President's Message

Alfreda Hanna

Epigrams are challenging! Stating the obvious in a unique way, they titilate the reader's subconscious and force the lazy mind to turn over some productive thinking. Recently three unrelated statements have come to the attention of the President, gelled, and linked themselves together in a significant demand to be heard.

Today We Live—
The Children of Yesterday
The Parents of Tomorrow

Each of us working in libraries already established find ourselves dealing with the results of policies often determined many years before our arrival on the local professional scene. Those policies may be fruitful, they may be frustrating; but certainly we must reckon with them. The encouraging aspect is that our libraries are so often set up and administered by competent, conscientious librarians! The discouraging aspect is that our libraries of today are no longer the fledglings of yesterday, yet so often our policies and services have failed to keep up with the growth of the community and of the library itself.

As collections grow, as media are added, as the makeup of our patrons shifts in education, quantity, ethnic background, or location, we currently make the new policies which become "the parents of tomorrow" in the libraries in which we work—and that's an awesome thought. As a cataloger, I may make decisions that shortcut my work—but frustrate the patron with unnecessary brevity, or with unintelligible filing arrangements. As an administrative librarian, I determine priorities in expenditure that may hamper—or accelerate—the growth and use of my library for the future. The friendliness, sincerity, and thoroughness of my efforts in public reference will stamp a positive—or negative—image on our public service desk for years to come.

New Horizons from an Old Heritage

As we "parent" our libraries for tomorrow's service, we can look to the heritage of the past to re-emphasize our commitment to people-oriented service with efficiency as our byword. Fulfillment of our commitment, however, may be expected to result in new horizons . . . new ways of accomplishing traditional purposes.

This year Oklahoma librarians can effectively broaden their horizons by attending some of the diversified, well-planned OLA workshops. Varied in subject, led by authorities in the field, and laced with stimulating techniques, these workshops will broaden your perspective and challenge your professional endeavors to attempt new horizons in such areas as . . .

Sequoyah Award Acceptance Speech 1976

Thomas Rockwell

The following speech was written by Thomas Rockwell, winner of the 1976 Sequoyah Children's Book Award. It was read at the Sequoyah Children's Book Award luncheon, March 27, 1976, by Mr. David Phillips of the Franklin Watts Pub. Co. Mr. Phillips represented the author at the luncheon and accepted the award for him.

I'm sorry I couldn't come to Oklahoma to accept this award in person. I would have brought a plate of worm d'oeuvres, a big pot of worm soup, a vast vat of creamed worms on toast. We could have sat around and talked and put our feet up on the tables, and passed our plates for second helpings, and laughed and giggled and made faces and passed our plates for thirds and finally all gone home with a worm feeling in our stomachs.

I hope, down there in Oklahoma, you're taking this seriously. (I'm writing this on a cold, drizzly Sunday afternoon in New York State, the trees bare, a skin of ice on the pond.) Most people act as if How To Eat Fried Worms isn't a serious book, I'm sorry to say. But look at all the problems there are in the world — unemployment, inflation, pollution, next week's arithmetic test, who's going to sit in the front seat the next time your family drives to Tulsa, the food shortage. You don't think I'd write a funny book in the face of all that? No, I was serious. Eating a worm is no joke. You don't believe that, try it when you're going home this afternoon. Stop by the side of the road, dig up a worm, lay it out on a paper plate, and then think about eating it. You'll begin to feel serious. It won't look like a joke.

While I was writing the book, at the part where Billy wakes up in the middle of the night imagining that he's poisoned himself by eating the worms, it suddenly occurred to me: suppose worms really would poison somebody? I didn't know whether they would or not. And then I remembered something that had happened years before. An old folk-song about a boy who puts peas up his nose had become popular. But so many kids were trying it and ending up in hospitals with teams of doctors removing the world's record number of peas from their noses, that the folksong was finally taken off the radio. I could just see my book all of a sudden being removed from libraries and bookstores, a wormy menace to the health of the children of the United States. So I asked a doctor, "On the contrary," he said, "worms are good for you: seventy per cent protein, low in calories, full of minerals."

Ah. I can imagine all of you down there going Yug and Og and making faces and scratching your knees under the tables. But most of you have never eaten a worm. How can you be so sure it wouldn't taste good? Most of you have probably never even looked a worm in the eye.

Last week someone sent me a clipping from a California newspaper. A company, North American Bait Farms Incorporated, is undertaking a campaign to convince Americans that earthworms are nutritious and tasty. The company office manager, a Ms. Barbara Hickox, is quoted as saying, "They're extremely good. The redworm cookies are the best."

So next time a cow breaks into your school cafeteria and eats up all the pizza, why shouldn't you all go out onto the playground and dig up lunch? Think of the money that could be saved in waxpaper alone if, instead of taking your lunch to school, you just dug it up everyday on the way.

You see it’s not just me. This is a serious business, all over the country.

However, I do have an admission to make: I’ve never eaten a worm. I intended to. In fact, when I sent the manuscript of How To Eat Fried Worms off to my agent, I said to myself, Well, if a publisher buys it, I’ll eat a worm. Two publishers promptly rejected it: one said it was (and I quote) “too much yuck.” The other thought teachers and librarians would be offended by the worminess. Then a publisher accepted the book . . . But I don’t know, somehow since then I’ve never gotten around to eating a worm. I feel guilty about it. I sort of made a vow and haven’t lived up to it. But somehow, I don’t know, conditions have never been really right for eating a worm.

But after all there are lots of experiences which are like eating worms — for instance, when you find you can’t even understand any of the questions on the English test; or if you’ve just spilled Coca-Cola all over yourself, your best friend, your best friend’s mother and your best friend’s mother’s rug at your best friend’s father’s birthday party. And I have eaten a chocolate-covered ant. But there was so much chocolate and so little ant that it just tasted like a Hershey bar — except that I was so afraid that I’d all of a sudden taste the ant that I didn’t even enjoy the chocolate.

I got the idea for How To Eat Fried Worms while driving home from New York City one day. I had been to see an editor about another story I’d written. She hadn’t liked it. So I was depressed, there was a nasty taste in my mouth, as if she had just been making me eat a cold liver and spinach sandwich. At the same time I was trying to think of an idea for another book. She had suggested that I write something more realistic. The trees and guardrails flashed by. And then, I suppose, the nasty taste in my mouth, as if I’d just been eating mud, and my half-hearted search for an idea all of a sudden collided in my mind, and I thought: how about a book about a boy who eats worms?

I have often wondered why I was immediately delighted by the idea. A book about a boy who eats worms? Probably it was the outrageousness of the idea which delighted me. That’s a ridiculous, weird, yucky thing to do — eat worms. It’s such an outrageous thing to do, it’s almost heroic. Other kids would point you out to their friends half in derision, half in awe. You’ve done something nobody else will, sort of thumbed your nose at the whole conventional everyday world of school, grown-ups, clean socks, no-elbows-on-the-table-eat-your-peas, dear.

This quality of outrageousness, ridiculousness, runs through most of my books. For the book I’m writing now I’ve just finished a passage on warts, featuring — asterisk asterisk asterisk: The Biggest Wart in the World! Another of my books, The Portmanteau Book, is meant in part as a spoof on all books. It has 17½ bonus pages, a star-spangled contest, a cookbook, a mystery page, a page 11,004, an epic (though of modest proportions), a comic book, an index containing a bank robbery, a story entitled “Sdrawkcab.”

I don’t want to give the impression that I write only outrageous books though. Hiding Out is a realistic story of a boy who runs away. A book to be published late this year or early in 1977 is about a boy who steals. The book which will have the passage on warts — all kinds of warts — weeping warts, for instance — is an attempt to write something which is outrageous and realistic at the same time, rather like How To Eat Fried Worms but with more serious moments.

I suppose one of the reasons I write books for children is because I feel I can be more outrageous than if I were writing for adults. But it wasn’t the reason I started writing for children. When my son Barnaby was three or four years old (he is now fourteen, my daughter Abigail is eight), someone gave him a copy of the Oxford Nursery Rhyme Book. Reading it to him so delighted me, the poems were so varied and different — counting rhymes, nonsense
ingleses. "The Death and Burial of Cock Robin," the "Three Jovial Welshman," the "Love-Sick Frog" — that I began to try to write some myself. And that, in turn, brought me back to children's literature, a whole world which had once been very important to me but which I had since forgotten. My mother read aloud to my brothers and me a great deal, wrote stories for us. took us to the library, encouraged us to write ourselves, brought us books she thought we'd like.

Sometimes when people learn that I write children's books, they ask me if I don't feel restricted, limited. Can I write about the things I'm interested in? In certain areas — outrageousness for one — I feel less restricted. And then there are other things about being a child, certain attitudes, which I seem to share: the sense of being an underdog, for instance, of living in a world controlled by others.

But all this is in a sense a long way from writing. Why one writes a particular kind of book doesn't really have very much to do with writing it. After I'd got the idea for How To Eat Fried Worms, there was still everything to do. Why would a boy eat worms? A bet. Okay. What kind of a bet? What kind of a boy? Where would he live? How many worms would he eat? That was a delicate question. After Billy has eaten two or three worms, just the eating of another worm isn't disgusting, outrageous, exciting, even interesting. But of course, if he eats only a few worms, the bet is too easy. So I compromised on fifteen worms but hurried over the actual eating of the later worms, concentrating instead on the complications and difficulties created by Alan and Joe — the worm made of beans, the fake letter from the doctor.

The ending of the book was a problem,
too. In my first draft, after Billy had eaten the twelfth or thirteenth worm, Alan and Joe conceded the bet, and all four boys became involved in very complicated maneuverings to trick Alan's parents into giving him the fifty dollars to pay Billy. For instance, they staged a fake burglary of Alan's room. But that ending wasn't right. It was about as exciting as a rotten orange. So I worried about it, tried rewriting parts of it, and finally realized that the book should focus all the way through on the bet and end as Billy wins it by eating the fifteenth worm.

After that there was lots of polishing to do. I revise a great deal. I imagine a scene in my mind — for instance, four boys talking on the stoop of a house. But I can't describe everything in the scene — the trees, the weather, what each boy looks like, the house, how each boy feels at every moment. The scene would be pages and pages too long. Instead, I have to select a few details which will suggest the rest. Then I have to put all this into words so that a reader will see the scene in the same way I do, so that a reader will feel as if he has just crossed the street and is actually watching and listening to the four boys. All this, I find, takes care and revision after revision.

But after going over a manuscript four or five or six times, it's difficult to tell if the words are conveying anything. If the first draft is like a lively green frog croaking and splashing about in a stream, the fifth or sixth draft is like a gray dead frog floating limply in a jar of formaldehyde. A joke, for instance, is never very funny the fifth or sixth time you hear it.

So when I finally send a manuscript off, I am not really sure if it's good . . . or bad
. . . I hope it's passable at least. Of course, it's encouraging when a publisher buys the book. But then the copy editor throws out all my punctuation; the editor asks for more revisions. I begin to be doubtful of the book again. Finally the book is published. A few reviews. A friend or two, meeting me in the supermarket, remarks casually: "That was a pretty good book aren't bananas high this week." And then . . . silence. Sometimes publishing a book is like dropping a rock down a well and waiting to hear the splash
. . . and waiting . . . and waiting . . . and waiting . . . and finally going back to my

OKLAHOMA AUTHORS

Skip Largent

(Setting: Claremore mound, a large hump outside Claremore, reputed to be a place of spirits. It is late Spring. Atop the mound, looking over the countryside, are Lynn Riggs and Will Rogers, both legendary men of words from Claremore.

North of them, snow is falling. To the east, the sky is scorched with sunlight. Approaching them from the south is a dust storm spawning a few twisters. The two writers turn westward where the sky is filled with scorched, dusty, twisting snow. Will speaks first.)

