

This is an exciting time in US-Cuba relations. Recent changes are generating substantial interest from the business and legal communities in America. The Nebraska State Bar Association is partnering with Cuba Cultural Travel (CCT) to give you the opportunity to travel to Cuba. Cuba Cultural travel has organized educational tours for a variety of organizations for the last 15 years.

Please join Kim Robak and Bill Mueller, Tom and Mary Maul, Bob and Dian Hillis and Jane Langan Mach and Jeff Mach from April 26-30, 2018, on this once-in-a-lifetime trip.

Given the current restrictions placed on travel to Cuba by President Trump, you may be wondering how these changes impact our plans to travel to Cuba. Rest assured, all currently scheduled programs will remain authorized. Going forward, the people-to-people category remains in place for group programs conducted under the auspices of a supervising entity such as CCT.

If you have any questions, please call Sam Clinch at the Nebraska State Bar Association at 402-742-8125 or at sclinch@nebar.com. For additional information and to register for the trip, please click on the links below.

Testimonials

Over the last ten years the Beverly Hills Bar Association has organized four trips to Cuba with the help of Cuba Cultural Travel. All of our trips to Cuba generated strong interest from our members and resulted in memorable experiences and strengthened relationships within our ranks. Our time in Cuba was a fascinating mix of enlightening lectures from scholars and legal professionals, intimate interactions with musicians and dancers and fascinating tours of the city by historians and architects. All of the trips were fantastic and I highly recommend working with Michael Sykes if you are considering a trip to Cuba.

I was fortunate to lead a group of 31 attorneys, judges, and spouses on the Cuba Cultural Travel trip in my capacity as President of the Ohio State Bar Association. The accommodations were outstanding and our tour guides top notch. Not only did we have a fantastic time exploring the City of Havana but we were greeted to some fantastic meals and lectures on the Cuban legal system. It was truly an enjoyable event and none of us will forget. As a matter of fact, our group is even discussing returning in the next year or two for a repeat visit! Dani, our group escort, was always present and able to handle any situation. He was excellent to deal with and one of the best guides I have ever worked with. Without reservation I highly recommend a visit to Cuba through Cuba Cultural Travel.
