Code of Ethics

Members of the Ophthalmic Photographers’ Society (OPS) are required to abide by the organization’s constitution, bylaws, and standing rules.

No member of the Society shall act in a manner which brings harm to the Society or reflects unfavorably on the Society.

No member of the Society shall misrepresent or misuse the CRA, OCT-C, FOPS or any other credentials or awards bestowed by the Society.

Officers and committee members will make every effort to avoid the appearance or reality of conflict of interest where their OPS duties are concerned.

Members shall refrain from product or service endorsements associated with the OPS or their service to the OPS.

Violations of the Code of Ethics may result in loss of membership, and all rights in the Ophthalmic Photographers’ Society.
