Dr. William L. Goldfarb would insist that you call him Bill. It was the early 1940s when Bill, the son of Russian immigrants, graduated from Central High School in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. As an excellent student, he matriculated directly to Temple University School of Chiropody, beginning his lifelong work in podiatry.

President's Message

This President’s message is my first opportunity to speak with the membership in this space. Today, we have an urgent crisis on our hands. After years of working to build residency positions, we are facing a precipitous decline in applications to our podiatric medical schools.

How is this a crisis? We had, up until last month, nine podiatric medical schools. With nine schools, we have seen a decline in applications. The nine schools each had and still have a “cap” on the number of students they could accept to the first-year class. The cap was put in place to “balance” the number of students graduating to the number of residency positions open to the pool. That balance lost equilibrium when the number of students declined.

The addition of two more schools will aggravate this problem.

The question before us is what can be done about this issue?

The APMA is engaged in promoting professional awareness. The target for their program is high school students interested in science. While this effort can become a stable base for future applicants, this effort does not address the IMMEDIATE need to place students in the seats at the institutions.

The American Association of Colleges of Podiatric Medicine (AACPM) also engages in student recruitment. Their efforts target undergraduate students in the medical and science fields. Unfortunately, while success in this target arena may yield a more immediate result on the student pool, it still has yet to produce results that stem the decline.

In addition to the APMA and AACPM programs, each school has a recruitment department. Each school’s efforts focus on its territory and may result in the core applicant numbers which are surviving.

Last year, at the PPMA House, we introduced a program to enlist our members to contact three college science advisors and request the ability to visit the school in person or virtually. We had eighteen volunteers initially, and we are following up on that effort. In addition, seven other states have initiated this program for each state.

We need our members to join our outreach program!

Visit our website at https://www.ppma.org/page/Recruitment to sign up to visit a college near you or one with which you may have a connection.

We will provide you with the resources to make a presentation to students, and TUSPM will follow up with those who attended the presentation to gain additional applicants.

I know that this may be a burden, but we all need to address this crisis, as failing to bolster our incoming students will lead to a slow demise of the profession which has served us for so long and so well.

Furthermore, our patients and business collectively rely on us to address the crisis.

I hope your holidays are warm and welcoming and that your efforts in this recruitment program will be a present to us all.

However, like many from the Greatest Generation, Bill's education was interrupted when he joined the United States Army as a medic in Texas with several podiatry classmates. Fortunately, Bill and his comrades returned and graduated from Temple as lifelong friends.

Bill opened a private practice in December 1948 in the growing suburban Philadelphia community of Bristol, Pennsylvania. He became an active member of the Pennsylvania Podiatric Medical Association ("PPMA"), later serving as its president. Bill was a visionary and zealous advocate of the podiatric community. He authored Podiatric Service Reporting Manual with Relative Value Guides, published by the PPMA in 1974, and was instrumental in having podiatric services recognized and paid for by insurance carriers. In addition, he dedicated a significant portion of his career to podiatry education. He was known for conducting an annual educational seminar, the "Hershey Seminar," to allow his colleagues and graduates to become board certified.

Bill was also a dedicated husband to his wife, Lorraine, and father to his children, Richard and Shelley, who viewed their father as a genuinely larger-than-life figure. As adolescents, Bill's children fondly recall his frequent trips to Harrisburg and the day Bill's portrait was raised in the halls of the PPMA headquarters in Camp Hill.

Bill's son-in-law, William S. Lynde, DPM, and grandson, Michael J. Lynde, DPM, also attended Temple University School of Podiatric Medicine, continuing Bill's legacy to this day at their private practice in Newtown, Pennsylvania. Bill's daughter became a schoolteacher, while his son, Richard M. Goldfarb, MD, FACS, became a surgeon and continues his father's dedication to the betterment and service of the medical community. He would have been so elated to see the success of his four grandsons. Richard's son is in pharmaceutical marketing and advertising, and Shelley's sons are in finance, podiatry, and an attorney.

Bill's wish for incoming students would be that in addition to private study, students should be active in fostering and creating a community that facilitates open dialogue and learning from one another. Bill was the type who would have loved and embraced the technological advancements so critical to the improvement and advancement of society, science, and medicine. He would be so proud to celebrate 50 years of the Goldfarb Foundation.

