

Conference Program Criteria:

Each proposal is evaluated according to the criteria listed below. All areas must be complete in order to be considered for presentation and CE credit.

PPA recognizes and supports diversity in its various forms through its activities and continuing education programs. Proposals should note the relevance of diversity considerations in relation to workshop topics.

Proposals submitted by PPA members will be given priority.

PPA encourages all presenters to actively involve participants in the presentation process. Programs are required to include a plan for active learning. Proposals which actively involve the audience will be given high consideration.

To have your presentation considered for CE credit, course materials must be: pertinent and accurate; contribute to an area of practice, theory or methodology; be didactic and not experiential; be at the post-doctoral level; and be of client benefit.
