NFRC Board Chair, Paul Bush, oversaw the distribution of awards during a reception held as part of the rating council’s fall membership meeting in San Diego.

Emerging Leader Award – Jesse Winters

This first award of the evening went to Jesse Winters, Lead Drafter, with Window Tech., Inc. Jessica Finn, NFRC’s Meetings and Membership Manager, presented the award, citing Winters’ work with code officials in the greater Seattle area as playing an integral role in promoting the value of NFRC’s commercial program.

Dariush Arasteh Memorial Member-of-the-Year Award – John McFee

John McFee, VP of Certification Programs for the Window & Door Manufacturers Association (WDMA), accepted the Dariush Arasteh Memorial Member-of-the-Year Award from last year’s recipient, Steve Strawn.

NFRC Staff Spotlight

The National Fenestration Rating Council (NFRC) is pleased to announce its recent hire of Danielle Troiano, who joins the organization as its Senior Director, Education.

Within this role, Troiano will design educational and training initiatives aimed at helping NFRC’s program participants derive maximum value from its ratings program. She will also help NFRC’s many other audiences -- including the public -- better understand how windows, doors, and skylights contribute to healthier homes and buildings, green construction, and sustainability.

“I've been a passionate environmentalist since high school, Troiano said. “I'm looking forward to implementing technology in ways that increase engagement among all NFRC's stakeholders.”

Most recently, Troiano served as the Workforce Development Training and Education Programs Manager for PGT Industries. She also ran her own consulting firm, building and managing websites and social media accounts for a variety of clients.

Troiano brings to NFRC 17 years of experience developing educational programs and is particularly interested in employing technology to create flexible learning programs.

Danielle Troiano can be reached at 240-821-6539 or dtroiano@nfrc.org.
