BUILDING INNOVATION 2018

National Institute of BUILDING SCIENCES

CONFERENCE & EXPO

Monday – Thursday, January 8 – 11 | Mandarin Oriental Hotel | Washington, DC

Dear Colleagues:

The National Institute of Building Sciences continues its mission to bring together the entire building community to discuss relevant issues, share ideas and collaborate on ways to improve the built environment. For a sixth year, the Institute will present the Building Innovation Conference to unite all of the stakeholders in creating solutions.

Building Innovation 2018: The National Institute of Building Sciences Sixth Annual Conference and Expo will take place January 8-11, 2018, at the Mandarin Oriental in Washington, D.C., to facilitate building professionals in exploring ways to Sustain, Strengthen, Secure. You're invited to play a major role in the only Conference that brings the whole industry together.

As the industry's leader and advocate for advancing building science and technology, the Institute produces this annual event to assemble the efforts of those who plan, design, procure, construct, use, operate, maintain and retire physical facilities to develop solutions and prevent obstacles to the construction of safe, affordable structures for housing, commerce and industry in the United States.

During the previous five Building Innovation Conferences, the Institute successfully facilitated an interchange of ideas and viewpoints from the different facets of the building community by delivering a unique program that emphasized multiple priorities and concerns to the entire industry.

Building Innovation attendees have consistently included representatives from all industry disciplines, setting the stage for community-wide collaboration. This Conference and Expo provide companies and organizations the best chance to present to a widely diverse audience of solution-seeking professionals.

Building Innovation 2017 received an overall average survey rating of 8.125 out of 10 points after delivering 45 presenters in 16 educational sessions covering a wide-range of topics; four social networking events; two inspiring award ceremonies; three dynamic keynote speakers and 18 exhibitors presenting the latest in technologies over four jam-packed days.

At Building Innovation 2018, the Institute will again present informative sessions and quality educational programs. Hundreds of participants will address emerging issues and collaborate on creative solutions. Attendees will hear from industry leaders and innovators during award presentations; see the latest in products and services; and network with colleagues.

By sponsoring and/or exhibiting during the Conference, you gain a rare opportunity to showcase your solutions to the broadest audience while supporting the Institute's mission.

Building Innovation 2018 gives supporters the ability to directly reach industry stakeholders and raise awareness of their products and offerings. For your support, the Institute will honor you through pre-Conference promotions and publicity, prominent signage, podium acknowledgements, logo placements, web links, program listings and full-color advertisements.

The Exhibit Hall is located inside the Mandarin Oriental Grand Ballroom on the Conference level. It provides easy access to all attendees and accommodates an Exhibit Hall Walking Lunch, an Exhibitor Reception and coffee breaks – all networking events designed to increase foot traffic and allow for more interactions for collecting quality leads. In addition, sponsors and exhibitors will be given a contact list of the registered attendees after the Conference for follow-up communication.

Advertisers get a marketing message printed in full color in the souvenir Conference Program provided to every attendee.

Building Innovation 2018 is your chance to grab some attention and show off your contributions to a better built environment. Support the Institute's endeavors to bring the industry together by reserving your sponsorship, exhibit space or Conference Program advertisement now.

Henry L. Green, Hon. AIA
President, National Institute of Building Sciences

About the Institute:

In 1974, the United States Congress established the National Institute of Building Sciences to serve as an interface between government and the private sector and bring together representatives from the entire building community — including government, the professions, labor and consumer interests, and industry — to identify and resolve problems and potential problems that hamper the construction of safe and affordable structures for housing, commerce and industry throughout the United States. Forty years later, as the industry's advocate, the Institute remains an authoritative source of advice for all sectors of the economy with respect to the use of building science and technology.

Building Innovation 2018

Building Innovation 2018: The National Institute of Building Sciences Sixth Annual Conference and Expo is set to unite members of the entire building community to review advancements in science and technology, and develop solutions.

Scheduled for January 8-11, 2018, at the five-star Mandarin Oriental in Washington, D.C., Building Innovation 2018 will explore strategies that Sustain, Strengthen, Secure. Through collaborative educational sessions and informative presentations, the Conference program is designed to connect professionals, highlight industry activities and create innovative solutions for the built environment.

During the week, the Institute will present various educational sessions that focus on the Conference theme. A federal agency will provide an insider's look at current facility operations and upcoming construction projects during the FEDCon® Breakfast, while other keynote addresses will provide timely industry information. The Institute's Annual and Beyond Green™ Awards Banquet will highlight our industry's leaders and innovators. Attendees can witness the Institute in action and have the opportunity to get involved in developing solutions by participating in any of the many board, council and committee meetings taking place during the Conference.

Building Innovation 2018 allows attendees the chance to witness the Institute's impact on the industry; interact with industry experts and innovators; gain a wealth of information through educational programs; earn continuing education units (CEUs); and share their expertise and experiences.

As the gathering place for the entire building community to connect, collaborate and create solutions for the built environment, Building Innovation 2018 gives sponsors and exhibitors the best opportunity to support the Institute's efforts, reach their target audience, showcase their products and services, and gain valuable exposure and recognition for their contribution to the building industry.

About the Audience

Building Innovation 2018 is the one industry event that attracts building professionals from every discipline, giving organizations the unique opportunity to showcase their industry solutions to representatives of the entire building industry at once. With attendance ranging from 400-700 individuals at the Institute's Building Innovation Conferences over the last five years, all aspects of the building community have been represented. The audience includes: architects, engineers and contractors; academia; BIM/CAD specialists; building enclosure designers; product manufacturers; software developers and engineers; facility maintenance professionals; researchers; consultants; planners; local, state and federal agencies; building owners and operators; code officials; codes and standards organizations; and more. Representatives from private companies; federal, state and local government agencies; students; and retired individuals make up the diverse audience. Annual meetings held by each of the Institute's councils and committees during Building Innovation 2018 create the potential for attendance by a significant percentage of the Institute's 1,500 active members.

CONFERENCE & EXPO

Companies and organizations have an affordable opportunity to build recognition, gain exposure and make a lasting impression while presenting their products, services, programs and technologies to a broad-based audience of building industry professionals during Building Innovation 2018. Sponsors and exhibitors are recognized as key supporters of the Institute's mission to support advances in building science and technology to improve the built environment.

During the four days of content-rich programs and events, sponsors will receive repeated recognition for their support of the Institute and the Conference. They will be honored through prominent signage, podium acknowledgements, logo placements, web links, program listings, publicity and advertisements.

Table-top exhibitors are given two activity-packed days to present their products and services to attendees during the Expo. The Building Innovation 2018 Exhibit Hall, located inside the Mandarin Oriental Grand Ballroom on the Conference level, is readily accessible to all attendees and provides exclusive space for 18 exhibitors. The Walking Lunch, Exhibitors Reception and coffee breaks, all scheduled during the Exhibit Hall hours, work to draw attendees to the Exhibit Hall and provide exhibitors ample opportunity to engage participants in one-on-one conversations, presentations and demonstrations, and the chance to collect qualified leads.

Advertisers can deliver their marketing message directly to the building industry professionals who attend the Conference with a full-color advertisement in the Conference Program. The Building Innovation 2018 Conference Program will be provided to every attendee and be utilized for guidance throughout the four days. Placing an advertisement in the Conference Program ensures visibility and shows support for the Institute and its Conference.