Rogers: Lo, the Oklahoma moment, brief, but bearing its own season!
Riggs: Yea, is it any wonder that the hawk meditates in circumvolution, and the impulsive wind sweepeth down the plain.
(From the direction of Claremore approaches Skip Largent, dragging a hundred foot long Bic Bananna. Riggs and Rogers stare at him and sigh in unison.)

Rogers: Here comes the kid again.
Riggs: It's your turn, Will. (He claps his hands and a surrey with a fringe on top swoops down from the heavens, picks him up and carries him aloft. Rogers takes out a rope, knots a noose and begins to twirl it absent, watching Largent stagger to a halt at the base of the mound. Skip draws a piece of paper no larger than a postage stamp out of his pocket, places it on a rock, then with an intense effort, hoists the huge pen on his shoulder and sets its point on the paper.)

Largent: Hey, yoo-hoo . . . yoo-hoo, you all!
Rogers: (slyly) What's the password?
Largent: (Bewildered) Password? Never needed one before.
Rogers: Need one now. Too many fakes been coming up here.
Largent: Oh! (he thinks) Well, how about "NEVER MET A MAN I DIDN'T LIKE"
Rogers: (in mock offense) What do you think this is . . . vaudeville?
Largent: Oh. (he thinks harder) How about "BETTER DEAD THAN RED"?
Rogers: (seriously offended) You're talking to an Indian.
Largent: I'm terribly sorry.
Rogers: What makes you think that this password is something you'd read on a billboard?

Largent: (dejected) Well, doggone it! (he lets the banana fall to the ground with a loud "Squump!") I guess I don't know!

Rogers: (chuckling to himself) There you go, that's the password! Now, son, what can I do for you?

Largent: (Hurriedly lugging the banana back to his shoulder and posing himself over the tiny paper) Thanks. I need a real zinger.

Rogers: Zinger?

Largent: That's right, sir, a real hook.

Rogers: Hook?

Largent: Yessir. I'm cooking a poem and I need a catcher. Not McKuen and not McLuhan, something super that'll can the computer . . . something that COMMUNICATES!

Rogers: (twirling two ropes at once, shaking his head) Communicates with what?

Largent: Why, (astounded) the Jungian Collective Conscious, of course.

Rogers: The hung what? What is it that you want to communicate?

Largent: Anything! Everything! Tap the Dream! Ration me the irrational in chunks of raw meat, brew that both the caveman and the connoisseur can consume.

Rogers: (scowling) Ugh! What's this poem of yours about?

Largent: About? Whatever! It's about Whatever is happening in the poem, in the unknown, in the Cosmos.

Rogers: Yeah, well . . . . (he twirls three ropes at once, then drops a lasso each over three buffalo skulls on the mound . . . then looks again at Largent) What's your point?

Largent: My point!? (impatiently) I have no point! Who am I to have a point? (smugly) A point is something on which to impale the populace! I want a moving point, a wave of points, a flood . . . .!

Rogers: Hold on there! (flings the ropes into the air where they are caught by three owls in flight. Rogers glares at Largent) It seems to me that you are coping out!

Largent: (he staggers beneath the weight of the banana) What? (a tooth falls out of his open mouth)

Rogers: That's right! I think you are afraid. (Rogers points to the snow-filled East, reading it as if it were a diary) Why look there! You've seen Death. You've been to war. You've watched men stripped of their selfhood, wound up and marched blindfolded into Misery like they were machines. You've seen friends pop the first pillow or pull the first cork. You've seen them, years later, empty out like a bottle of spiders. (Largent screams something. Another tooth spews out of his mouth. Rogers turns to the dust storm in the South and begins reading it.) And there! Why don't you write about growing up father-less, about being married and divorced by the time you were nineteen, about fasting for sixteen days in a desert trying to find God, about being reduced to a vibrating bone by drugs, about . . . .?

Largent: (toppling with the banana to the ground) Stop it! (two more teeth fall out of his mouth)

Rogers: (pointing to the sun-filled East) Or there! Have you forgotten about all those hours of dreams, listening to your mother play the piano or sitting on flat rocks in the river. Why don't you write about finding your father again at twenty, and how you two could not talk, but together you sang Hank Williams songs and popped the top of countless tears? And why don't you write about your children? Eh? (He turns back to Largent, who is holding his hand to his mouth)

Largent: (angrily) I didn't come here to get . . . . (with each word, another tooth drops) OWW! What is this? My teeth! (he looks up at Rogers and shakes his fist) You! You are doing this! (spitting the teeth out in anger and amazement)

ALLIE BETH MARTIN: 1914-1976
A Profile

Frances Kennedy

Allie Beth Martin will not be in Chicago to lead the celebration of ALA’s 100th birthday as she had planned; but when ALA’s 200th anniversary is observed, it is predicted that a later historian, writing of “Who We Were,” will introduce this period of library history and its giants with Allie Beth Martin — her unique contribution to public library development, goals and standards; her professional competence; her vision for the future of librarianship; and her role in the changing pattern of ALA’s organization.

Allie Beth died on April 11, 1976, after a courageous battle with cancer — a battle that weakened and finally destroyed her physical being but left intact her interest in the world about her and in everything relating to librarianship — to the very end. During the six months’ battle she had only one answer to the often asked question of how she felt. “Pretty good,” she would say; but let the inquirer mention the magic word “library” and her voice would strengthen, become eager and enthusiastic, and her eyes would regain some of their old sparkle. She never lost that miraculous feat of renewal.

Professional journals, Who’s Who In America, and Current Biography give us the names and dates and places which punctuated her sixty one years of living; but it is difficult to capture in words her zest for life, the effervescence of her hearty laughter, and her enthusiasm for the library world. The Oklahoma Library Association honored her with election to presidency of the Association, a special award for legislative activity, and the Distinguished Service Award in 1961. She has been similarly honored by the Arkansas Library Association, Southwestern Library Association, and to climax a spectacular career, election to the presidency of the American Library Association, the office which she assumed at the San Francisco conference on July 4, 1975.

On my bulletin board, near my desk, is the “Allie Beth Martin spring schedule,” with the dates, places, events, and the names of those who would be helping her as she attempted to fulfill her professional obligations. Those listed counted it a privilege to help. Kahlil Gibran says it well in “You have helped me in my work and in myself, and I have helped you in your work and in yourself, and I am grateful to heaven for this you-and-me.” The final entry on the sched-

Career Education Through Library-Based Career Information Services

Janelle Kirby
Paula McClure

The typical Putnam City High School student has gained a new outlook on careers. No longer does every boy want to be an engineer and every girl a teacher. Students are becoming aware of the vast number of career options that are open to them. Most students are interested in investigating several careers related to their interests, hobbies, or their favorite school subjects. This investigation is possible at Putnam City High School with the Career Information Center which is located in the library media center.

Located in Oklahoma City, Putnam City High School is the largest three year high school in Oklahoma with approximately 3,000 students, seventy to eighty percent of whom are college bound. Another ten to fifteen percent will attend business or vocational and technical schools after graduation.

As part of the activities relating to the Putnam City School District’s commitment to educational accountability, each district school developed its own needs assessment as determined by a committee of students, parents and certified and non-certified personnel. In the follow-up studies Putnam City High School students specifically requested “more up-to-date job opportunity information” and named “vocational awareness” as their number one need. These survey results parallel the growing national concern for needed career education as shown by the U.S. Office of Education’s naming it their top priority for Fiscal Year 1974 and establishing an Office of Career Education in 1975.

“There is really a growing emphasis on career planning in secondary education today,” according to Mrs. Janelle Kirby, Putnam City High School Head Librarian. “In the eight years that I’ve been here the amount of information coming into our library has multiplied many times over.

“In recent years we’ve been so flooded with materials that it’s been a struggle to keep up with them in the library. It seemed that the more we got, the more the students wanted,” she said.

“Also, since the school district has more counselors, as an outgrowth of a previous pilot project in guidance and counseling, there’s been an increased awareness of career planning by the students.

“It all added up to so much that we finally just couldn’t keep up with it as part of our regular library.”

In an effort to meet this need, Mrs. Kirby planned what is now the Career Information Center and applied for the project’s first-year funding (1974-75) and subsequent funding. These special grants through ESEA, Title III and IV-C have helped to establish an exemplary Career Information Center, the only one of its kind in the state. This project serves as a model of what can be accomplished when exemplary resources — professional staff with extensive multimedia and equipment — are made available to students and staff. The educational emphasis of this program has been the development of career planning skills by students.

There are four distinct areas in which the Career Information Center serves as a model: 1) Well-stocked and well-staffed Career Information Center, 2) Student involvement, 3) Staff commitment, 4) Educational community involvement. Measurable objectives have been established for each area and are supported by various activities.

The generally accepted goal of career guidance is not to get the student to choose an occupation as soon as possible — or to choose an occupation at all for that matter. Rather it is to help students recognize their career options, understand the personal implications of these options, maximize their opportunities to achieve favored options, and make career decisions wisely when they have to be made. Because most persons do not remain in the same job throughout their adult lives, students will have repeated opportunities to use the career planning skills developed in school. The Career Information Center is designed as an exemplary multimedia support system for educational and career planning.

The Center is divided into two sections: occupational and educational information. The Occupational Information Specialist, Mrs. Paula McClure who is a certified media specialist, is responsible for developing and maintaining expertise in these areas and seeing that the information reaches those who need it. She devotes most of her time and energy to her primary function — in a school setting, that of in-house resource person to counselors and teachers as well as students; in other settings as a consultant. The multiplicity of materials and equipment, as well as the variety of classes and individuals served, necessitates a wide range of teaching techniques and methods.

The occupational information section is designed to introduce students to the multitude of career options now open to them. In order to make a sound decision, a student must be aware of the realistic alternatives. It is only after he has accurate, current information about the wealth of options open to him that he is genuinely free to choose.

In order to provide students with all the information they need for career planning, the specialist must have an amazing array of materials at her fingertips. The optimal method of assuring this is through a well-stocked and well-staffed Career Information Center which contains virtually everything needed — reference books, occupational literature (books, pamphlets, career briefs) and audiovisuals with the necessary equipment (filmstrips, cassette tapes, records, films, transparencies, slides, microfiche, video tapes, Viewdecks and games). Photographic equipment and a video camera allow production of original materials and recording of important events. Information is also available on apprenticeship and on-the-job training, lists of schools that offer programs in the various specialties and much, much more, with all materials being as current as possible.

The educational information section is often called College Corner because it contains an extensive collection of school catalogs and bulletins from all states plus information on opportunities in foreign countries. Microfiche copies of over 2,000 college catalogs complete that collection. Scholarships, work study plans and all facets of post high school education are included.

During Career Week (each November), the Career Information Center sponsors a week-long film festival consisting of about ten films which are shown in the AV room. All teachers are provided with lists of careers related to their subject and numerous teachers and student-teachers have guest speakers in their classes. The Career Information Center hosts business representatives who talk with students individually, in small groups or as classes in the Center. Counselors from both Putnam City high schools host College Night as part of Career Week, inviting 50-60 college representatives.

Sophomore students participate through their English classes in an orientation to the Career Information Center. Various career options open to the students are discussed to show the importance of making basic decisions as sophomores and planning the last two years of high school accordingly. Each class has spent one class period working through the entire Center with a worksheet designed to utilize all the types of media available.

In November, the Assessment of Career Development Test is given to over 800 students. Nine teachers, with the help of the counselors administer the test to their junior American History classes. When the test results are returned, they are used in planning career activities for junior classes according to the interests and needs expressed by the participating students.

After taking an interest and needs survey, mini-courses are planned for interested students. The courses involve college planning and financing, selecting a technical or business school, how to get a job, and specific career clusters. These courses are offered on a voluntary basis to students through study hall periods or on their own time.

An advisory committee of teachers, students, counselors, administrators and community representatives, was established to work with the Project Director and the Occupational Information Specialist in making recommendations and evaluations as the program progresses.

