REP. STEVE CHABOT TOURS START-UP BUSINESSES AT HCDC WITH SOUTH KOREAN AMBASSADOR, AHN HO-YOUNG

Congressman Steve Chabot and South Korean Ambassador, Ahn Ho-Young, took a tour of HCDC’s Business Center, and met with on-site start-up companies. The purpose of the visit was to present the Ambassador examples of American business, from start-up size, such as those he visited at HCDC like GeckoTek, Resolution Air, General Nano, and Sense Diagnostics, to multi-national corporations like Kroger, Fifth Third Bank and Procter & Gamble.

“I appreciate Congressman Chabot’s thinking of HCDC and giving us the opportunity to show South Korean Ambassador Ahn Ho-Young first-hand how small business and entrepreneurship development works in our community, through our meeting and a tour of HCDC,” said David K. Main, HCDC President/CEO.

“Congressman Chabot’s visit was a testament to his commitment to entrepreneurs... It’s incredibly inspiring to receive encouragement from two great world leaders,” said Resolution Air, Ltd. owner Brad Thompson.
