OUR MISSION

The National Association of Black Journalists (NABJ) is an organization of journalists, students, and media-related professionals that provides quality programs and services to and advocates on behalf of black journalists worldwide.

NABJ IS COMMITTED TO:

STRENGTHENING ties among black journalists.

SENSITIZING all media to the importance of fairness in the workplace for black journalists.

EXPANDING job opportunities and recruiting activities for veteran, young and aspiring black journalists, while providing continued professional development and training.

INCREASING the number of black journalists in management positions and encouraging black journalists to become entrepreneurs.

FOSTERING an exemplary group of professionals that honors excellence and outstanding achievements by black journalists, and outstanding achievement in the media industry as a whole, particularly when it comes to providing balanced coverage of the black community and society at large.

PARTNERING with high schools and colleges to identify and encourage black students to become journalists and to diversify faculties and related curriculum.

PROVIDING informational and training services to the general public.

Founded by 44 men and women on December 12, 1975, in Washington, D.C., NABJ is the largest organization of journalists of color in the nation.

Many of NABJ's members also belong to one of the dozens of professional and student chapters that serve black journalists nationwide.

NABJ MEMBER BENEFITS:

ACCESS to year-round professional development through the NABJ Media Institute, the annual convention and career fair and regional conferences.

OPPORTUNITIES --and a responsibility--to help ensure fair and balanced media coverage of the black community and to encourage the industry to hire and retain more black journalists.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT for black journalists seeking to improve their skills and advance to newsroom management.

RECOGNITION of journalistic excellence and achievement via the annual Salute to Excellence and Special Honors awards.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to the annual NABJ Journal, NABJobs Online, NABJ Forum, and NABJ E-News.

MENTORING and recruiting the next generation of aspiring black journalists through our partnership programs with high schools and colleges across the country.

NABJ 2013 HALL OF FAME

JANUARY 17, 2013 | THE NEWSEUM | WASHINGTON, DC

Every year, NABJ pays homage to legendary black journalists who have made outstanding contributions to the industry. Founded on April 5, 1990, we have been proud to honor the 50 members of the NABJ Hall of Fame over the last two decades and will continue to preserve their legacy for the future.

Betty Winston Bayé,
Columnist, The Courier-Journal (Louisville, Ky.)

Wendell Smith
Legendary sportswriter, helped desegregate baseball (posthumous)

Simeon Booker
First Black Reporter, The Washington Post and Washington Bureau Chief, Jet Magazine

Sue Simmons
Anchorwoman, WNBC-TV

Alice Dunnigan
First black woman credentialed to cover the White House, the State Department, & Congress (posthumous)

Cynthia Tucker
Pulitzer-Winning Columnist, The Atlanta Journal Constitution

The Northwestern University Medill School of Journalism & NABJ jointly and proudly award the prestigious IDA B. WELLS AWARD to a media executive or manager who has made outstanding efforts to make newsrooms and news coverage more accurately reflect the diversity of the communities they serve.

We were proud to declare long time NABJ member RICHARD PRINCE, columnist for the Maynard Institute for Journalism Education, the recipient of this year's award.

NABJ SPECIAL HONORS

NABJ Special Honors represent the highest award bestowed upon our members. NABJ members, affiliate chapters, and others nominate those who represent the best of the best in black journalism.

Journalist of the Year

ROLAND MARTIN

"Roland Martin has had an enviable career as a multimedia journalist, becoming a respected and trusted voice in print, on air and online," said NABJ President Gregory Lee, Jr. "He is unapologetic about his quest to provide well-rounded coverage of the African-American community, and to provide unique insights to diverse audiences across the many platforms on which he is asked to contribute on a regular basis."

Lifetime Achievement Award

"Greg Moore is an innovative and inspiring leader who has found creative ways to meet the unique challenges faced in an ever-changing newsroom," said NABJ President Gregory Lee, Jr. "Throughout his career he has been a newsroom leader who helped his team cover the day's big stories with the highest ethics, a bit of creativity, and a desire to serve the public. His career is certainly worthy of this recognition."

S.E.E.D. PROGRAM

The Student Education Enrichment and Development (SEED) Program offers financial, educational, and mentoring support as part of NABJ's dedication to our student members and aspiring journalists of color. Whether through hands-on training workshops or by connecting young journalists with experienced professionals, NABJ is committed to creating a foundation for the next generation of outstanding journalists.

NABJ awards scholarships annually to deserving high school and college students interested in pursuing journalism careers. Over the last decade, NABJ has awarded more than a half a million dollars to students studying broadcast, print, and online journalism; photography; graphic design; and communications. NABJ's scholarships are named in honor of NABJ Founders and pioneering black journalists.

A woman with long dark hair and glasses is seen from the side, focused on her work. She is wearing a dark sleeveless top and is seated at a desk with a laptop. The background is slightly blurred, showing other people and what appears to be a newsroom or office environment. The lighting is soft and professional.

