With a seven-year history, Subject is considered a fairly large company in its line and possesses rather superior competency.

Backed up by its powerful shareholders and its main executives' rich trade and management experience, Subject has a fairly good prospect of development.

Subject's business revenue has been growing at a speed higher than the industrial average in the past few years. Its asset structure and efficiency both outperform the industrial averages. Its solvency is fairly good.

This report is furnished only for reference use in business decision-making and shall not be relied upon in legal proceedings. Information contained herein shall not be released to the third party unless otherwise agreed upon by SINOTRUST. SINOTRUST shall not be held liable for any loss or damage arising out of the use of any of the information contained in this report.

Credit Rating

It is composed of two points, a credit rating and a proposed Base Credit Line, both calculated automatically by the Credit Analyzer, the credit assessment software developed by SINOTRUST.

Credit Rating is the assessment of Subject's credit risk level. In assessing credit risk level, SINOTRUST makes use of 20 indicators, which can be classified into 6 categories:

1. Indicators reflecting profitability;
2. Indicators reflecting assets efficiency;
3. reflecting solvency;
4. Indicators reflecting business size and history;
5. Indicators reflecting Subject's overall status and credit history;
6. Indicators reflecting macro-economic environment and tendency.

Except indicators reflecting Subject's overall status and credit history that are scored by our information analyst, all other 5 categories of indicators are scored automatically by our scoring system according to a pre-designed scoring model. All scores on the 20 indicators are calculated the weighted average basis into a final credit score and further to a credit rating.

Base Credit Line is the lowest recommended credit limit on the basis of the assessment over financial and operational data. Its key basis of calculation is the size of business, including relevant indicators such as registered capital, principal business income, total assets, net assets, profit, etc. Base Credit Line is the result of the weighted average analysis over above indicators plus necessary adjustment by credit risk level. Base Credit Line does not consider the specific situation between the client and Subject and therefore should be adjusted according to the relevant suggestion of SINOTRUST BCR and the client's specific transaction situation.

It is valuable for the client to understand a company's SINOTRUST credit rating and base credit line by comparing it with SINOTRUST BCRs on other companies in hand.