Gary M. Gordon, DPM
A Pioneer in Sports Podiatry

Dr. Gordon was recently awarded the Pioneer in Podiatry Award at the PPMA Inaugural Dinner in November. This award speaks to Dr. Gordon’s mark in the field of podiatry, most notably in sports podiatry. Gordon is certainly a podiatrist of many firsts or one of the first!

The former Track & Field collegiate athlete attended Temple University and changed majors repeatedly before he took that final leap, “landing on his feet” in podiatry.

Gordon’s accomplishments in podiatry include being involved in a groundbreaking study to improve the usage of athletic footwear (football and soccer cleats) during his time in school, becoming the first podiatrist for Temple University athletics in the ’70s at the Temple Sports Medicine Center, and becoming the first podiatrist of staff for the Philadelphia 76ers professional basketball team. Gordon was the podiatrist for the University of Penn Sports Medicine Center for a remarkable 41 years! While at Penn, he served as the doctor for the Penn Relays and the Penn Intercollegiate athletes. For the last ten of those years, he served as the Assistant Golf Coach for both the Men’s and Women’s teams.

As a passionate athlete and healthcare professional, Gordon has appreciated helping athletes become 100% after injury. He wanted to allow his patients to live an enriched life returning to their passion for running or their sport of choice! His mission of healing patients, including athletes, empowered him to become President of The American Academy of Sports Medicine and the American Running Fitness Association.

Gordon, a teacher that transitioned to a podiatrist early in his career, has passed the baton to the new owner of Gordon Podiatry, Alicia Canzanese, DPM, ATC. Dr. Gordon has many lessons as a healthcare professional and business owner that he has been able to share with other professionals like Canzanese. After a 50-year run in podiatry, he has made the tough decision to retire. This has allowed him to enjoy life, which includes spending time on the golf course! What a fantastic run he has had in his podiatric career.

Thank you, Dr. Gordon, for your contribution to the field of podiatry!

The new owner of Gordon Podiatry, Alicia Canzanese presents Dr. Gordon with this award. She shares his passion for sports medicine, getting involved in podiatry at PPMA and other organizations, and demonstrating leadership!

Amendments to Charges for Medical Records

[52 Pa.B. 7471]

[Saturday, December 3, 2022]

In the notice published at 51 Pa.B. 7570 (December 4, 2021), the Department of Health (Department) published the guidelines and fees that a health care provider or facility may charge in response to a request for production of medical charts or records. This notice updates the notice published on December 4, 2021.

Under 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6152, 6152.1 and 6155 (relating to subpoena of records; limit on charges; and rights of patients), a health care provider or facility is allowed to charge a fee in response to a request for medical charts or records. The Secretary of Health (Secretary), under 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6152 and 6152.1, is directed to adjust annually the amounts which may be charged by the health care provider or facility.

The Secretary is directed to base these adjustments on the most recent changes in the Consumer Price Index reported annually by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor. For the annual period of October 31, 2021, through October 31, 2022, the Consumer Price Index was 7.7%.

Accordingly, effective January 1, 2023, the following fees may be charged by a health care facility or health care provider in response to a request for production of medical charts or records:

<tr>
<th>Amount charged per page for:</th>
<th>Not to Exceed</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pages 1—20</td>
<td>$1.83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pages 21—60</td>
<td>$1.36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pages 61—end</td>
<td>$0.47</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

* Search and retrieval of records (cannot be charged if requestor is requesting their own personal health record) .................................................. $27.14

Flat fees (providers may not charge the above search and retrieval fee in addition to a flat fee)

Production of records to support any claim under Social Security or any Federal or State financial needs-based program ........................................ $34.40

Supplying records requested by a district attorney .... $27.14

The previously listed fees shall apply for paper copies or reproductions on electronic media whether the records are stored on paper or in electronic format.

In addition to the amounts listed previously, charges may also be assessed for the actual cost of postage, shipping and delivery of the requested records.

The Department is not authorized to enforce these charges.

The previously listed charges, however, are subject to the following exceptions:

1. An insurer shall not be required to pay for copies of medical records required to validate medical services for which reimbursement is sought under an insurance contract, except as provided in:
   a. The Workers’ Compensation Act (77 P.S. §§ 1—1041.4 and 2501—2506) and the regulations promulgated thereunder.

b. 75 Pa.C.S. Chapter 17 (relating to Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Law) and the regulations promulgated thereunder.

c. A contract between an insurer and any other party.

