OLA President's Message

Let's All Move One Place On

I would like to share with you a story that I shared last summer at Leadership Conference. This story appeared in Volume 18, Number 3, January-February, 1991, of the Emergency Librarian and is reprinted with permission.

The Goose Story

Next fall, when you see Geese heading South for the Winter... flying along in V formation... you might consider what Science has discovered as to Why they fly that Way:

As each bird flaps its Wings, it creates an Uplift for the bird immediately Following.

By flying in V formation the Whole Flock adds at least 71% greater Flying Range, than if each bird Flew on its Own.

PEOPLE WHO SHARE A COMMON DIRECTION AND SENSE OF COMMUNITY CAN GET WHERE THEY ARE GOING MORE QUICKLY AND EASILY BECAUSE THEY ARE TRAVELLING ON THE THRUST OF ONE ANOTHER.

When a goose Falls out of Formation it suddenly feels the Drag and Resistance of trying to go it alone... and quickly gets back into Formation to take Advantage of the Lifting Power of the bird in front.

IF WE HAVE AS MUCH SENSE AS A GOOSE WE WILL STAY IN FORMATION WITH THOSE WHO ARE HEADED IN THE SAME WAY WE ARE.

When the Head Goose gets tired it rotates back in the Wing... and another goose flies Point.

IT IS SENSIBLE TO TAKE領導 TURNS DOING DEMANDING JOBS... WITH PEOPLE OR WITH GEESE FLYING SOUTH.

Geese honk from behind to Encourage those up Front to keep up their Speed.

WHAT DO WE SAY WHEN WE HONK FROM BEHIND?

Finally... and this is Important... when a goose gets Sick, or is wounded by Gunshots, and falls out of Formation, two other Geese fall out with that goose and follow it down to lend Help and Protection. They stay with the Fallen Goose until it is able to Fly or until it Dies; and only then do they launch out on their own, or with another Formation to catch up with their Group.

IF WE HAVE THE SENSE OF A GOOSE, WE WILL STAND BY EACH OTHER LIKE THAT.

Charges to the General Public in Oklahoma Academic Libraries: Results of a Recent Survey

Rose State College Learning Resources Center has an increasing number of non-student users. With this impact on the collection, staff members were interested in determining whether other Oklahoma academic libraries provided services to the general public and, if so, what charges or limitations were made. A questionnaire was developed to ascertain what charges, if any, academic libraries (both public and private) assess for services to the general public.

In January 1992, surveys were sent to 42 academic libraries in Oklahoma identified through the American Library Directory. Thirty-nine libraries (or 92 percent) responded to the questionnaire. The types of institutions that returned the survey were 26 public, 10 private, and three undesignated institutions.

The survey asked if the general public was allowed to check out materials and, if so, how many. Additional questions inquired if charges were made to the general public for the service, how much, and how the monies were spent. Respondents were also queried as to any other charges to the general public beyond general fees charged to all users such as for copiers.

Most of the libraries (69 percent) allowed the general public to check out materials. Eighty-one percent of the public institutions responding granted circulation privileges to the general public. Over one quarter of the respondents (11 libraries) indicated that annual charges were assessed to general public users for circulation privileges; six of these were public institutions. The annual fees ranged from $5 to $50. One library charged a one-time fee of $20.

Monies received from the fees were utilized in various ways. Four libraries indicated that receipts were mingled with the institution’s general fund. Three said that monies were received into the library’s general fund. A foundation received two of the libraries’ fees. Other libraries used funds for materials and petty cash.

Almost one-fourth of the respondents indicated that the general public was charged for other services. Database searching was mentioned by six respondents. Interlibrary loan and fax services were also specified by two of the libraries as services for which the general public may pay additional fees.

Survey results indicated that most academic libraries in Oklahoma permit the general public to check out materials. The public is apparently willing to pay for circulation privileges. Most of the libraries that charge fees benefit directly by the fees collected. Services beyond circulation are extended to the general public on a cost-recovery basis. A copy of the survey results may be obtained from the author by calling (405) 733-7323.

Office of Management Services to Sponsor Conference on Library Fee-based Services

The Association of Research Libraries Office of Management Services is sponsoring the 3rd International Conference on Library Fee-based Services to be held on Oct. 8-10 in Tempe, AZ. The theme of the conference will be “Quality Assurance: Bringing Business Practices to Bear on NonProfit Services Delivery.”