As part of the Career Information Center's program, student teachers from Central State University, under the direction of Dr. Edgar Petty, Jr., participate in career education orientation as part of their pre-service training. Individual assistance along with a packet of materials for incorporating career education into teaching is provided for each student teacher interning at Putnam City High School. Teacher education programs across the state are advised of the program and the Center's services are offered to all their students.

The educational community at large is making use of the Center to examine and evaluate the materials and services offered. Educators from the state and from other states have visited or written for information about the program. Technical assistance is offered to any school who wish help in starting a career resource center. The Career Information Center's bibliography of basic career materials is available through the Library Resources Division of the Oklahoma Department of Education.

All the facets of the project — well-staffed and well-stocked Career Information Center, student involvement, staff commitment and educational community involvement — are important and necessary, and dependent upon one another. It does no good to have extension resources without a program for their utilization. On the other hand, it does no good to have a program without adequate materials and professional staff. Putnam City High School is fortunate — it has both.

Summertime! Vacations! Hot Weather! Enjoy them now! School will be starting soon. May you all have a happy and profitable school year.

In April an electrical short in the Media Center started a fire which destroyed the interior of Chickasha High School. The Media Center was a complete loss. Not even a shelf list remained. Barbara Spriestersbach is trying to rebuild the collection from memory. She asks that we all send duplicates of vertical file and career materials to her. You might set aside a box to toss this material into, and mail it to Barbara at Chickasha High School.

Librarians in Garfield County have organized the Garfield County Library Association. The group plans to meet about four times a year. The purposes of this organization are: 1. getting acquainted with fellow librarians, 2. to become aware of services and resources available in each library, 3. to coordinate information and publicity of libraries and their services to the public. Membership includes librarians from the public libraries, county school libraries, Vance Air Force and medical libraries.

Retiring at the end of the spring semester was Katy McDonald, Elementary Library Coordinator for Putnam City School District. Mrs. McDonald was honored at a surprise reception in May at Central Intermediate School. Her husband, "Hack" McDonald, also retired this spring from the State Department of Education.

Another loss to OASLMS is Ame Gorena. She will be researching and writing her doctoral dissertation next year.

Two of our OASLMS members have been elected to offices in the Oklahoma Association for Educational Communications and Technology. Sheila Alexander is the new Vice President, and Anne Rounds is Secretary-Treasurer. Both have our support and backing in their new positions. Perhaps we are a step closer to unification!

Anne Rounds was also elected as the Delegate to the OEA Delegate Assembly. She and your chairperson attended the Assembly in April. We kept alive in the Delegate Assembly minutes the motion which was passed last year by the Assembly asking for librarians in all schools, K-8. Although passed by the Assembly, the Legislative Committee of OEA disregarded the motion. Mr. R. E. Carleton, Deputy Executive Director, explained that this was due to other priorities for requested finances.

OASLMS-OLA Convention

Several items of business were considered at the OASLMS Business Meeting during the OLA Convention this spring. Most important was approval of the new constitution and by-laws with minor changes. They must now be approved by OEA and AASL. The OLA Executive Board gave approval before OASLMS Members voted on it. As noted in the last issue of the Oklahoma Librarian, the constitution included a name change for our organization.
— Oklahoma Association of School Library Media Specialists.

The membership voted to defer the 25c charge in making the new membership list. However, we still need such a list, so please sign at the fall OEA meeting in Tulsa, or send your name, address, phone number and school to Joyce Pipps, 1835 N. Oklahoma, Shawnee, Oklahoma 74801.

Your new OASLMS officers took their positions at the end of the meeting. They are: Barbara V. Campbell, Chairperson; Charlie Lou Rouse, Vice-Chairperson, Chairperson-Elect; Joyce Pipps, Secretary; Betty Fry, Treasurer; Anne Rounds, Delegate to OEA Delegate Assembly.

The Executive Board of OASLMS met on May 1, to discuss plans for the coming year. The following are some of the more important items discussed:

The OEA-OASLMS meeting on October 22, will be held at Mason High School, 6350 S. Utica, Tulsa. A map of the area will be included in one of the fall mailings.

Speakers and topics were discussed. The selected topic will depend upon the specialty of the speaker.

Charlie Lou Rouse is in charge of rewriting the Officer’s Handbook. Her committee will meet for the first time this summer.

An OASLMS workshop was scheduled with QLA for February 25. Several topics are being considered at present. If anyone has a topic of special interest which would be good workshop material, please inform me.

A slate of goals for 1976-77 was presented by the Chairperson and accepted by the Board.

Congratulations to the renewed, revitalized and regenerated organization, OASLMS (Oklahoma Association of School Library Media Specialists). Not only has there been a name change and a change of officers but a revised constitution and bylaws. Under this new leadership and with the resurgence of interest in the organization on the part of its members, great things are possible.

Most of you are acquainted with the new Chairperson of OASLMS, Ms. Barbara Campbell. Few know her as well as I. She is a very fair person with strong convictions. She is dedicated, organized and unfrowning in her loyalty. With your help, the organization will grow steadily and firmly under her leadership.

Charlie Lou Rouse, the Chairperson-elect, is a versatile and talented woman. She has held library positions in various places — Moore; Waco, Texas; the University of Oklahoma Library and Stillwater schools. She holds honors from the institutions she has attended and has been very active professionally, serving on national and state library committees. Her hobbies include antiquing, reading and tennis.

Betty Fry, your new Treasurer, has an extremely interesting background. She has lived in Bangkok, New Delhi and Paris. After

So winning the Sequoyah Award — a free and open election by readers — is marvelous — as if I dropped the rock down the well, heard a faint splash, and then all of a sudden out of the well rose a beautiful pink cloud, and from the cloud stepped Titania, the Queen of the Fairies, to present me with a herd of zebras, each with a candy tree in a pot on its back — all for me. He tosses it down to Largent, who catches it and starts to say something.) Save your words! Lose a word and you'll lose a tooth! (Skip's mouth snaps shut. Rogers smiles.)
Now, I want you to take that special apple, and everytime you take a bite, you're gonna be able to write zingers like a toad catching flies. But everytime you put down a word that doesn't carry an honest pound of your flesh . . . why, you're gonna lose a tooth.
(Rogers grins and slaps his hat back on his head) By my count, you ain't got too many left, and once they're gone . . . You ever tried to gum an apple?
(He smiles down at Largent, who after a long moment, shakes his head, puts the apple in his pocket, hoists the hundred foot long Bic Banana to his shoulder & trudges off to the West.)

Allie Beth Martin

ule is ALA’s “Celebrate,” July 18-24, 1976.

Allie Beth was a clear and objective thinker. She had the ability to present facts, to lessen opposition, and then to give credit for success when it came, and it usually did, to others. If you have never heard the story of how she wooed the State Legislature in a borrowed red hat and mink stole, find an old timer in Oklahoma to relate it!

Allie Beth was a great believer and advocate of participatory management, and took great pride in her staff’s ability to function efficiently and effectively without her day-to-day guidance. She was devoted to her staff, and they to her. A single rose bud from an assistant brought her as much or more pleasure than an exotic floral arrangement from a business or community leader.

Travel to far away places, gourmet foods and dining, good music, art, theater, and ballet, all these delighted her. She was a bird watcher, and as her illness forced increased inactivity, she took great pleasure in using her binoculars to view the capers of the many birds in her garden. She was indeed a rare soul.

Those of us who were close to Allie Beth but are librarians in other than public libraries, are reminded of Camus’ words, “Don’t walk in front of me, I may not follow. Don’t walk behind me, I may not lead. Walk beside me and just be my friend.” And friend she was indeed, and we communicated, side by side.

We should not mourn for Allie Beth Martin. She would resent it. She sought no sympathy that her life was ending prematurely. We shed our tears for ourselves who will miss her guidance, her inspiration, her sharing, her laughter, and most of all, her friendship. She will always be a part of us. In one sense our world is smaller because she is no longer here; but it is a larger, more exciting, and more rewarding one because she was here!

A novel, Death-Hold, and a book of poetry, The Thirty Years War, to be completed in the fall.

all that she still claims to find Oklahoma exciting, especially in the area of library service. She received her MLS from OU and was elected to Beta Phi Mu, the International Library Science Honor Fraternity, in 1969. Betty states, "My present priority is to do all that I can to help publicize the library legislation coming up before long in Oklahoma and to encourage librarians everywhere to get on the bandwagon."

Enthusiasm such as this is catching. Let's hope that the membership will exhibit as much energy as these leaders. Good leadership, effort and enthusiasm can accomplish many goals. Aim high, work hard and think positive.

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC SERIALS SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE TO ALL TYPES AND SIZES OF LIBRARIES

COMPREHENSIVENESS
EBSCO services periodicals, newspapers, annuals, yearbooks, irregular book/monographic series(numbered or unnumbered), and continuations. Our computerized price file lists over 100,000 titles. However, we gladly research any title ordered and do not expect the customer to provide publisher name and address. Our research cycle is thorough and provides a quick answer if we are unable to identify the publisher. We service titles from all nations of the world. The only titles we cannot (normally) service for you are order-direct by the publisher's requirement. (However, if you are a librarian who desires to place 100 per cent of all serials with a single agency, we can handle even the order-direct publishers for you.)

FLEXIBILITY
We believe what we do for you and how we do it should be determined by your needs. We have suggested procedures and formats. Our order processing and records are computerized, and we are able to employ our computer to service any special request you may have. In the event you have a request which a computer, for some reason, cannot honor, we keep our typewriters handy and a perfect willingness to do whatever is necessary to suit your needs.

PERSONALIZED SERVICE
Order control is located at our regional office. Each of our customers is assigned to one Customer Service representative, so there is consistency in communications.

On March 16, 1976, at the Capitol James Wilkerson, President of the Oklahoma Library Association, presented to Governor David Boren the books and materials as chosen by the OLA Governor's Mansion Library Committee for this year's addition to the Mansion Library.

The Committee is made up of Virginia Collier, Chairperson, Barbara Kersey, Jo Howard, Stanley Benson, Valeria Turnell, Doshie Loyd, and Mae Jennings.

After a complete inventory of the collection, at which time some books were withdrawn as being out-of-date, the committee had decided to up-date the reference collection and to provide an author-title card catalog of the collection for the use of the mansion occupants.

Oklahoma's Interlibrary Loan Code

Mary Hardin
Past Chairperson, Interlibrary Loan Code Committee

Daryl Morrison
Chairperson, Interlibrary Cooperation Committee

The 1975-76 Interlibrary Loan Code Committee, an Ad Hoc Committee of the Oklahoma Library Association, is pleased to announce that Oklahoma can now be counted among the states having an interlibrary loan code. The purpose of this voluntary code is to provide guidelines for Interlibrary Loan protocol within the state.

Chairperson, Mary Hardin, selected a drafting committee from the entire committee to represent interests of various types of libraries. Serving as co-chairperson was Daryl Morrison. Members of the drafting committee were: Sheila Alexander, Oklahoma Department of Education; Sheryl Anspaugh, Tulsa City-County Library; Billee Day, Chickasaw Library System; Jean Harrington, Enid Public Library; Heather Lloyd, Oklahoma State University Library; and John Paynter, Cameron University Library.

The code was formulated by using the "Model Interlibrary Loan Code" of the American Library Association and studying codes from other states incorporating parts and making changes to fit the unique needs of the state of Oklahoma. A draft, as approved by the entire committee, was presented to the Oklahoma Library Association Executive Board and endorsed by the Board on January 16, 1976. At the recommendation of the Interlibrary Loan Code Committee, the draft was presented to and adopted by the OLA Membership at its annual conference in March 1976.

Requests for copies or any questions concerning the code may be directed to Ms. Daryl Morrison, Chairperson, 1976-77 Interlibrary Cooperation Committee, University of Oklahoma Libraries, Norman, Oklahoma 73019.

