

Social Work Manager, LANtern® Lupus Asian Network
Department of Social Work Programs
Part Time, 28 hours/4 days a week -TEMPORARY position

Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS)

The Manager, LANtern® Lupus Asian Network, a national support and education program ongoing since 2001, is responsible for the overall strategic direction, planning and operational oversight for program initiatives related to advancing the highest level of service for this community, in alignment with Departmental and HSS strategic goals. Lupus is a complex multisystem auto-immune illness disproportionately affecting women of color. The mission of LANtern, the only program of its kind, is to support, empower, and enhance the quality of life for Asian Americans with lupus and their families by creating networks of hope and understanding.

The position reports to the Senior Director, Department of Social Work Programs. Please note that the position is a temporary 28 hours/4 days a week.

Major job responsibilities include but are not limited to the following:

- Assess, implement and evaluate all aspects of LANtern to assess and insure optimal program services, sustained growth, and outcomes.
- Provide direct consultation upon referral from rheumatology adult and pediatric social workers, and other health team members regarding program services
- Chair and collaborate closely with Program's Community Advisory Board
- Recruit, train, and supervise LANtern program staff, volunteers, and student interns to promote a team-centered approach.
- Screen, assess, intervene, and refer lupus patients and their loved ones to peer counselors and related community resources, as indicated
- Plan and implement LANtern's Community Service plan to enhance professional and community member knowledge, well-being, and the highest quality of culturally tailored interventions.
- Maintenance of program data, budget, and accountability
- Initiate, and manage multiple projects, including community capacity building, research and evaluation activities, conference presentations and quality improvement initiatives.

Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Social Work with LCSW licensure preferred; will consider MPH degree
- Substantive program management, implementation and supervisory experience with 3+ years in a hospital/health care setting, with specific experience in the area of chronic illness preferred. Major teaching hospital experience is highly desirable.
- Visionary leadership and passion for providing outstanding patient care, support and education, from a population-based perspective
- Ability to excel in a fast-paced, outcome-driven environment
- Outstanding interpersonal skills and ability to cultivate effective relationships in a fast-paced, outcomes-oriented, interdisciplinary environment
- Exceptional critical thinker with systems-oriented, innovative approach to problem solving
- Aspires to contribute to self, colleague and organizational learning
- Superior written and oral communication skills, and ability to be highly organized
- Computer proficiency including Microsoft Office software
- Experience with participation in qualitative and quantitative research studies in a team-based environment preferred.
- Bilingual (English/Chinese) required

Hospital for Special Surgery offers a unique work environment, diverse job types and extraordinary career opportunities. HSS encourages and supports professional growth and development, recognizes individual contributions, and offers unique and highly competitive compensation packages. This is how we attract and retain highly skilled professionals, renowned for their leadership and vision in clinical care, teaching, research & development.

Founded in 1863, Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS) is a world leader in orthopedics, rheumatology and rehabilitation. In the most recent U.S. News & World Report "American's Best Hospitals" issue, HSS ranks #1 in orthopedics and #3 in rheumatology. In addition, the American Nurses Credentialing Center has honored HSS with four consecutive designations of Magnet® recognition. HSS has one of the lowest infection rates in the country.

HSS physicians are team doctors for the New York Mets, New York Giants, New York Knicks, New York Liberty, and New York Red Bulls. HSS is the Official Hospital of The PGA of America, New York Road Runners for the ING New York City Marathon, St. John's Athletics, CUNY Athletic Conference, and other professional and college teams. HSS has been designated as the first National Medical Center of the United States Olympic Committee's National Medical Network.

Hospital for Special Surgery is located in New York City and online at www.hss.edu

If interested in this position, please apply to the follow link:

<https://jobs-hss.icims.com/jobs/9473/social-work-manager%2c-lantern/job?mode=view&mobile=false&width=783&height=500&bga=true&needsRedirect=false&jan1offset=-300&jun1offset=-240>