STUDENT SHORT COURSES

The NABJ Student Multimedia Short Course is aimed at encouraging student members to pursue television management as a career. Each year, students from around the country participate in broadcast and print short courses organized and staffed by NABJ's professional members. The project gives students access to mentors who work as news directors, producers, writers, assignment editors, directors and the like, at some of the top television stations in the country, as well as give them hands-on experience and a practical understanding of what these jobs entail.

MULTIMEDIA STUDENT PROJECTS

NABJ offers an expenses-paid fellowship to outstanding students pursuing a career in journalism. For one week during the Annual Convention & Career Fair, aspiring journalists can receive invaluable real-life newsroom experience and produce daily coverage of the convention. Students produce stories for the NABJ Monitor, the convention newspaper, NABJ TV, NABJ Radio and nabjconvention.org, the daily news web site. They work alongside professional journalists and journalism educators from across the country. Students gain experience using the latest tools as they cover NABJ's annual convention and longer-form multimedia storytelling of broader issues.

NABJ JOURNALISM WORKSHOP (JSHOP)

NABJ's JSHOP is a four-day workshop for local high school students in the host city of NABJ's Annual Convention & Career Fair. The program provides interactive learning opportunities through lectures, presentations, hands-on training and field trips. The students learn journalism fundamentals for newsgathering, writing, photography, video production, radio, graphic design, editing, and social media. Professional journalists, educators, and journalism college students provide mentorship and supervision.

NABJ INTERNSHIPS

NABJ offers summer internships annually to college students interested in pursuing a career in journalism. Students gain hands-on training in reporting, editing, photography, graphic design, video production, and public relations at various U.S. news organizations. Past internships sites include NBCUniversal, CBS, NPR, The Associated Press, and Bloomberg News.

NABJ also offers internships at our National Office. Interns gain experience in day-to-day operations of a national, non-profit membership organization devoted to providing quality programs and member services. Summer interns also help to plan and carry out the NABJ Annual Convention & Career Fair.

MEMBERSHIP

As shown in the top chart, membership numbers in 2013 did not experience the typical bump in growth usually associated with registration for the Annual NABJ Convention & Career Fair as it has in previous years. It is unclear why this is the case, but we must use the Convention to drive membership recruitment and retention. Growing NABJ remains a priority of the organization and of its leadership.

The NABJ Media Institute offers quality web seminars and hands-on professional development, entrepreneurial guidance, and technical training at sponsored events around the country. The Institute seeks to connect, educate, and inspire member journalists on topics that directly affect the communities that they serve. Exploring topics ranging from multimedia technology, political reporting, and health care issues, the Institute connects journalists with front-line stakeholders, researchers, policy makers, and other journalists to exchange ideas and information about the topics that matter the most.

MEDIA INSTITUTE ON ENERGY

FEBRUARY 21-22, 2013

WESTIN HOUSTON MEMORIAL CITY, HOUSTON, TX

The Media Institute on Energy is designed to educate our journalists about topics related to oil, gas, wind, solar and other alternative fuels and craft a career as a media professional in the energy sector. Focusing on topics ranging from the impact of energy practices on various communities to the growth in alternative energy. The Media Institute on Energy also discusses energy policy, public utilities, and the environmental and social impacts of energy consumption. Partnering with those in the energy industry, our 2013 program included a tour of facilities in Houston's Energy Corridor.

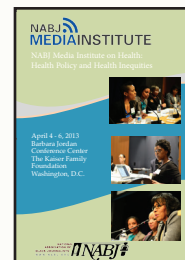

MEDIA INSTITUTE ON HEALTH, HEALTH POLICY AND HEALTH DISPARITIES

APRIL 4-6, 2013

HENRY KAISER FAMILY FOUNDATION, WASHINGTON, DC

The goal of this conference was to provide print, broadcast and digital journalists the tools to effectively report on the impact of health care reform and health policy on under-served communities. Highlights included a keynote address from 18th Surgeon General of the United States, Vice Admiral Regina Benjamin and a private health briefings at the White House. The briefing gave our members access to high ranking health administration officials such as Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius and Director of the Office of Minority Health Dr. Nadine Gracia.

MEDIA INSTITUTE FOR MEDIA PROFESSIONALS AND ENTREPRENEURS

SEPTEMBER 27, 2013

ASSOCIATED PRESS, NEW YORK, NY

The goal of this one day conference is to give media professionals tools needed to start their own businesses by networking with other journalists, public relations professionals and entrepreneurs to discuss topics such as transitioning into public relations and teaching, using social media to build your personal brand, landing projects and contracts, and renewing and redefining career goals.

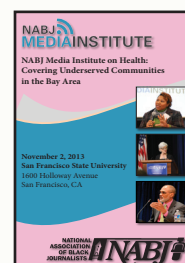

NABJ MEDIA INSTITUTE ON HEALTH: COVERING UNDERSERVED COMMUNITIES IN THE BAY AREA

NOVEMBER 2, 2013

SAN FRANCISCO STATE UNIVERSITY, SAN FRANCISCO, CA

The goal of this free, one-day workshop is to give print, broadcast and online journalists the tools to more effectively report on health stories affecting underserved communities in greater Los Angeles. Highlights included workshops on the Affordable Care Act, the Health Insurance Marketplace, woman veteran's health, and why media professionals of color must be active community voices.