(2) The charges listed in this notice do not apply to an X-ray film or any other portion of a medical record which is not susceptible to photostatic reproduction.

(3) The charges for the production of medical records by a health care provider in response to a request made by either an individual who is the subject of the health information or the individual’s personal representative is governed by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (Pub.L. No. 104-191) (HIPAA) and Federal regulations enacted under HIPAA, including 42 U.S.C. § 17935(e) and 45 CFR 164.524 (relating to access of individuals to protect health information), as follows:

a. Electronic health record. Under section 13405 (42 U.S.C. § 17935(e)), if a health care provider uses or maintains health records in an electronic format with respect to protected health information of an individual, the individual shall have a right to obtain from the health care provider a copy of the information in an electronic format. The individual also has a choice to direct the health care provider to transmit electronically a copy of the health record directly to an entity or person designated by the individual, provided that any choice is clear, conspicuous and specific. A fee that the health care provider may impose for providing the information (or a summary or explanation of the information) in an electronic format shall not be greater than the labor costs in responding to the request. The Department of Health and Human Services has stated that the labor costs may not include costs associated with searching for and retrieving the requested information.

b. Health record used or maintained in other types of format (for example, paper). Under 45 CFR 164.524(c)(4), if the individual requests a copy of the protected health information or agrees to a summary or explanation of the information, the covered entity may impose a reasonable, cost-based fee, provided that the fee includes only the cost of:

   (i) Labor for copying the protected health information requested by the individual, whether in paper or electronic form.

   (ii) Supplies for creating the paper copy or electronic media if the individual requests that the electronic copy be provided on portable media.

   (iii) Postage, when the individual has requested the copy, or the summary or explanation, be mailed.

   (iv) Preparing an explanation or summary of the protected health information, if the individual agrees in advance to a summary or explanation and the fees to be imposed, in accordance to 45 CFR 164.524(c)(2)(iii). Similarly, the labor costs under 45 CFR 164.524(c)(4) shall not include the cost attributable to search and retrieval of the records.

Welcome TUSPM Class of 2026 Rep Jensen Salunga

Jensen lived in Pittsburgh, PA, her entire life until moving to Philadelphia to study at Temple University for undergrad. She discovered the field of podiatry from a family friend and additionally from pre-professional health studies at Temple. Podiatry offers the opportunity to specialize in such an essential body part and the various subspecialties, which was attractive to her!

In talking to Jensen, she thinks that PPMA can support other students like Jensen, by advocating for podiatry students to be current professionals in the field.

Furthermore, to recruit more podiatry students, she states, “We must educate prospective students in the area, as many need to be made aware of the opportunities that come with becoming a podiatrist.”

PPMA looks forward to working with Jensen during her time at TUSPM!

PPMA extends a special thanks to Daniel Ruggiero, TUSPM ‘25, and Jensen Salunga TUSPM ‘26 for these student interviews!

Thank you to the sponsors, exhibitors, participants, and everyone involved in making the meeting special for the 50th year!
The most common analogy of medical school that pre-medical students hear about is that medical school is like drinking water from a fire hose.

While the school year starts with familiar material, there is a constant pressure of impending doom or success looming around the corner. Figuring out if Anki, making outlines, or re-watching lectures is the most effective way to study, while trying to maintain some form of health and trying to establish a proper schedule becomes taxing, since there are only so many hours that can be spent in a day!

The cherry on top, is the sinking feeling you are missing out on social or academic aspects with your new classmates, and losing out on opportunities as a result!

With all this pressure, it is easy to get overwhelmed, curl up into a ball and take a nap. Not only does this spend precious time, but it also leaves you in an unproductive rut.

Speaking with a friend about this issue, they gave me a piece of advice that has been working for them, being unproductively productive.

When they find themselves slipping into the void of unproductivity, they spend their time washing dishes, doing laundry, or something else of that nature.

Completing tasks put aside due to the demands of medical school not only gives them a break but distracts them.

This way their body and brain are still active and not slowing down while they can mentally reset and reapproach their tasks.

Like most things in life, this is easier said than done. It is so much easier to kick back, scroll through social media or watch an episode of “New Girl.”