OMS staff is working with consultants Helen Josephine, Director, FIRST, Arizona State University, and Lee Ann George, George Washington University and Chair, ACRL Discussion Group Fee-Based Information Service Centers in Academic Libraries (FISCAL) to design an overall program of interest to the managers and operators of library fee-based information services centers (current and potential) as well as to library staff interested in the issues surrounding quality management and the operation of library fee-based services.

Planned as a two-day conference, speakers and program sessions first will explore conceptual foundations and theoretical issues related to quality management of library fee-based service operations in the 1990s. The second day’s sessions will emphasize practical information exchange and basic skills involved in the successful operation of library fee-based services.

Conference attendance will be limited to 250 participants, so early registration is encouraged. The registration fee for the two-day meeting is $295. For information contact Annette C. Verna or C. Brigid Welch, Office of Management Services, (202) 232-8656.

CUD Minimum Salary Survey

The policies of the Oklahoma Library Association require each OLA division to submit annually a recommended entry-year salary. Because there is no state-wide faculty or librarian salary scale for colleges and universities and because salaries vary widely from institution to institution, a survey of the CUD membership was conducted to determine what the Division wanted to recommend.

Eighty-two percent of the members who returned surveys approved of the following statement and, therefore, it is the recommendation of the College and University Division to OLA: “The minimum entry-level salary for Oklahoma academic librarians with an MLS or equivalent degree, depending on whether a librarian has academic rank, should be equivalent to an entry-level faculty instructor with a master’s degree or to entry-level teaching faculty with the same rank. The dollar amount will vary from campus to campus, and the salary should be adjusted to 12 months if the contract is for 12 months.”

Twelve percent of the respondents favored recommending the national average for entry year academic librarians with an MLS as published annually in Library Journal. One member wanted the figure of $26,000 to be recommended.

The 1992 Annual Meeting of the Friends of Libraries in Oklahoma was held at the Sheraton-Kensington Hotel in Tulsa on Friday, May 1st, during the Oklahoma Library Association Annual Conference.

The FOLIO theme for this year was "Through the Looking Glass with Friends". The purpose of our meeting was to look at the different programs and projects sponsored by various Friends groups throughout Oklahoma and to give these groups helpful information, suggestions, and ideas to take home with them to use with their local Friends group.

After our registration, coffee and donuts, we listened to Judy Moody from Tulsa speak on how to build and keep membership. Then Julia Ratliff from Tulsa presented fund raising ideas for participants' local libraries and projects.

During the FOLIO luncheon, we asked the groups to respond to the Roll Call of Friends by reporting what their group's projects were for the past year and tell us of their successes. This is a popular part of the luncheon and always gives everyone lots of new ideas. This year 20 libraries responded to the roll call. They were: Tahlequah, Moore, Bristow, Guthrie, Pryor, Crescent, Poteau, Enid, Okemah, McAlester, Kingfisher, Bartlesville, The Village, Oklahoma County Metropolitan, Altus, Muskogee, Henryetta, Tulsa City-County Library, Ardmore, and Sapulpa. Five of the libraries have installed new librarians within the past year.

Betty Hardin, Bartlesville, announced the results of the "Big Event" Contest. She awarded the First Place ribbon, certificate and $50 check to the Buckley Public Library at Poteau for their innovative Junior Friends Group. Honorable Mention was awarded to Tahlequah for printing their outstanding Creative Writing Awards Book that includes all of this year's winning entries. It was prepared before the winners were announced and then sold at the Awards Ceremony. Betty also thanked the "Big Event" judges for donating their time and expertise. The judges this year were: Lillian Norberg, Lois Brown, and Dr. Hope Harder.

FOLIO's afternoon session featured a panel discussion that highlighted outstanding programs and projects in Friends groups and libraries across the state. The panel moderator was Dr. Arthur Buswell from Kingfisher. Panelists were: Elizabeth Neff and Leslie Langley from the Buckley Library speaking about their Junior Friends Group; Marion Donaldson from Lawton describing their annual Ethnic Festival participation; and Clifton Bancke from the Bartlesville Friends speaking on Personal Computers for Libraries.

Lee Brawner, Legislative Chair from Oklahoma County Metropolitan, reported on Legislative Day and how important it is for FOLIO to participate to keep the legislators informed and to show our interest in the pending legislation. He distributed recommendations to modernize Oklahoma Library laws: SJR-32, SB746, SB747 and SB748.