Other committee members were: Roger Guard, Oklahoma City University Library; Alfreda Hanna, Bethany Nazarene College Library; Thelma Jones, Oklahoma City Public Schools; Clyde Martin, Oklahoma County Libraries; Raymond Piller, Southeastern Oklahoma State University Library; Dee Ann Ray, Western Plains Library System; Roscoe Rouse, Oklahoma State University Library; Irma Tomberlin, University of Oklahoma School of Library Science; Ruth Wender, University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center Library, Regional Library Services.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN CODE FOR THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA

This code is a voluntary agreement adopted by: (Name of Library) on (Date) to encourage and facilitate interlibrary lending among libraries in the state of Oklahoma. Although correlated with the ALA National Interlibrary Loan Code, 1968 (adopted by the Reference Services Division, acting for the American Library Association on June 27, 1968), this local code is intended to promote a more liberal interlibrary loan policy among the libraries adopting it. It is based on the premise that lending among libraries for the use of an individual in the state of Oklahoma is in the public interest and should be encouraged. However, interlibrary lending should be no substitute for the development of adequate collections.

This code may be further expanded or modified to meet the particular interests of participating libraries.

The American Library Association has published a procedures manual, Sarah K. Thomson's INTERLIBRARY LOAN PROCEDURE MANUAL, suggested for use in implementing the national code. Libraries requesting materials on loan are urged to follow the recommendations of the manual.

I. Definition

A. Interlibrary loans are transactions in which library materials (book and nonbook) are made available by one library to another, for the purpose of this code they also include the provision of copies as substitutes for loans of the original materials.

B. For the purpose of this code, "library" is defined as any public, academic, school, or special library within the state of Oklahoma.
II. Purpose
Since it is increasingly evident that it is impossible for any one library to be self-sufficient, and in the belief that the furtherance of knowledge is in the general interest, interlibrary borrowing and lending is regarded by the libraries subscribing to this agreement as essential to library service.

III. Responsibility of Borrowing Libraries
A. It is recognized that interlibrary lending does not relieve any library of the responsibility of developing its own collection. Each library will provide the resources to meet the ordinary study, educational, instructional, informational, and research needs of its users. Requests to borrow from other libraries will be limited to those items which the library might not be expected to own. Libraries should review and consider adding frequently asked items to their collections. No library should depend upon another to supply the normal needs of its clientele except under special agreement for such service.
B. Borrowing libraries will make every effort to exhaust their own resources before resorting to interlibrary loans.
C. Borrowing libraries will screen carefully all applications for loans, rejecting those which do not conform to this code.
D. The following conditions apply to all material borrowed:
1. The borrowing library will honor any limitations on use imposed by the lending library.
2. Unless specifically forbidden by the lending library, it is assumed that copying is permitted, provided that it is in accordance with copyright law and ALA policy and further, provided no damage to the original volume will result.
3. The borrowing library is responsible for returning loans promptly and in good condition.
4. The safety of loaned materials is the responsibility of the borrowing library from the time an item leaves the lending institution until it is returned to that library unless it has been determined that the lending library and/or mail service is at fault. Costs of repair and/or replacement for damaged or lost materials will be met after a mutual agreement has been reached by the borrowing and lending libraries.

IV. Responsibility of Lending Libraries
A. Lending libraries have the responsibility to inform borrowing libraries of any failure to observe the provisions of this code, and if necessary may invoke the provisions stated in Sec. XI.
B. Lending libraries will practice as liberal and unrestricted a policy as is possible in interlibrary loans, with due consideration to the interests of their primary clientele.

V. Scope
A. ANY TYPE OF LIBRARY MATERIAL needed for the purpose of study, instruction, information, or research may be requested on loan or in photostat from another library. The lending library has the privilege of deciding in each case whether a particular item should or should not be provided and whether the original or a copy should be sent. These decisions may be determined by the nature of the material or its physical condition, the degree of active demand for the material requested, or other reasons specifically indicated in this agreement.

B. Under the terms of this agreement it is permissible to request an interlibrary loan:
1. Materials collected in specialized subject fields and in special nonrestricted collections, as well as those in general collections;
2. Materials collected under special acquisition agreements;
3. Materials bought under special grant or other programs intended to promote economical use of the total resources;
4. Reference materials whenever lending might not hinder the service of the lending library.
C. Under the terms of this agreement, borrowing libraries will not ordinarily request:
1. Books in current and/or recurring demand;
2. Bulky or fragile materials;
3. Rare materials;
4. Duplicates of titles already owned;
5. Journals, which are usually non-circulating, since articles can be copied inexpensively;
6. Materials for class, reserve, or other group use;
7. Genealogical, heraldic, and similar materials.
D. This code is not intended to supplant other agreements existing among libraries.

VI. Expenses
A. The borrowing library should be prepared to assume costs charged by the lending library. The charges may be more than nominal; therefore, the borrowing library should anticipate these costs and authorize maximum charges on the initial request.
B. In the interests of efficiency the lending library may agree to absorb nominal costs for postage and insurance one way and photocopying.
C. Libraries may make special contractual or other arrangements, including financial reimbursement or other adjustments, in recognition of costs incurred by libraries whose resources are used extensively.

VII. Placement of Requests
A. Requests should be routed through the following recommended and established channels:
1. STUDENTS THROUGH HIGH SCHOOL
   A student in connection with school work should use, (a) his/her own school library; or (b) the public library of the community. If the person's needs cannot be satisfied and alternative topics are not possible, after careful screening, the school or public librarian may attempt to obtain the material from other sources. (See Sec. III)
2. USERS OF PUBLIC LIBRARIES
   A public library user should use the public library of his/her own community. If the public library cannot satisfy the user's needs, the local librarian may request material through the Oklahoma Teletype Interlibrary System (OTIS) network. (See OTIS Policies and Procedures available from the Oklahoma Department of Libraries.) (See Sec. III)
3. COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS
A member of the academic community should use: (1) his/her institution's library, or
(b) the public library of the community. If the person's needs cannot be satisfied and alternative topics are not possible, after careful screening, the academic librarian may attempt to obtain the material from other sources. (See Sec. III)

4. CLIENTELE OF SPECIAL LIBRARIES
An employee, member, or representative of an agency, company, society, or other institution having its own library should use that library whenever requests relate to that affiliation. If the person's needs cannot be satisfied, the librarian may attempt to obtain the material from other sources. (See Sec.
III)

B. Every effort will be made by the borrowing library to locate materials through available local, state, and regional union catalogs, book
catalogs, and union lists.

C. Requests may be made by:
1. Oklahoma Teletype Interlibrary System
   (OTIS), using the OTIS forms;
2. Mail, using the standard ALA form or the ALA
   photoduplication form;
3. TWX, using the standard TWX format;
4. Telephone requests when mutually agreeable may be made and shall be confirmed by the mailing of the standard form unless the lending library waives this record.

D. No library will lend directly to an individual on an interlibrary loan basis, except by mutual agreement between the borrowing and lending libraries.

VIII. Form of Request

A. Materials requested must be described as completely and accurately as possible following accepted bibliographic practice.

B. Under the terms of this agreement borrowing libraries will specify the type of non-print media compatible with their audio-visual equipment.

C. All items requested shall be verified in standard bibliographic tools and sources of verification cited. When the item requested cannot be veri-ified, the statement "cannot verify" shall be indicated, and complete information as to source of reference furnished.

D. If verification is disregarded or bibliographic data is incorrect, the lending library may return the request unfilled without special effort to identify the reference. However, if there is clear indication that the borrowing library has exhausted its own resources, then the lending library may be willing to verify the citation.

E. The name and status (position or other pertinent identifying information) of the individual for whom the material is being requested shall ap-ppear on the request form.

F. Subject requests should be as specific as possible and should include sources searched and the patron's need and level of interest.

G. All requests and shipments shall be conspicuously labeled "Interlibrary Loan."

IX. Duration of Loan
A. Unless otherwise specified by the lending library, the duration of the loan shall be calculalized as the time the item is to be in the borrowing library, disregarding the time spent in transit.
The period of loan shall be designated by the lending library.

B. Renewal requests shall be kept to a minimum.
The renewal request shall be sent in time to reach the lending library before the due date.
The lending library shall respond to renewal requests promptly; if it does not, it will be assumed that renewal for the same period as the original loan is granted.

C. The loan period specified by the lending library should be appropriate to the type of material.

D. Material on loan is subject to recall at any time and the borrowing library shall comply promptly.

X. Notification and Acknowledgement
A. The lending library shall notify the borrowing library promptly whether or not the material is being sent; if the material cannot be supplied,
the lending library shall state the reason.

B. Except in the case of very valuable shipments,
no acknowledgement of receipt is necessary.
If there is undue delay in receipt of shipments, the borrowing library shall notify the lending library
so that a search may be initiated.

XI. Violation of the Code
Flagrant disregard of the provisions of this code shall be sufficient reason for suspension of borrow ing privileges; therefore, a library's or patron's privileges may be suspended.

Library Instruction

Beverly Joy
Library Instruction Coordinator,
University of Oklahoma

The Sixth Annual Conference on Library
Orientation for Academic Libraries was held in Ypsilanti, Michigan, on May 13 and 14.
Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti is the academic home of Hannelore Rader, a leader in the development of library instruction programs nationwide. A five year Council on Library Resources grant enabled her to plan and carry through a comprehensive bibliographic instruction program which reached all levels of the university community. Annual conferences such as this one are an outgrowth of this grant. The purpose of this conference was to present the current status of library instruction nationally and to share new ideas and materials.
Attendance was limited to one hundred-fifty people, but within that limit thirty-two states were represented, plus Canada and Egypt. Upon our arrival, Karen Weddle and I, representing the University of Oklahoma, were pleased to discover two fellow Oklahomans, Stan Benson from Oklahoma Baptist University and John Chaffin from Northeastern.

A two-day conference does not leave much time for dallying, so the program was tightly scheduled. The first morning we met James H. Brickley, the President of EMU, who welcomed us briefly. Beverly Lynch, the Executive Director of the Association of College and Research Libraries, told us about ARL's Ad Hoc Task Force on Bibliographic Instruction which was formed in 1971 and about the current move to form a corresponding Roundtable in ALA.

Sheila Laidlaw from the University of Toronto gave us a detailed picture of the various types of approaches and materials being tried throughout Canada. Two things became quickly obvious: first, that interest and activity in library instruction has mushroomed in the last few years in Canada as well as the U.S.; and second, that there are no new ideas that have not been tried someplace or other. A correlative of this second statement is that some methods of approach will work in one place but not another; in other words, every successful instruction program must be tailored to fit its unique situation.

Tom Kirk from Earlham College, another veteran of several years instruction experience, spoke to us concerning course-related library instruction. Many of the people working in this area agree with his strong opinion that library use instruction is most effective when it is planned in conjunction with an academic subject and the professor and librarian work cooperatively.

A different approach was offered by Mimi Dudley from the University of California in Los Angeles. Several years ago she developed a basic library use workbook which is now a part of the required freshman curriculum. It is completely self-instructional and requires approximately six to eight hours to complete. She is convinced that it successfully orients UCLA's four thousand plus freshmen to the library and that they return frequently thereafter with a positive attitude toward the library and the librarians.

During breaks we were free to wander in the display areas to look at printed materials and media presentations created by member libraries of LOEX, the Library Orientation Exchange. Organized as a national clearing house for library orientation materials, LOEX has collected examples of guides, course outlines, sample scripts for audio-visual presentations, etc., from an ever-growing number of academic libraries. Carolyn Kirkendall from EMU organizes and indexes this material and mails requested samples all over the country. (To become a member of Project LOEX, request a membership questionnaire from, and return it to: Carolyn Kirkendall, Project LOEX, Center of Educational Resources, EMU, Ypsilanti, MI 48197.)

In addition to major speeches, the conference format included group discussion time in which to meet other librarians and compare local ideas and means of implementing these ideas. A final panel of six librarians from schools with well-developed programs discussed their projects, problems and attempts at evaluation.

