Value-Based Nurse Staffing Conference

with a Nurse Staffing Law Half-Day Pre-Conference

November 14-15, 2013 in Bend, Oregon

- The value of being data-driven
- Nurse delegation: A value-added staffing intervention
- Value-based experience and knowledge
- Value equation for nursing

Nurses think about nurse staffing at the beginning and sometimes at the end of a work/practice day. There is debate about optimal numbers, lengths of shift, regulation/laws, and new approaches. What is known is that sufficient/safe nurse staffing is one of the most important aspects of nursing care valued by patients and their families. The 2013 Oregon Nurse Staffing Collaborative "Value-Based Nurse Staffing Conference" explores various aspects of achieving value in nurse staffing.