Lois Brown sent her report that 287 letters were sent to non-members of FOLIO who had attended the Governor's Conference on Libraries. Her goal for 1992-93 is to increase membership by twenty-five percent.

Dr. Arthur Buswell, Outreach Chairman, reported that three seed grants totaling $275 were given to libraries at Chandler, Poteau, and Warner to help start Friends groups.

Lillian Norberg, Nominations Chairman, gave the nominating report. Elected for a three year term to the board were: Mary Lu Atkinson, Oklahoma City; Mary Austin, Oklahoma City; Maryella Beck, Tulsa; Gretchen Bennett, Oklahoma City; Mary Brosius, Crescent; Ernestine Clark, Oklahoma City; Betty Hardin, Bartlesville; Julia Ratliff, Tulsa; Bob Segal, McAlester; Craig Stephenson, Enid; Bruce Stone, The Village; Mary Pinney, Eufaula; Ken Tracy, Tulsa; Pat Westmoreland, Bethany; Irene Wickham, Tahlequah.

The following officers were elected for 1992-93: President-Beverly Diaterlen, Tulsa; 1st Vice-President-Gail Miller, Altus; 2nd Vice-President-Dr. Arthur Buswell, Kingfisher; Secretary-Carolyn Purvine, Henryetta, Treasurer-Irene Wickham, Tahlequah. The dates of the FOLIO Board Meetings were announced as follows: June 5, 1992 (10:00 a.m.) Stroud Public Library; Sept. 11, 1992 (10:00 a.m.) Bartlesville Public Library; Dec. 4, 1992 (10:00 a.m.) Tulsa West Regional Library; January or February - Legislative Day at Oklahoma State Capitol; April 1993 - Annual Meeting in Oklahoma City.

101-year-old Oscar Catlege of Lexington proves you're never too old to get your first library card. At a ceremony recently, Glenda Lamb, Manager of the Purcell Public Library, presents Catlege with a special library card for the Pioneer Library System.

Call for America's Libraries - Update

Over 75,000 people nationwide registered their support as part of the, “Call for America’s Libraries” campaign sponsored by the American Library Association and Friends of Libraries USA. Launched on Freedom of Information Day, March 16, the campaign featured a special toll-free telephone number for the public to “say yes to your right to know” at a time of devastating funding cuts at school, public, and college libraries across the nation.

Those who called were asked if they agreed with the following statement:

· I believe America’s libraries are essential to democracy; I believe libraries play an important role in education, and that librarians provide vital services. I believe our nation’s libraries should be fully funded.

The call-in portion of the campaign ended at midnight on April 11, although the write-in campaign was extended to June 1.

According to Pamela Goodes at ALA’s Public Information Office, preliminary data about the call-in supporters should be available before ALA Annual Conference in the end of June. This information, organized by supporters’ zip-codes and including their names and addresses, will be presented to Congress people and made available to local libraries to use as a show of public support for library funding.

The Oklahoma Librarian hopes to obtain preliminary aggregate data for Oklahoma and make it available in the July/August issue. Watch for further updates on what ALA President Patricia Glass Schuman called “the most successful campaign ever on behalf of libraries.”

101 Year Old Gets First Library Card

Oscar Catlege, born September 24, 1890, in McGee, Oklahoma Territory, has been a devoted reader since childhood and decided it was about time to get a library card. It may have taken over 100 years, but on April 23, 1992, Catlege received his first library card from Glenda Lamb, branch manager of the Purcell Public Library, a branch of the Pioneer Library System.

“I’ve never seen so many books,” Catlege said of his visit to the library. Jim Catlege, age 58 and youngest of the nine Catlege children, accompanied his father to get the library card. “Dad has always been a reader,” the younger Catlege said. He reads the newspaper every day “starting in the upper left hand corner right through to the end. But now that he reads two or three books every couple of weeks,” it was time to go to the library for a near unlimited supply.

His favorite authors are Louis L’Amour and Ben Green. Catlege especially likes reading westerns and books about Oklahoma history. He likes to see if “they’re accurate”. His advice for young readers today is “the more reading the better, rather than doing something you shouldn’t.”

The Catlege family originally settled in Trousdale in Pottawatomie County where his father built a log cabin after the land run of 1891. According to Pottawatomie County Oklahoma History and writers C. Cooper and J. Nack, “On November 20, 1891, the family came to this new land. Esther (Oscar’s sister) was riding beside her father on a crib-load of corn, pulled by oxen, one called Old Blue. Behind in a buggy, driven by Martha (Oscar’s mother), lay baby Oscar on the seat.”