Although most of the grant projects and outstanding programs reviewed at this conference have been discussed in library literature, having the opportunity to meet the people behind the projects transformed library instruction planning from daydream to reality for me. Having personal contact with other librarians active in the area of instruction will be most valuable, I think, to the efforts we make here in Oklahoma. Encouragement and aid are available to all of us who will be developing our local programs in the coming year.

Three items of special interest to librarians involved with library instruction are:

The University of Tulsa has enjoyed its greatest library development year. In February an anonymous donor contributed $1,000,000 toward the construction of the planned $3,000,000 addition to McFarlin Library. The necessity of the addition was amplified by many special collections that have been obtained since June 1, 1975.

During the summer a small, but significant Dorothy Richardson Collection was purchased. It contained twenty-two first editions by and about her along with a collection of letters and the original holograph manuscript of Dawn’s Left Hand (1931). Then 886 foreign translations of the works of Graham Greene were purchased from the author; within a few months a portion of his research library was purchased from him. In August one of the greatest D. H. Lawrence Collections in the world was obtained from a private collector; it contains first editions, various printings, foreign translations, manuscripts, letters, art work, critical and biographical items, and much ephemera.

The next collection came as a surprise, for no one had any knowledge about its existence, much less that it was to be given to the University. John Shlpepey, a former Tulsa and University student, moved to Seattle in 1957. He took with him his collection of American Indian and Oklahoma books. He continued to develop the collect-
The largest collection to be obtained is the Cyril Connolly Collection. It arrived from England in early March and is ready for use on a limited basis. It is actually Connolly's library; there are approximately 8,050 volumes, 1100 periodical issues, and numerous letters from Stephen Spender, Evelyn Waugh, and Osbert Sitwell as well as letters from Auden, Eliot, Hemingway, Huxley, Pound, Dylan Thomas and others. A major portion of his library is French literature with emphasis on Proust, Baudelaire, Flaubert, Maupassant, and Valery along with many contemporary authors. Many volumes contain his marginal annotations, comments, and verse, and most are in excellent condition. The Connolly Collection and the collections obtained during the year combined with the existing University collections make the University of Tulsa one of the major Modern Literature research centers in the nation.

Past Chairperson, OLA/NLW Committee

A sunny Saturday in April saw Penn Square shopping center converted into a library extravaganza. The occasion? Penn Square's salute to National Library Week 1976.

"Information Power" resounded throughout the square as several thousand shoppers participated in the puppet shows presented by John Hinkle and family; magic shows by Bob Cortis; and storytelling sessions in the Oklahoma County Libraries' bubble presented by the librarians of the system.

Audio-visual materials, book drawings, personal appearances by Oklahoma authors in our "Author Alley," free balloons, bookmarks, and visits by children's favorites Snoopy and Pluto, all contributed to the fun of the day.

Oklahoma County residents were given the opportunity to register and to receive their borrower's cards if they had not previously obtained one. A fact sheet on State Question 507 was also available.

The 1976 National Library Week committee wishes to thank the many librarians of the Oklahoma County Libraries System, the authors, family members and friends who so generously donated their time and energies to the success of this project. A special thanks is extended to Mr. John Pawlus, General Manager of Penn Square and the many merchants of the Penn Square Merchants Association who thought enough of our project to financially support our efforts.

Members of the 1976 National Library Week committee were: Lenore Beard, Jim Beavers, Aarone Corwin, Pat Curtis, Sue Fontaine, Betty Fry, Dannelle Hall, Anita Johnston, Sharon Saulmon, and Karen Weddle.

Gary England, Chief Meteorologist of KWTV, served as state chairman.

Oklahoma librarians will have a special interest in the November 2, 1976 general election. State Question 507, one of several questions to be submitted to Oklahoma voters, would amend the state constitution to allow each county the option of holding a future election to extend its library financial support by a rate not to exceed 4 mills. It would also allow all state counties the option of forming cooperative multi-county library systems if county voters wished to do so.

"Your Library Needs Your Help to Grow" is the theme of our campaign for public support. Colorful flyers and posters, post cards and fact sheets are available for distribution. For information and materials write to Bill Lowry of the Planning Committee for S.Q. 507. His address is Pioneer Multi-County Library, 225 N. Webster, Norman, OK 73069; or call (405) 321-1481.

We need the active support of every librarian in the state.

Why not handle your foreign affairs domestically?

The motion was approved.

Reports were presented by Sheryl Anspaugh for the College and University Division; Edith LaForge for the Oklahoma Association of School Librarians (she added to the printed report that their division has over 200 members now in O.L.A.); Ken Tracy for the Reference Division. (He asked for suggestions for workshops); Lee Brawner for the Trustees Division; Carol Tanzer for the Social Responsibilities Roundtable (she announced that the McAlester library won their award); and Beverly Joyce for the Intellectual Freedom Committee (they have materials available at no cost for those who wish to use them).

In reporting for the Trustees Division Lee Brawner told of their group’s offer to match funds raised by O.L.A. in support of State Question 507. Bill Lowry told the group that at that time $1,000 had been raised; the Past Presidents donated $250.

The Interlibrary Loan Committee report was made by Daryl Morrison. She moved the acceptance of the Interlibrary Loan Code drafted by their group. Sheila Alexander seconded the motion. The motion was passed.

President Wikerson announced that he thought O.L.A. membership had reached 817.

The 1977 conference site will be Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. The 1978 site will be Tulsa, but no further designation has been made.

Dr. Roscoe Rouse reported for the Union List of Serials Committee. He told of plans for updating the Union List; he stated that the update should be completed in December. Data should be sent to the committee in machine readable form. He reported that they would be requesting $300 from O.L.A. to help pay expenses for the project. Over 100 copies of the list have been sold. They would like a council (made up of 1 member from each participating institution) approved by the O.L.A. executive board to meet regularly with Mr. Nelson on the project.

Bill Lowry reported for the Resolutions Committee. The following resolutions were presented:

I. Be it resolved that we, the Oklahoma Library Association, hereby re-affirm our support of the American Library Association Bill of Rights and encourage all Oklahoma librarians to do likewise.

That we believe “libraries should provide books and other materials presenting all points of view concerning the problems and issues of our times; no library materials should be proscribed or removed from libraries because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.”

That we believe “the right of an individual to the use of a library should not be denied or abridged because of his age, race, religion, national origin or social or political views.”

Bill Lowry moved its adoption. Edith LaForge seconded the motion. It was passed by the group.

II. RESOLUTIONS RELATING TO THE OKLAHOMA DEPARTMENT OF LIBRARIES

Whereas the Oklahoma Department of Libraries has a distinctive role of leadership among libraries and librarians in the State of Oklahoma.

It has a special relationship with the administrative leadership and the legislature of the state which formulate statutes governing and financing library programs in the State of Oklahoma;

It administers federal programs and distributed federal money to public libraries;

It is an important center for research; continuing education and library networking;

It has a major responsibility for the continued development and improvement of all libraries, especially public library service, and

Whereas the effective governing and administration of the Oklahoma Department of Libraries is necessary for the carrying out of its responsibilities, and

Whereas the Oklahoma Department of Libraries is now beset by personal and management difficulties seriously affecting its leadership role.

Therefore be it resolved that the Oklahoma Library Association Meeting in its Annual Conference, March 27 in the Lincoln Plaza Inn, Oklahoma City, voice its great concern over the disintegration, the disorganization in which the Oklahoma Department of Libraries now finds itself.

Therefore be it further resolved that the Oklahoma Library Association make the following recommendations:

1. That the Oklahoma Department of Libraries seriously consider the “Program Management Review” of the Department conducted by S. Janice Kee and Elizabeth Hughey, Library Services Program officers of U.S. Office of Education, dated October 6-9, 1975 (available to anyone under the “Freedom of Information Act”) which effectively address itself to the current problems faced by the Department.

2. That special attention be paid to the conclusions of the report which among other things notes: a. The lack of a firmly established organization. b. The diffusion of the Director’s leadership. c. Low staff morale. d. Lack of coordinated planning and systematic evaluation of programs and projects. e. The neglect of the dissemination function resulting in poor public relations with librarians in the state.

3. That the 22 recommendations offered in the “Program Management Review” be seriously considered for implementation. Among these recommendations are: a. That the organization be revised. b. That a deputy director be appointed. c. That internal communications be improved including the holding of regular staff meetings. d. That clearly defined policies, guidelines and priorities be established for effective program operation. e. That a more systematic method of prorating funds be defined.

4. That the “Program Management Review” be released by the Director to: a. The Board of the Oklahoma Department of Libraries. b. The LSCA Advisory Council. c. The staff of the Department.

Therefore be it resolved that the Oklahoma Library Association meeting in its Annual Conference March
27. in the Lincoln Plaza Inn, Oklahoma City, urges the Oklahoma Department of Libraries to give prompt consideration to the implementation of recommendations in the "Program Management Review", and that at a day of this resolution be sent to the Governor of Oklahoma, the members of the Board of the Oklahoma
Department of Libraries and the members of the LSCA Advisory Council.
Bill Lowry moved adoption of the resolution. Lee Brawner seconded the motion. The motion was approved.

III RESOLUTION FOR LIBRARY UNITY

Whereas it is recognized that the effectiveness of library progress has been adversely affected by disagreements among personalities, types of libraries,
rural and urban interests, large and small libraries,
public and private funding, local, state and federal funding and administration.

Therefore be it resolved that the Oklahoma Library Association meeting at its Annual Conference March 27 in the Lincoln Plaza Inn, Oklahoma City, urges librarians to work together in a united front, to listen to each other, to give and take, believing that with such action all our other problems can be solved and Oklahomans can be well served through libraries. Without a unified front and a professional attitude there is little hope and we will lose a golden opportunity to strengthen our libraries.

Bill Lowry moved adoption of the resolution. Edith La-Forge seconded the motion. The motion was approved.

IV Whereas the recent discharge of two Oklahoma Department of Libraries employees is to be appealed by them in a legally prescribed manner, and whereas the date for the hearing on the matter has been set in the immediate future, and whereas all parties involved in this difference are members of the Oklahoma Library Association, be it resolved that any official comment on the service, qualifications, or conduct of any person involved in said matter by the Oklahoma Library Association will be prejudicial to said hearing and therefore inappropriate and unprofessional.

Bill Lowry moved adoption of the motion. Roberta Hamburger seconded the motion.

Ame Gorena moved that the motion be tabled until the next resolution was presented. Sheila Hoke seconded the motion. The motion was approved.

V. Whereas, Esther Mae Henke, for the past 23 years a member of the staff at the Oklahoma Department of Libraries and its predecessors, has given instintutely and loyalty of her professional talents in the development of public libraries in Oklahoma, and has devoted herself to this cause with enthusiasm and zeal far and above the requirements of her position, and has port-yrayed librarianship at its best as reflected in her selection as the recipient, in 1971, of the Oklahoma Library Association's coveted Distinguished Service Award "in recognition of inspired leadership, devoted service, and unusual contribution to the library profession;" and

Whereas, Virginia Owens, for the past 19 years a member of the staff of the Oklahoma Department of Libraries and its predecessors, has been an active supporter of the library program in Oklahoma; and a dedicated behind the scenes worker in planning, Implementing, and funding the development of public libraries, with an acute sense of fiscal responsibility;
and a leader in the library profession in Oklahoma culminating, but not ending, with her election to the office of President of this Association in 1968-1969.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the members of the Oklahoma Library Association, assembled at the Lincoln Plaza on March 27, 1976, for its 69th annual conference, express their appreciation to Esther Mae Henke and Virginia Owens for their loyalty, integrity, ability, professional ethics, and dedication to this Association, to the profession of librarianship, and to the advancement of library service throughout Oklahoma; and by this resolution hereby affirm their confidence in these two leaders of Oklahoma librarianship.

Bill Lowry moved adoption of the resolution. Jean Thompson seconded the motion.