2013 CONVENTION & CAREER FAIR

The National Association of Black Journalists once again welcomed our members to sunny Florida. Walt Disney World Parks opened the Convention in grand style with a presentation and ceremony at the Disney Hollywood Studio. ESPN's Jemele Hill and NABJ President Greg Lee welcomed the crowd and introduced guests and special award winners.

The crowd was also serenaded by the recent winner of American Idol, Candice Glover. When the ceremonial part of the evening was over, members were whisked outside to enjoy buffets and dance in the streets of a closed "New York" lot on the studio. Several park rides remained open after closing hours just for NABJ members.

Only a few short weeks before Convention, a verdict was reached in the Trayvon Martin murder case. The parents of the slain Florida teen, Sybrina Fulton and Tracy Martin, sat down with NABJ Journalist of the Year, Roland Martin, about their continued efforts to find justice for their son. They talked about how America could join them in their fight in protecting black children from the issues in society that took their son's life.

They were also available for comment during a press conference on Friday. They talked about The Trayvon Martin Foundation and the people who are pushing for a change in legislation for the stand your ground law.

Also in response to the recent news of the verdict in the trial, Rev. Al Sharpton led a session with key journalists that spearheaded coverage of the case, such as MSNBC's Touré; Mark Russell, Editor of the Orlando Sentinel; as well USA Today's Yamiche Alcindor, NABJ's Emerging Journalist of the Year.

Martin also interviewed the Mayor of Atlanta, Kasim Reed in a session on the recent Supreme Court ruling on the Voting Rights Act, Shelby County v. Holder.

The Newsmaker Plenary on Thursday featured Bishop T.D. Jakes. He touched on the film "Winnie Mandela," which he produced, a new movie that he is working on "Heaven is Real," which is a real-life story about a boy who went to heaven and back and MegaFest 2013. He also invited NABJ members to tweet out questions to him during his presentation. Questions ranged from how the economy affected his church to the role of the church in the black male community.

The W.E.B. DeBois Newsmaker Plenary focused on recent, high-profile news events in which the speed of coverage sometimes overshadowed accuracy of facts. It featured Randall Pinkston, Mara Schiavocampo, Richard Prince, Wesley Lowery, Melanie Eversley, Eric Deggans, and Callie Crossley discussing the vital importance of ethics and integrity in news journalism.

NABJ was honored to host Benard and Shirley Kinsey, philanthropists and owners of one of the greatest collections of African-American art. The Kinseys sat down to discuss the collection with Joe Madison. Convention attendees were then given the opportunity to travel to Epcot Center where they were shown a 90-minute tour of some of the collection on display.

Joy-Ann Reid sat down with Simeon Booker, the first black journalist for The Washington Post and influential figure of the fight for Civil Rights, and discussed his life and his book, Shocking the Conscience: A Reporter's Account of the Civil Rights Movement.

This year's Executive Suite featured high ranking media executives such as David Boardman, ASNE President; Rodney Whitmore, The Economist Group SVP/CHRO; Jill Geisler, Director of the Poynter Institute's leadership and management programs; Duchesne Drew, Managing Editor for Operations, Minneapolis Star Tribune; Arthur Sulzberger, CEO & Publisher, The New York Times Co.; Mizell Stewart, Vice President/Content, Newspaper Division at The E. W. Scripps Company; David Rhodes, President, CBS News; and Keith Woods, NPR Vice President of Diversity. The two day invitation-only seminar gave attendees a better understanding of the skills, relationships, and results it takes to land and keep executive management positions.

Baseball legends Ken Griffey, Jr., Raymond Lankford, Fred McGriff, and Gary Sheffield shared their experiences of the game with ESPN's Jemele Hill.

The NABJ Film Festival once again offered Convention attendees a sneak peak at some of the year's most critically acclaimed and talked about films.

Lee Daniel's drama, "The Butler," is based on the true story of Cecil Gaines (Academy Award winning actor, Forest Whitaker). Gaines was an African American butler in the White House, a role he held through eight presidencies. Whitaker, director Lee Daniels, and The Washington Post's Wil Haygood (who penned the article the movie is based on) were available for questions after the screening.

The Golden Globe and Academy Award winning film from Steve McQueen, "12 Years a Slave" was also shown at the Convention, followed by a discussion by actresses Lupita Nyong'o and Alfre Woodard on their powerful and challenging roles in the film.

NABJ Film Festival highlights also included an extended preview of the "The Best Man 2", with the films stars, Taye Diggs and Nia Long on hand; an extended preview of the film "Baggage Claim", with talents, Jill Scott, David E. Talbert, and Jenifer Lewis; and "Black Nativity," with director Kasi Lemmons, and its stars, Jacob Latimore, and Tyrese Gibson.