In 1895, young Oscar started school in a one-room school house with 140 other children where he enjoyed everything “except spelling.” Oscar married Oma Hudson in 1912 and they were married for 73 years. At age 26, Catlege was an oil field worker who saw the first Skelly oil well come in “around 1916.” Farming was the family business until 1963, when Catlege moved to Lexington. “Dad really knows the land and was always prepared with plan B during the planting season if something went wrong,” Jim Catlege said. During his lifetime, the spry Oscar Catlege also served as a Cleveland County Deputy Sheriff, Lexington city councilman, and Mayor of Lexington.

Long life is nothing new to the Catlege family. Oscar’s mother lived to be 105, while his sister was 103 when she passed away. When asked the inevitable question of his secret for long life, Catlege smiled and said, “Never smoke, drink, and stay away from doctors.”

Metropolitan Holds Staff Development Day

Business cards for every full-time staff member and some part-timers were a high point of the Metropolitan Library System's (Oklahoma County) fourth annual Staff Development Day. The cards, brainchild of executive director Lee B. Brawner, successfully noted the importance of every staff member and the integral part each plays in helping MLS fulfill its mission of quality service.

Staff Development Day is held each President's Day. All MLS libraries close and all full-time staff members and any part-time staff members who want to attend gather at an Oklahoma City conference center to participate in a learning experience.

Quality Service was the focus of Staff Development Day 1992. The agenda also included several skits portraying, with humor and originality, the function and work routine of such departments as Cataloging, Outreach Services, Volunteer Services, and Marketing and Development.

"The day also presented a golden opportunity to recognize several staff members whose performance has been above and beyond," Brawner said. Receiving well-deserved accolades and standing ovations were Business Manager Joan Jester and public service librarian Susie Beasley, who were presented with Awards of Excellence. The Maintenance Department also garnered a standing ovation and a Golden Hammer Award for its diligence in keeping the libraries shipshape. Outstanding Training Awards went to circulation clerks Mary Hume and Gwen Thompson; and library manager Melba Kirkpatrick received a Purple Schedule Award for her support of MLS's inhouse training opportunities.

The day ended on a hilarious note with a Lee B. Brawner Roast. It was witty, sarcastic, funny and, at times, as corny as an act by the Three Stooges. Of course, good-humored Lee took it all in stride; then, with a grin, informed the performers that they were already enrolled in a new library exchange program and should expect to be shipped out to Siberia on a moment's notice.

For information about planning your own staff development day, contact Paul Little, chief of Planning Services for MLS.

OSU Patent Collection Moves

The Oklahoma State University Patent Collection has been moved from the Edmon Low Library to a new permanent location in OSU's Center for International Trade Development. "The new location offers a number of advantages over our previous site," stated Jennifer Pauste-Enbaugh, Patent and Economic Development Librarian. "For the first time all of our patent materials will be together in one physical location, so patrons can do their search and look at any full-text patents they may want to see without having to leave our office. Also, we now offer free parking right behind our building."

The new facility is open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Some Saturday hours are also available. Patent and trademark search assistance will continue to be offered on an appointment basis. For additional information, call (405) 744-7086.

ALL THE OPTIONS FOR DATA DELIVERY

The WILSONLINE Information System

Turn to Wilson for the most comprehensive and affordable electronic retrieval system on the market—an integrated system of services unmatched in quality and ease of use by any other system.

WILSONDISC™ CD-ROM Retrieval System

Search each database on a separate compact disc, most of which are updated and cumulated monthly. Three search modes plus unlimited no-charge online searching make WILSONDISC the most user-friendly CD-ROM system available.

WILSONTAPE® Database Licensing Service

Access data around the clock from homes, offices, and dormitories via machine-readable monthly tapes for each database. WILSONTAPE maximizes existing resources. Use the same hardware and software used for the public access catalog or other locally-loaded databases.

WILSONLINE Online Retrieval System

Online access with no start-up fee, no charge for saved searches, and no royalty charges added to connect-time rates make WILSONLINE the most economical search system available.

WILSEARCH® Software for Direct Patron Access

With menu-driven online access for patrons, WILSEARCH is ideal for every type of library. No prior search experience or training is required.