Anne Gorena moved and Lee Grant seconded that this resolution and the previous resolution also be tabled indefinitely. The motion passed with 56 in favor and 37 opposed.

VI. Members of the Oklahoma Library Association, assembled in Oklahoma City for their 69th annual conference, March 25-27, 1976, send greetings and good wishes to Allie Beth Martin, whose presence is being greatly missed.

The ability for which Allie Beth has received acclamation at every level of librarianship was recognized early in her library career in her native state of Arkansas, and her adopted state of Oklahoma. In every facet of her career—library director, teacher, lecturer, author, and officer of library organizations at the local, state, regional, and national level—she has been a leader in the finest sense of the word, and an inspiration to all of us who have been privileged to be associated with her throughout her many years of service in Oklahoma.

The phrase, "Ask Allie Beth," has been the shorter route to the best solution of many a library problem.
OLA has recognized her competence, her leadership,
her integrity, and her devotion to librarianship by electing her to its highest offices, and the bestowed of its Distinguished Service Award.

This resolution is hereby adopted to convey our admiration and our affection for a close associate, and beloved friend of libraries and librarians in her adopted state of Oklahoma.

Bill Lowry moved adoption of the resolution. Jan Blakely seconded the motion. It was adopted unanimously.

Information was presented concerning the Printing Arts Roundtable, a newly established group. Officers selected were Ken Tracy, chairman, Dr. Harry Clark, vice chairman, and Roberta Hamburger, secretary.
Alfreda Hanna thanked the new group for printing the conference program.

President Wilkerson, relinquished the gavel and the alarm clock, symbols of presidential authority, to the incoming president, Alfreda Hanna.

Frances Kennedy moved that the group give a standing vote of appreciation to outgoing President James Wilkerson; the group concurred.

John Hinkle gave a brief summation of the conference. He reminded the group of one song presented on Thursday night as entertainment and used its lyrics to challenge the group to pledge itself to better service in the future.

The 69th annual conference was adjourned by President Alfreda Hanna.

ARCHIVES COMMITTEE
Betty Brown, Chairperson; George Alsbach,

MEMBERS: Betty Brown, Chairperson; George Alsbach, Kathy Kane, Marietta Malzer, James Stevenson, Frances Kennedy and James Wilkerson, Ex-officio.

REPORT:
The OLA Archives Committee met at 10:00 a.m., March 4, 1976, at the Oklahoma Department of Libraries. Members present were Betty Brown, Marietta Malzer, and George Alsbach.

Major discussion centered around a display for the OLA Annual Conference, March 25-27. It was decided to have a display on "The First 10 Years of OLA," using original material from the OLA Archives. A locked display case, 4' x 6', will be borrowed from the Oklahoma Historical Society. Transportation for the case will be arranged by the Committee. Lining for the case will be purchased by the Department of Libraries and will be retained for use in the ODL Archives and Records Division.

The display will be in the vendor area, rather than in the lobby with other OLA exhibits. The archival material in the case will be secure, since the vendor area will have security control. The decorating cost will be $19.00.

On March 5, letters concerning the transfer of files of office to the OLA Archives were mailed. The letters went to members of the OLA Executive Board, to chairmen of the Divisions and Round Tables, and to chairmen of OLA Committees. OLA stationery was used; postage from the Department of Libraries was $5.20.

RECOMMENDATIONS:
1. That OLA plan for the OLA Archives and the Archives Committee in budgeting.

(a) That a grant be made to update the index to the OLA Archives. Only a simple listing of the material as it comes in has been possible, because the Department of Libraries does not have the staff to handle such additional work. Marietta Malzer says she would be glad to help a designated person in any way she could.

(b) That funds be available to provide committee activities, such as displays, as suggested in the OLA Handbook. Equipment and transportation must be available. Decorating for exhibits and security measures also add costs.

2. That the appropriate persons be made aware again of their responsibility to transfer their files of office to their successors. Their successors in turn are to transfer these materials to the OLA Archives before the end of May, 1976. There are costs for mailing letters.

AUDITING COMMITTEE
REPORT:
The Auditing Committee examined the OLA Treasurer’s records on August 27, 1975 and filed its report that they were in order.

Mary Ann Wentroth,
Chairperson

AUTOMATION ROUNDTABLE
MEMBERS: John Chaffin, Chairperson; Betty Brown, Chairman Elect and Barbara Proctor, Secretary.

REPORT:
Hold an open meeting on Friday, Jan. 30th which gave 72 people the opportunity to explore OCLC with Jim Kennedy from AMIGOS and resource persons Betty Brown from ODL and James Montgomery from OSU. Also, the ODL terminals were available for use.

At a business meeting the same day, three committees were formed. One, headed by Lee Lilly (ORJC) will produce an Automation Directory of Oklahoma to be published in the Oklahoma Librarian. The second, chaired by Betty Brown, is charged with determining the feasibility of a feasibility study on library networking in Oklahoma. The third, chaired by John Chaffin, is an Oklahoma Union List of Serials Committee exploring the problems confronting OULS.

CHILDREN’S AND YOUNG PEOPLE’S DIVISION
MEMBERS: Aarone Corwin, Chairperson; Mary Powell, and Mary Ann Huggins.

REPORT:
The Children and Young People’s Division Executive Board met five times during the year.

It was decided not to have a workshop this year because of the abundance of other workshops being held which would involve many of our same members. To meet the need of this division for more communication between members, the board established “The Collaborator.” The “Collaborator” was issued twice this year and was mailed along with the “President’s Newsletter” to all members of OLA.

Jeanette McQuitty was appointed nominations committee chairperson and prepared an excellent slate of officers. New officers for 1976-77 are: Mary Powell — Chairperson; Sharon Saulmon — Vice-Chairperson — Chairperson-elect; and Margaret Whinnen — Secretary.
RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:
It is recommended that a survey be taken of the members to determine what topics would be of interest to them for a workshop.
Also would recommend that the publication of 'The Collaborator' be continued. Responses to the issues were quite favorable.

COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY DIVISION
Sheryl Ansquaugh, Chairperson.

REPORT:
December 5th proved to be an information packed day for 107 academic librarians, educators and administrators. Attending the day long workshop on library use instruction, participants heard Hannelore Rader, Eastern Michigan University, speak to the philosophy and administration of library use instruction and Jay Poole, University of Texas, discuss the problems and successes of developing and implementing a library use program. Both speakers discussed how to obtain and maintain faculty support. In and among the lively question and answer time, librarians worked with Sue Fontaine on the public relations of library use instruction, with Sheryl Ansquaugh on how noise occurs in communications and had an opportunity to view videotape on what educators say about library use instruction. The day was busy but fun, the lunch was good and Marion MacInnis, O.C.U. was a most gracious hostess.

"Find it fast with fiche and film or perish under a pile of paper" was the OLA/College and University Division Conference Program. Dr. Francis F. Spreitzer, University of Southern California, presented ideas for solving the perpetual problems of space, availability and safety of materials. Don Thomas, Bell and Howell, presented a program on developments in microform equipment.

CONTINUING EDUCATION COMMITTEE
Marilyn Shackelford, Chairperson.

REPORT:
The Continuing Education Committee actually began its year's activities at the 1975 Annual Conference by staffing a booth and passing out information on Continuing Education networks. As a result of this booth, Oklahoma has more members receiving the CELS Update than any other state. The committee followed this by a short learning experience at the OLA Leadership Conference in May, 1975. Our major effort for the year was the Training the Trainer Workshop held at Fountainhead State Lodge, Nov. 12-14, 1975. 35 Oklahoma librarians attended this workshop funded by the Dorothea Dale Fund of the Okla. Dept. of Libraries. Much enthusiasm was generated by the dynamic guest speakers Peggy O'Donnell and Dr. Martha Jane Zachert.

GOVERNOR'S MANSION
LIBRARY COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Virginia Collier, Chairperson; Barbara Kersey, Jo Howard, Stanley Benson, Valena Tunnell, Doshie Loyd, Mae Jennings and James Wilkerson, OLA President.

REPORT:
This Committee has been very active this year. For several years this Committee has tried to do an inventory of the collection and was unable to get permission to do it. Not only was Governor Boren pleased for us to do this but requested that the books be arranged on the shelf according to Dewey classification. The Governor and his wife were in Russia during part of August, and during this time I worked at the mansion the most part of five days — one full day with the assistance of Doshie Loyd and one day with Mae Jennings.

The inventory showed 38 titles from the OLA collection and 9 from Oklahoma Department of Libraries books as missing.

This inventory showed that some of the reference books were very much out-of-date. So the following titles were replaced or added:

It was decided that it would be helpful to the Governor and other residents of the mansion to have an author-title catalog, so an attractive 2-drawer catalog was ordered — ODL does the cataloging of this collection and they agreed to reproduce the author and title card sets.

On March 16, Jim Wilkerson, President of OLA, along with me and 3 members of the Committee, Mrs. Tunnell, Mrs. Loyd, and Mrs. Kersey presented the books and the card file to the Governor at his regular weekly photo taking session. The next day, I went with the new committee Chairmain, Harriet Barbour, to the mansion to place these materials in the library and to withdraw the out-of-date titles; and to explain the collection to Mrs. Barbour.

INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Beverly Joyce, Chairperson; Kay Buchman, Cathy Miller, Sandra Ellison, Lee Graham, Walter Hartmetz, Mary Beth Ozmun-Watkins, Beth Struble, Carol Tanzer, Maryellen Trautman, and Gerry Willingham.

REPORT:
This year the Intellectual Freedom Committee has devoted its efforts to the support and furtherance of the Limits to Freedom project. This project has begun last year, when the IFC was asked to take charge of its Banned Books exhibit, but this year the committee's part in the project was expanded to directing the follow-up phase of the project. We felt this to be a most worthwhile and positive effort toward intellectual freedom, since its purpose was to focus community attention and discussion on the values and practices concerning access to information on a local level.

After the initial programming of the systems libraries was under way, we contacted smaller independent public libraries across the state, offering them the free use of the materials developed for the first phase, plus help in planning programs, obtaining funding, and producing publicity. On October 16 we conducted a one day workshop at ODL for invited participants. The eighteen libraries who attended have since scheduled spring programming using the Limits to Freedom materials.

In December we began planning an additional expansion of available materials. We sponsored another proposal for funding from the Oklahoma Humanities Committee, these funds to be used for adding slides to the radio tapes previously used. Because of their local emphasis, we felt that these tapes are particularly valuable to communities for comparison purposes. The new format will provide the opportunity to schedule programs in the libraries.

Publicity concerning these newly developed materials is being conducted several different ways. The Eastern Oklahoma Library System, the Tulsa City-County Libraries, and the Western Public Library system agreed to schedule programs using these slides/tapes, and it is hoped that word-of-mouth publicity will emanate from them. In addition, letters are being mailed to approximately sixty public libraries throughout the state inviting them to see our display at OLA. We plan to display and if possible, demonstrate the new slides/tapes in the lobby area.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:
Other possible avenues for the dissemination of the Limits to Freedom materials and the encouragement of intellectual freedom discussions have been considered but will not be acted on within the duration of this year's committee. We offer as a suggestion to next year's committee that contact be made with library science departments in the state universities and with local service clubs such as Kiwanis, Rotary, etc. Since the stipulations of the original grant have been met by the participating library systems, the use of the materials has virtually no limitations.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Mary Hardin, Chairperson; Sheila Alexander, Sheryl Ansphaug, Billee Day, Roger Guard, Alfreda Hanna, Jean Harrington, Therma Jones, Heather Lloyd, Clyde Martin, Daryl Morrison, John Paynter, Raymond Piller, Dee Ann Ray, Roscoe Rouse, Irma Temberlin and Ruth Wender.

