The COVID-19 pandemic changed the world in many ways—including how we think about our careers and workplaces. A lot of people began rethinking their priorities in life, and asking themselves what they want from a career. Multiple surveys have predicted that a significant percentage of American workers might switch jobs post-pandemic.
If you're one of the millions who are, or plan to be, job seeking during and after this public health crisis, you may want to ask your future employers questions specifically related to how the company handled the pandemic and what impact COVID-19 had on the work environment. Some you could bring up during a first- or second-round job interview when your interviewer asks if you have any questions. But others might be better to ask after you get an offer (and before you accept it) or during the offer negotiation process.

Click HERE to read the whole article!

Selected Job Openings

- Contract Adoption Social Worker - Raleigh, NC
- Child and Family Therapist - Hendersonville, NC
- Education/Case Manager - Durham, NC
- Outpatient Therapist - Murphy, NC
- Fully Licensed and Associate Licensed NC Providers - Fayetteville, NC
- Family Centered Treatment Therapist - Wilmington, NC
- Military Family Life Counselor - Maryland Heights, NC

Find more job openings on the NASW-NC Job Bank here.
This email is distributed as a NASW-NC member benefit.

Take advantage of your exclusive NASW-NC member benefit!
Contact Seth Maid, NASW-NC Director of Membership and Communication, for career consultation and resume review.

Disclaimers:
NASW-NC does not endorse or recommend any specific advertiser. Any negotiations made with any of the advertisers listed below are strictly between that company/individual and the payee. The North Carolina Chapter publishes job listings for its members and other social workers around the state. We do not take or give out application materials, nor do we act as an employment intermediary. The accuracy or validity for the job description provided by agencies or qualifications submitted by applicants is the sole responsibility of those parties. Publication of an advertisement does not constitute endorsement or approval of any product or service advertised, or any point of view, standard, or opinion presented therein. NASW-NC is not responsible for any claims made in an advertisement appearing in its publications or on its website.

NASW North Carolina | 919-828-9650 | membership.naswnc@socialworkers.org | naswnc.org