

"THE CABIN IS IMPORTANT BECAUSE IT'S LIKE A MEMBER OF OUR FAMILY. IT HOLDS MEMORIES THAT SPAN MULTIPLE GENERATIONS. NO MATTER WHAT ELSE IS GOING ON, IT'S WHERE MY WHOLE FAMILY MANAGES TO GET TOGETHER EVERY SUMMER." — MICHELLE, 36

NATIONAL FOREST CABINS HAVE CONNECTED GENERATIONS OF AMERICANS TO THE OUTDOORS. HELP US KEEP THAT CONNECTION STRONG FOR THE FUTURE!

MISSION

National Forest Homeowners is a member-directed organization representing cabin-owner recreation residence permittees on our national forests. NFH provides leadership, member information and assistance and advocacy for continuation of all recreation residences. It is dedicated to educating its members and others in sound science stewardship of our forests.

LEGACY

Established in 1915, the cabin program is one of the oldest public recreation programs on our national forests. In a unique public-private partnership, permittees own these little cabins in the woods for seasonal use, but the ground beneath is public land and still part of the national forests. Throughout its long and colorful history, it has provided generations of working class Americans with inspirational outdoor experiences and instilled a deep connection to the land.

FUTURE

Over 14,000 cabin owners across the country are important stewards and advocates for national forests and forest health. After 100 years of history and heritage, we need your help to ensure that the cabin program remains strong and vital for future generations over the next 100 years.

WHAT IS NFH?

National Forest Homeowners is the only national organization working solely to protect and sustain the national forest cabin program. NFH's professional staff, hardworking volunteer board of directors, knowledgeable state and tract associations and the Cabin Outreach Program work together to keep the cabin program alive well into the future and keep cabin owners and supporters informed on the issues they care about. With over 50 years of history and more than 6,000 members in every state where cabins exist on national forest lands, we are a respected voice that can influence the Forest Service and work with Congress to protect the cabin program and the forests that our members love and care for.

To provide the most current information and resources for members and other cabin owners, NFH publishes print and electronic newsletters, maintains an extensive interactive website and holds an annual conference and regular forums in different regions of the country. We are eager to hear from cabin owners and assist however we can, and we value the stories, experience and expertise that cabin owners have to share with one another.