REPORT:
An interlibrary loan code drafting committee was appointed by the chairperson to work on drafting a code for Oklahoma. The drafting committee consisted of Mary Hardin, Daryl Morrison (co-chairperson of drafting committee), Sheila Alexancler, Sheryl Ansphaug, Billee Day, Jean Harrington, Heather Lloyd, and John Paynter. The drafting committee takes its ideas and using the Model Interlibrary Loan Code as a guideline drafted a code. After input from the entire committee a final draft was presented to the Executive Board on January 16, 1976 for its endorsement.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:
The Interlibrary Loan Committee asked for the OLA Executive Board's endorsement of the Final Draft of the Code and recommended to the Executive Board that the Code be presented to the entire OLA membership at its annual meeting in March 1976. The ILL Committee has been given time during one of the business sessions to present the Code. The Committee also recommended to the Executive Board that the committee's ad hoc status be changed to a standing committee. The name decided on was Interlibrary Cooperation Committee. After OLA the Committee recommends a statewide mailing to libraries and major groups seeking their individual endorsements.

LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

REPORT:
The Library Development Committee has met monthly throughout the past year. During this time the Committee:
1) Organized a state and national legislative network
2) Sponsored a luncheon and orientation for members of the network
3) Met with the Governor
4) Presented to the OLA Executive Board, a proposal for distribution of state aid funds for system and non-system libraries throughout the state
5) Contacted members of Congress and the Legislature periodically concerning library legislation
6) Planned Library Legislature Day for April 7th

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:
Recommend that the Committee plan to meet at least once a year with the Governor and that they continue to contact members of the Legislature on a regular basis.
Also recommend that the first part of next year be devoted to the State Question 507 Campaign.

LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT NETWORK COORDINATOR

REPORT: The OLA Library Development Network, which functions under the direction of the Library Development Committee, is composed of Librarians, trusand working on the study above. At the workshop the next fall, their work should be ready for presentation. Suggestion: The media personnel involved in teaching and the library personnel involved in teaching continue to meet together and that the work begun above continue until it is completed.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Mary Beth Watkins, Chairperson; Jan Blakely; J. Randolph Call; Robert Griffith; Mary Ann Huggins; LaVerne Jones; Judith McPherson; Laura Rucker; Mary Esther Saxton and Elizabeth Webb.

REPORT: As of March 20, 1976, there are 760 personal memberships in OLA and 24 institutional memberships, for a total of 784. This is an increase of 3 personal and 9 institutional over OLA conference time last year, which was 11 days earlier than 1976. At end of OLA, 802 members.

The committee made a concerted effort to encourage an increase in memberships of institutions and school librarians. OLA membership information was available at the Sequoyah booth at OEA. Visits were made to the Library Resources Division’s regional workshop for school library media specialists that were held in various locations throughout the state, and a special letter was sent to institutions soliciting their membership. The membership brochure and form was mailed to all OLA members, public libraries, public library trustees, school librarians and institutions. OLA and SWLA cooperated this year by mailing the membership information out together. This was more significant due to the fact that SWLA dues are now paid direct to SWLA and OLA no longer retains a dollar per membership.

The membership committee continued some investigation into some promotional spots for television. This information was turned over to the National Library Week Committee for their use.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

New membership forms need to be printed with Printing Arts Roundtable added, and the Southwestern Library Association deleted.

The 1976-1977 membership committee should consider studying the OLA dues structure for some proposed changes, perhaps differentiating dues of trustees, retired librarians and lay members, and increasing dues of fulltime students.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

MEMBERS: Aarone Corwin and Gary England, Chairpersons; Karen Weddle, Sharon Saulmon, Danielle Hall, Pat Curtis, Jim Beavers, Betty Fry, Lenora Beard, O. J. Grosclaude, Sue Fontaine, and Anita Johnston.

REPORT: The NLW Committee has had an extremely active year. Meetings were held on a monthly basis.

Beginning in October with a state-wide workshop, Oklahoma librarians were informed of the 2 goals of the committee: a) to promote centralized school libraries and certified librarians in our schools; b) to cooperate with the LDC to inform the public of the upcoming Nov. election. The workshop was attended by 70 librarians and featured speakers: Peggy Barber,

LIBRARY EDUCATION

MEMBERS: Sheila Wilder Hoke, Chairperson; Dr. John Sayre, Vice-Chairman; and Mr. Ray Lai, Sec.

REPORT: A Workshop was held September 26, 1975, at Central State University, Edmond. Part I of the workshop concerned methods and teaching of various disciplines. Dr. Rouse was the general moderator while Dr. John Suther, East Central State University, spoke on teaching Reference courses; Mr. John Chaffin, Northeastern State University, spoke on teaching cataloging; Mr. Ray Lai, Northwestern State University, spoke on Book Selection; and Mrs. Ruby Ewing, Central State University, spoke on School Library Administration. Course content, use of texts, grading, teaching methods, and student motivation were among the topics explored for each of these library science courses.

While the panel on library science courses was underway, a separate panel discussion was taking place for the instructional media specialists led by Dr. John Ludrick centering on audio-visual courses.

Part II of the workshop was led by Mrs. Frances Alsworth, Central State University, concerning the topic, “Should Separate Library Science and Audio-Visual Departments be Abolished?” This topic proved to be most interesting and the consensus was that a follow-up study should be made on this study.

As a result, a Curriculum Revision Committee was formed to study joint certification of librarians and audio-visual specialists. Serving on this committee are: Polly Clarke, chairman, Northeastern State University; Elizabeth McCorkle, Oklahoma State University; and Josephine Raburn, Cameron University, all representing librarians. Those representing audio-visual specialists are: Dr. John Ludrick, Chairman, Howard Farris, Dr. Kenneth King, and Tillman Ragan.

Approximately 50 library educators, administrators, and instructional media specialists attended the workshop. Mrs. Sheila Wilder Hoke, Southwestern State University library director and chairman of LED, presided over the workshop.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

The Curriculum Revision Committee is meeting
AL麝 Public Information Officer, Lee Brawner, Immediate past AL麝 National Library Week Executive Director, and Gary England, Oklahoma's National Library Week Chairperson.

Packets were prepared by the committee for distribution to all OLA members. It was hoped that this approach would involve more people in NLW planning for their area.

Governor David Boren agreed to proclaim April 4-10 as National Library Week. He also proclaimed April 6 as School Library Day.

A special “get-out-to-meet-the-public” campaign was also undertaken by the committee. Penn Square Merchants Association agreed to salute NLW with a big promotion on Saturday, April 10, 1976 from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. A special contest for librarians only will show librarians with their favorite place to read.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

Special thanks to our state chairman, Gary England for undertaking the full responsibility of preparing and distributing our radio and television spots. His efforts allowed the committee to spend more time on their immediate goals.

1976-77. Would recommend that the goals for this year be continued for much more needs to be done to see the results.

Would also suggest that workshops be held on a regional level throughout the state to involve more people. Also there should be regional chairpersons directly responsible to the state committee.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Leonard Eddy, Chairperson; Della Bennett, Sheila Wilder Hoke, Edith LaForge, Marion Patmon and Irma Tomberlin.

REPORT: The Nominating Committee met four times to fulfill constitutional requirements regarding election of Oklahoma Library Association Officers. The following were nominated:

First Vice President-President Elect; Sheila Alexander, Ame Gorena.

Second Vice President, Eugene Culp; Dr. Rollin Thayer.

Secretary, Sheryl Anspaugh; Jan Blakely.

ALA Councilor, Dr. Roscoe Rouse, Dr. James Zink.

Sheila Alexander, Dr. Rollin Thayer, Sheryl Anspaugh, and Dr. Roscoe Rouse were elected.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

The committee requests authorization to discard the ballots and tally materials.

OKLAHOMA ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOL LIBRARIANS

MEMBERS: Edith LaForge, Chairperson; Ms. Barbara Campbell, chairperson-elect; Scottie Seger, treasurer, Linda Cowen, secretary; and Ruth Anne Brown, past chairperson.

REPORT: After much planning, the joint conference of the OAES and the Oklahoma Association of School Librarians occurred on October 23, 1975 at the Oklahoma City Hilton Inn West. The program was “Administrative Commitment to Media Programs.” Speakers included Mr. Leroy Iretin, Mr. Bill Goodwin, Dr. Robert Meeney, State Representative Daniel Draper, Jr., and the keynote speaker, Mr. McKinley Nash, Principal, Evanston (linois) Township High School. At the OASL business meeting, the new ALA/AASL affiliation plan was discussed; actions was tabled until the 1976 OEA meeting. As Bicentennial project, a list of past OASL chairpersons was presented to members. Appointments were made to the auditing, constitution revision, intellectual freedom, legislative, nominating, standards implementation, and unification study group committees. Reports were presented. Members of OASL voted to continue joint meetings with OAES, but members of OAES voted against joint meetings. Separate meetings will be held in the fall of 1976.

The joint OAES/OASL resolution on the State Department of Education Library and Learning Resources Division reorganization was submitted to officials. With the resignation of Mr. Crossley and the subsequent decision of the state department to leave this position vacant for the time being, no action has been taken on the resolution.

The OASL Legislative Committee has supported a resolution passed at the OEA Delegate Assembly requiring certified librarians in grades K-8 funded by state appropriation. However, this item did not become part of the OEA legislative packet. Our committee is continuing its work; many members are also part of the OLA Legislative network.

Retiring library media specialists will be honored by articles appearing in their local newspapers; district chairpersons are to send names to Sheila Alexander, State Department of Education.

During the March 1976 OLA Convention, OASL will meet with the Children and Young People's Division for a program to be given by author Alvin Schwartz. During the OASL business meeting, the revised constitution will be presented for approval, and a delegate to the OEA Delegate Assembly will be chosen.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

The executive board of the Oklahoma Association of School Librarians strongly supports the recommendations of President James Wilkerson which appeared in the January 1976 issue of the Oklahoma Librarian.

Respectfully submitted,
Edith LaForge, Chairperson of the Oklahoma Association of School Librarians.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Alfreda Hanna, Chairperson; Aarone Corwin, Sheryl Anspaugh, Sheila Wilder Hoke, Edith LaForge, Della Bennett, Kenneth Tracy, Ada Ingram, Bob Matthews, John Chaffin, Carol Tanzer, Ray Lau, Ruth Herrington, Josh Strom, Pat Westmoreland, Frances Kennedy (ex officio), and Jim Wilkerson (ex officio).

REPORT:

The Program Committee met five times to plan the 69th Annual Conference. Besides the cooperative planning done at these meetings, the committee members worked intensively to bring in guest speakers who could speak effectively to the needs of Oklahoma librarians and trustees. Divisions Roundtables chose to meet separately rather than jointly. Therefore, the Committee decided to find sponsors for free refreshments to be served in the exhibit area to attract conference to the exhibits in spite of the highly concentrated program that results when joint meetings are not used.

In keeping with the gala mood of the bicentennial year and the theme "The Spirit of '76: a view of the past, a vision of the future," entertainment has been featured for each of the main meals. Decorations and individual programs are to add to the feeling of festivity. Sponsors were found to host free breakfasts.

The Committee voted to send pre-registration packets to all librarians and trustees throughout the state, regardless of the current status of their OLA membership, in an attempt to increase attendance and to attract new OLA members. Friday, March 26, has been designated "Trustee Day." It is hoped that the added expense of sending out 2450 printed programs containing detailed conference information will be justified by a marked increase in Conference registration.

The Local Arrangements Committee has worked hard with the Conference to assure that the details of the Conference will add to the pleasure of attending. All food events are by pre-registration only.