Though I may still be new to the true struggles of medical school, I have had a few minor victories in the battle against indulging myself in the microcosm on my phone.

Something that has worked well for me is leaving my phone in the bathroom or tossing it to my bed (sometimes missing the bed altogether). Once I have got past about half an hour I forget about it and can conquer my productivity.

Another mechanism of success I have been using is the Pomodoro technique.

To those unfamiliar with the Pomodoro technique, it is a time management technique. One Pomodoro is a 25-minute working period and a 5-minute break. After 4 Pomodoro’s, a longer 15-minute break is implemented. While it may be something that works for some and not for others, I utilize the five-minute breaks to either vacuum, mop, or dust my small, studio apartment. Cleaning my work environment has helped me also stay on task, avoid distracting myself from the task at hand, and truly give myself a mental break from the work I was doing.

Only time will tell if any of these strategies will be the path to doom or success.

I’ve been trying new ways to keep myself busy and my mind running while giving my brain a break such as writing this article. A bit confusing for sure, but one thing is for sure: being unproductively productive, keeps you productive. Only time will tell if any of these strategies will be the path to doom or success. I’ve been trying new ways to keep myself busy and my mind running while giving my brain a break, such as writing this article.

*A bit confusing for sure, but one thing is for sure: being unproductively productive, keeps you productive!"

CAREERS

FULL TIME PODIATRIST WANTED IN WESTERN PA (NEAR PITTSBURGH)

Ankle and Foot Care is seeking a full time associate for well established, busy private practice in Western PA. The practice is located approximately 45 minutes north of Pittsburgh, with low cost of living, great schools in the area, and an opportunity to live either in suburban or rural area.

The practice is well rounded and treats all podiatric pathology- pediatrics, sports medicine, at risk foot care, wound care, foot and ankle surgery, and limb salvage. Lots of surgical volume, including rearfoot and ankle, that is currently being referred out to other practices. Billing and office experience a plus, but not a requirement for the right candidate, willing to train!

We are seeking someone who is Board Qualified/Board Certified with ABFAS, residents or new graduates welcome to apply! Looking to fill the position in Summer 2023, or sooner if available.

The practice is currently transitioning to a hospital affiliation, with already built in relationships with other specialties in the area (orthopedics, pediatrics, primary care, general surgery). Large referral base established in the area from all specialties, including orthopedics. Hospital is very podiatry friendly, with opportunities for leadership positions available, and working directly with other specialties as equals on medical staff. Best of both worlds- practice will remain a private entity, while being affiliated with the local hospital. The right candidate should be personable, hardworking, and looking for a long-term position.

Competitive base salary with bonus structure, please send letter of interest and CV to ankleandfootcare1@gmail.com.

You will be involved in all aspects of podiatric medicine, foot/ankle surgery, orthotics, diabetics, wound care, diabetic shoes, heel pain, and all other musculoskeletal issues.

You will learn how to build an efficient, high volume practice, utilizing a wide breadth of modalities to best treat your patients.

Join our award-winning group of podiatrists, surgeons, and wound care specialists located in Central PA.

We offer competitive salary with bonus structure and benefit package including a 401k.

Effective January 1, 2023, completion certificates will be accessed via the MyCEUCertificate Gateway tool located on the Novitas website under the Education & Training center. Event participants no longer need an account in the NLC to access completion certificates. By entering your name and email address into the tool, you will have access to all of your completion certificates. Completion certificates can be downloaded and printed from the tool.

Continue to monitor the Novitas website and our listserv communications for updates about these changes!

Foot and Ankle patients in PA need your help!

Patients need treatment of the foot and ankle. Our patients are receiving the best care. We are seeing a decline in the number of students entering podiatry school, which will ultimately mean that patients will not be able to seek treatment in a timely fashion and a reduction in healthcare for our residents. We want patients to continue to have access to the best care for their feet and ankle.

PPMA is spearheading a grassroots effort in which our board has signed up to speak to students about podiatry to increase brand awareness in podiatry and increase the number of students being accepted into podiatry schools.

This recruitment effort is available to PPMA members interested in getting involved.

PPMA is increasing its content on our new Recruitment section of the website. Visit us online today at www.ppma.org.

If you are interested in speaking with students, please contact our office at 717-763-7665.
