V. Summary of activities:

- 2020 MLA-TLA Conference (online)
  - 590 registrants
    - 335 Members
    - 115 First Five/Para/Retired/Non-Salaried/Part-Time
    - 65 Non-Members
    - 61 Students
    - 13 Emergency Circumstances
    - 15 Exhibitors

- Following the conference, survey results and discussion with the 2020 Conference Task Force resulted in some major lessons learned:
  - Remo, while offering something other than Zoom, has several points for improvement and virtual exhibits remain a very difficult thing to run successfully (and hence will not be pursued in the future, unless there’s another all-virtual meeting)
  - Opportunities for socializing in an all-digital environment can be better planned to anticipate the needs and tastes of MLA members
  - Communication about details re: registration, program/Sched, etc. for digital attendees should be done as early/often as possible, assuming conference planners know all said details

- 2021 Salt Lake City
  - Working with Christopher Bragoni (Experient/ Maritz) and the hotel:
    - The hotel agreed to lower the room block by 36% without penalty
    - This figure was arrived at by estimating 250 in-person attendees, in discussion with Tracey R.
  - In order to reduce the catering minimum, we need to give back some of the meeting space for resale:
    - Alpine Ballroom and the registration area were released, with the understanding MLA can add space(s) back in / if available
    - Currently waiting for the hotel to come back with revised catering numbers
    - We will work with Peter Shirts/Program Committee over the coming months to ensure there’s enough meeting space