Conference guest speakers include: Clara Jones, ALA President-Elect; Allie Beth Martin, ALA President; Peggy O'Donnell, SWLA CEL coordinator; Frances Cheney, noted authority on reference service; Barbara Evans Markuson, director of automation networks; Francis Spritzer, researcher in micrographics service; James Healey, Director of OU Sch. of L.Sc.; Alvin Schwartz, author of books promoting children's humor and American folklore; public ad man, Howard Neumann. An author's panel moderated by Betty Boyd will feature Oklahoma writers Angie Debo, Jack Bickham, Winston Weathers, Suzi Hinton, Kent Ruth.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

Reiterating recommendations of past years, I suggest that the work of the division chairperson be shared with the chairperson-elect, so that one would be responsible for planning the activities of the annual conference while the other would be in charge of planning the annual project, i.e., workshops. Such a division of labor would be helpful both to the divisional chair and to the OLA president-elect, who is frequently included in the planning of divisional workshops under the present situation.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES DIVISION

MEMBERS: Della Bennett, Chairperson; Mae Jennings, EODL, Muskogee, Vice-Chairperson; and Donna Morns, Capitol Hill Branch, Oklahoma City, Secretary.

REPORT:

A series of ten nursing home workshops was sponsored jointly by the Public Libraries Division of Oklahoma Library Association, Oklahoma Department of Libraries, State Nursing Home Association, individual library systems, and the independent libraries. These workshops were conducted by ODL Outreach Consultant, John Hinkle, in the towns of Muskogee, Tahlequah, Clinton, Altus, Woodward, Norman, Shawnee, Ada, Tishomingo, and Lawton. Goals, procedures, and policies for extending library service to shut-ins were set. The turn out was at least 50% and every public library in the ten areas where the workshops were held was contacted.

The Public Libraries Division and the Library Education Division will have a joint meeting at the 1976 OLA Conference on Thursday, March 25, to hear Dr. James S. Healey, Director of the Oklahoma University School of Library Science speak on the implications of Lester Ashme's expertise on the education of librarians.

On Friday morning of the Conference the Public Libraries Division will sponsor a program especially designed for small public librarians who have from one to five people on their staff. Selected librarians from over the state will discuss common problems in the areas of: Community relations; Library Board relations; Local history; Publicity; Career education; Volunteers; Arts and crafts shows; Use of films; and Discussion groups. A free continental breakfast, courtesy of Grosset and Dunlap, Western Publishing Co., Fred Kister, and Doubleday Book Co., will precede the program.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

The recommendation made by the 1975 Public Libraries Division Chairman should be seriously considered for the year of 1977. The recommendation was that the secretary and chairperson-elect also be made official members of the OLA Planning Committee. This action would give the division chairman additional assistance and support in planning and carrying out programs during the conference year.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

REPORT:

The Publicity Committee submitted Spring, 1976, OLA Conference dates to professional periodicals (LIBRARY JOURNAL, AMERICAN LIBRARIES, and WILSON LIBRARY BULLETIN) for publication in the Calendar of events.

Arranged for publicity about National Library Week Workshop in the Superintendent's Newsletter for the Tulsa school area.

Submitted advertisement, published in the October, 1975, number of the OKLAHOMA LIBRARIAN, concerning the OLA Conference dates and theme.

Prepared a review of the OLA Conference Program for the January, 1976, number of the OKLAHOMA LIBRARIAN.

Arranged for Moderator and panel members of "Oklahoma Pens and Oklahoma Heritage," Friday night program at OLA Conference.

RECRUITMENT COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Laura Rucker, Chairperson; Nancy Amis, Laverna Carroll, Ruby Ewing, J. Roger Guard, Claudette Hagle, Bonnie McKee, Mable Mickley, and Minnie Snow.

Oklahoma Librarian, July 1976, Vol. 26, No. 3
REPORT:

At the organizational meeting of the Recruitment Committee of the Oklahoma Library Association, held September 23, 1975, the decision was made to continue emphasis on the recruitment of minorities, especially the American Indian.

The one-page flyer, prepared in 1975, was printed in sufficient number to send to any known interested individuals or group. One hundred posters were printed using the original drawing by Dan Timmons (Cherokee) and mailed to institutions for display. Each was accompanied by a reply card.

A mailing list of schools, counselors and of individuals who have expressed an interest in this recruitment effort has been established and updated. This was used for the mailing of the large posters during the month of January, 1976.

The committee was responsible for a booth at the National Indian Education Association held at the Myriad, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma on November 5-7, 1975. Since this meeting is for Indians by Indians, selected Indian students from the University of Oklahoma campus were given orientation and manned the booth, distributing over 1,000 cards and brochures.

"A Day on Campus" is planned to coincide with American Indian Heritage Week, April 12-17, 1976. A spot on the program has been allocated to the Recruitment Committee.

As a result of the Recruitment Committee’s prior work with Professor Joseph "Bud" Sahmaunt, the Oklahoma City University Library and Education Department have collaborated in the writing of a grant proposal to provide paraprofessional training for one person from each of ten tribal libraries and Native American centers in Oklahoma. If funded, the eight week seminar will be headquartered at OCU under the direction of Professor Sahmaunt. Two librarians and an AV specialist will be the instructors. The purpose of the seminar is to teach the trainees basic skills which will enable them to make use of their collections.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

It has been a pleasure to serve with this excellent committee. The members have learned that this is going to be a slow, educational process; but it is felt that it must be pursued without interruption.

REFERENCE DIVISION

MEMBERS: Ken Tracy, Chairperson; Allan Goode, Vice Chairman; Kay Vincent, Secretary.

REPORT:

The OLA Reference Division’s chief project for the past year has been a workshop on Accessing Census Publications. This workshop was held on February 6 at the Oklahoma Department of Libraries, and was conducted by Ms. Debbie Barrett of the User Training Branch of the Census Bureau, U.S. Department of Commerce. Over fifty Oklahoma librarians registered for the workshop and special permission for attendance was requested by others from fields outside of librarianship. A copy of the agenda for the workshop is attached.

The Division Chairman served on the OLA Conference Program Committee and agreed to serve as speaker for the Reference Division Program at the Conference. The officers of the Division are very interested in hearing from the membership as to their special needs for workshops and other types of programs. Please send all suggestions to the new Chairman, Allan Goode, at the Oklahoma Department of Libraries.

SEQUOYAH CHILDREN’S BOOK AWARD COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Ray Lau, Chairperson; Sheila Alexander, Ruth Ann Brown, Phyllis Bilt, Meredith Cockrell, Carolyn Croft, Judith Crouch, Donna Denniston, Mary Sherman, Mary Elizabeth Webb, and Mary Ann Wentroth.

REPORT:

The committee met in May, September, November and January to discuss methods of promoting reading of the Sequoyah Master List by youngsters enrolled in grades three through six in Oklahoma. The Advisory Council representing ten youth and educational organizations, met with the committee at a luncheon in September. The committee maintained a booth at the OEA Convention in Oklahoma City on October 23 and 24, 1975. On both days materials promoting the Sequoyah Master List, such as posters, bookmarks, brochures and annotated reading lists were sold to schools and libraries. The slide program of past winners was up-dated, and a slide program of the current master list (1975-76) was prepared and made available for institutions to duplicate. In January, ballots were sent to schools and libraries requesting them and to all schools that had participated the previous year. On February 6, 1976 ballots were counted. 18,407 students cast ballots, selecting Thomas Rockwell’s HOW TO EAT FRIED WORMS winner from the 25 books on the master list. A master list of 25 books was selected for 1976-77. Although Mr. Rockwell is unable to attend the Sequoyah luncheon in March, he will send a representative to receive the award and read the author’s acceptance speech.

Ray D. Lau,
Chairman 1975-76
Sequoyah Children’s Book Award
February 13, 1976

SITES COMMITTEE

MEMBERS: Thelma Jones, Chairperson; Pat Westmoreland, and Paul Little.

REPORT:

The Sites Committee confirmed the invitation from Roscoe Rouse and the Stillwater librarians to hold the Annual Conference of the Oklahoma Library Association at the Oklahoma State University Student Union April 21, 22 and 23, 1977. The recommendation was made to executive board in September 1975, and was approved.

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:

The Sites Committee recommends that we meet in Tulsa, Oklahoma in 1978.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITIES ROUNDTABLE

Carol Tanzer, Chairperson.

Oklahoma Librarian, July 1976, Vol. 26, No. 3
REPORT:
During the past year, the Social Responsibilities Roundtable: 1) compiled a materials list for libraries serving Vietnamese refugees and planned to distribute it at the annual conference; 2) agreed to serve on the state steering committee for the humanities project Oklahoma Images: Multi-Cultural influence; 3) planned a program with Clara Jones and a booth showing outreach services throughout the state for the annual conference; 4) continued to build the Resource File of programs reaching a previously underserved segment of the community; 5) refined its criteria for the Citation of Merit and took preliminary steps for the second awarding of the Citation; 6) supported the hiring of a professional librarian at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary.

TECHNICAL SERVICE DIVISION
MEMBERS: Ada Ingram, Chairperson; and Jeanine Brown, secretary. (No vice-chairman, since Chairman, Don Larner resigned the chairmanship after moving from the state to another job, and the vice-chairman assumed the chairmanship.)

REPORT:
Chairman has served on Program Planning Committee for the State OLA Conference and has attended all but one of the meetings.
Nominating Committee has met and secured nominees for the vacancies in this Division. Ballots have been mailed to members.

UNION LIST OF SERIALS COMMITTEE
MEMBERS: Roscoe Rouse, Chairperson; Elsie Bell, Ralph Funk; Allie Beth Martin, Audrey Ahlquist, and James K. Zink.

REPORT:
Work of the committee over the past year has been concentrated on plans for the first update of the list. The original schedule which was planned and distributed to participants was scrapped after several libraries indicated their inability to meet the schedule. It was hoped at that time that we could have the list ready in time for the 1976 OLA Conference. Because of the updating problems encountered by some of the participants, a new schedule was issued and to date it is expected to be followed. That schedule is as follows:

PHASE I (June 1, 1976) — Date by which participating libraries should submit to the OSU Library all corrections and additional holdings data for titles in the existing list.

PHASE II (September 1, 1976) — Date by which participating libraries should submit to the OSU Library data regarding new titles and holdings (i.e., information not included in the first edition of the List).

PHASE III (December 1, 1976) — Date by which updating process should be completed and print-out and microfiche copies of the List will be available for sale.

Funding for the project to date has been absorbed by the OSU Library but a request has been submitted to OLA for a grant of $300 in FY 77. The total cost of updating the list is expected to be about $1,500. This sum does not include print-out and microfiche expenses which are self-liquidating through the sale of copies of the list.

Mrs. Alice Pattee, OSU Head Cataloger Emeritus, has been persuaded to come out of retirement for a period of three to four months to serve as Editor of the revised list. She will be appointed in a special capacity on the OSU Library staff during Phase II of Project Update.
To date there have been sold 23 full print-out copies of the list, 75 fiche copies, and 13 "our holdings only" lists. I am attaching here with a listing of libraries which have purchased copies of the list in one format or another. The original price of the list is still in force: full print-out, $67; microfiche, $5.
Attached to this report is also a listing of microfiche readers suitable for use with the OKULS microfiche set. Named also are marketing representatives and their addresses in this region as well as prices.

Two meetings concerned with OKULS are scheduled for the 1976 OLA Conference. A general informational meeting for all participants in the Union List, and all others who are interested, is scheduled for Friday, March 26, 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Mr. Norman Nelson of the OSU Library staff will conduct the session which will in part be indoctrinational in nature regarding the updating of the list. The OKULS Committee itself is scheduled to meet on Saturday, March 27, from 11:00 to 12:00 a.m. On the docket for that meeting are the following items:
1. Schedule for Updating
2. Funding
3. Serials Cataloger Consultant
4. Serial Title Updating
5. Future Updating
6. Report of the Chairman

Attached to this report is a list of libraries participating in the project and the name of the contact person in each library. Two libraries asked to be dropped from the list (their holdings will be deleted from the updated list) and two libraries have joined since the original list was issued.

Attaches: 1. OKULS Sales List
2. Microfiche Readers

RESOLUTIONS OR RECOMMENDATIONS:
Recommendations that OLA make a grant in FY 77 of $300 toward updating of the list.
