Resources
- COVID-19 has quickly spread in many of the nation’s jails and prisons. Policymakers, correctional staff, and public health service providers can play an important role in responding to the prevention and urgent service needs of people impacted by incarceration who are particularly vulnerable, directly and indirectly, to the effects of coronavirus of COVID-19. Read the brief here.
- Thank you, Senator Todd Young, for introducing a bill last month that would help make telehealth expansion permanent by enabling people to receive telehealth outside of originating site (from home) and would allow for audio only sessions to continue. Read his press release on the bill here and remember to contact Senator Young to let him know you support this bill!
