 10,000 communities nationwide. However, recent congressional inaction on the Health Centers Fund has forced thousands of health centers to consider reducing services, laying off more than 51,000 people, and closing sites, jeopardizing care for more than 9 million people.

THE SOLUTION:
Provide health centers with long-term, stable funding that allows them to maintain services and recruit and retain needed health care professionals.

WHAT CAN CONGRESS DO?
Support FY19 appropriations for health centers by signing the “Dear Colleagues” letters in the House and Senate and ensuring Health Center Program funding is reauthorized.

More than 5,400 people are employed by a Michigan health center.
THE PROBLEM:
Medicaid reform is coming.

HOW COME?
Health centers overwhelmingly provide care to people covered by Medicaid, and they're able to do so while providing cost savings to the entire program. In fact, health centers serve 16 percent of all Medicaid beneficiaries, even though Medicaid payments to health centers account for less than 2 percent of total Medicaid spending. Without the Federally Qualified Health Center Prospective Payment System, it would be challenging for health centers to continue providing the high-quality care they are federally mandated to provide to everyone — no matter what.

THE SOLUTION:
Any changes to the Medicaid system must ensure coverage and continuity of access to care for health center patients, many of whom have unique and complex needs.

WHAT CAN CONGRESS DO?
Maintain patient access to a strong Medicaid program and support a payment system that provides coverage for the total cost of care for Federally Qualified Health Centers.
92% of patients have a family income at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Level.
Securing a Dynamic Primary Care Workforce to Serve Future Generations

THE PROBLEM:
Health centers currently struggle to recruit and retain the clinical workforce necessary to meet patient needs.

HOW COME?
There’s a persistent national shortage of clinicians, particularly in rural and underserved areas. A 2015 analysis by the American Association of Medical Colleges estimated that the United States may face a shortage of up to 90,000 physicians by 2025. Shortages in primary care, projected to be up to 31,000 by that date, are among the most severe. In fact, more than 95 percent of health centers say they currently have at least one staff vacancy.

THE SOLUTION:
National Health Service Corp clinicians and Teaching Health Centers Graduate Medical Education programs can help recruit and retain physicians in the places where they’re needed most — so long as they are adequately funded.

WHAT CAN CONGRESS DO?
Fully fund the National Health Service Corp by renewing funding at levels necessary to provide scholarships and loan repayment to thousands more clinicians. Congress must also invest in Teaching Health Centers by providing funding to preserve and expand current programs.

The savings to the state and to each patient’s pocketbook are real.
More than 54% of health center patients are covered by Medicaid, but they represent only 1.7% of the state’s total Medicaid expenditures.
THE PROBLEM:
Telehealth is expanding access to care across the country, but health centers aren’t always receiving full payments from Medicaid for services rendered.

HOW COME?
Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) can bill Medicaid for telehealth services, but they’re unable to receive the full FQHC encounter rate for those services when the provider is not physically located at a health center site. As a result, health centers are losing revenue that they desperately need to keep providing high-quality care to our nation’s most underserved communities.

THE SOLUTION:
It’s easy: update policy to match changes in technology. Congress needs to act to permit the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to allow health centers to bill as a distant site (i.e. where the provider is located). As long as the telehealth providers are credentialed by and are providing services on behalf of the health center, they shouldn’t have to be located onsite to receive appropriate payment.

WHAT CAN CONGRESS DO?
Support the CONNECT for Health Act of 2017 (H.R. 2556 and S.1016), which will authorize FQHCs to bill as a distant site as well as the originating site.
