INTRODUCTION

This is an updated version of the Automation Directory of Music Libraries in the Midwest Chapter of the Music Library Association. It is intended to serve as an updated resource for automation information about this specific group of music libraries. As technology has changed greatly since the previous 1990 edition of this directory, the Cataloging Committee decided it was time to create a new edition to reflect changes that have occurred since the previous edition.

In creating this new version of the directory, I added some new questions and deleted some of the original questions as some of them no longer applied to current library technology and cataloging practices. There will also be noticeable differences in the contact persons listed and e-mail and webpac addresses have also been added. I attempted to include all of the institutions in the Midwest Chapter, but was unable to obtain responses from some members. If your institution is not represented here, please contact me and I will have it added to this new PDF version.

The directory includes basic information on online catalogs, retrospective conversion, and the status of each library's automation systems, as well as NACO Music Project members. This updated version will be published only on the MLA-Midwest Chapter website, as this seemed to be the most preferred method of publication for most people. As institutions change systems, etc., it should now be easier to make changes in this document as they occur via this PDF document.

Numeric codes indicate each library's automation and recon status.

Status codes:

0 = Unknown

1 = Complete

2 = In Progress

3 = In Planning

4 = Not Planned
