FUELS

Conference

The Fuel Spectrum – From Blue to Green and Everything in Between

Change, as a wise person once said, is inevitable, and this is certainly true for New England's fuel picture. At NECA's Annual Fuels Conference on September 26, you will be able to engage with colleagues and experts on how the region's natural gas industry is evolving in response to changes in power supply resources, extreme demand volatility and decarbonization efforts. You will hear from a variety of industry stakeholders, representing new and traditional ways of delivering fuel in an everchanging regulatory and policy landscape. Join us to hear about the role of FERC and the transformation of industry participants to meet the changing needs of the region while maintaining reliability and favorable economics for customers.
