

Serving the communities of Jefferson, St. Lawrence and Lewis counties, New York
In print daily. Online always.

Related Stories

ENVIRONMENT

- Ogdensburg council holding work session on brush program on Monday
- Nicandri Nature Center seeking prospective board, committee members
- IJC Commissioner addresses the controversial Plan 2014 at Save The River conference
- Canton receives state brownfield grant

HEALTHCARE

- Lewis County hospital officials seeking input on proposed capital project
- Carthage hospital to offer healthy cooking classes for children, adults
- Stefanik and colleagues urge renewed funding for nonprofit community health clinics
- Massena Memorial Hospital reports on patient satisfaction

JEFFERSON

- Carthage village court clerk sought
- Senator calls for reimbursing farmers for flawed insurance program
- Capital project remains on track for Belleville-Henderson
- Disaster team aids in Carthage church repairs
- Two new prescription drug disposal sites come to St. Lawrence County

Two new prescription drug disposal sites come to St. Lawrence County

By JEN JACKSON
JJACKSON@WDT.NET
PUBLISHED: WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 2018 AT 5:15 AM

A1↓ Print Email Like 0 Share Tweet

A new program to increase access to safe prescription drug disposal began collecting unused medications in St. Lawrence County Tuesday.

Claxton-Hepburn Medical Center in Ogdensburg and Gouverneur Hospital are both participating in the Drug Take-Back Program launched by the Product Stewardship Institute and the New York Product Stewardship Council.

The six-month pilot program allows residents to drop off unwanted, expired, or leftover medications at locked collection kiosk sites at either hospital, or via pre-paid mail-back envelopes, at no cost and with “no questions asked.”

The program is funded by the United States Department of Agriculture and hoped to increase public health safety and reduce the negative environmental impact of improperly disposed-of prescriptions.

“More than 2,000 people in New York State die annually from opioid overdose — most commonly from prescription pain relievers,” said Andrew Radin, NYPSC chair and recycling director for Onondaga County Resource Recovery Agency, in a public statement.

“We are honored to work with this impressive coalition to safeguard the environmental and public health of New York communities.”

“As a pharmacist, I recognize the dire need for convenient, safe drug disposal options,” said pharmacist and Director of Pharmacy Services at Gouverneur Hospital Susan Bradley, in a public statement.

“We are providing a critical service, and our hospital benefits from increased loyalty and appreciation among our patient community.”

In the midst of an opioid epidemic, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports 91 Americans die every day from an opioid overdose — nearly four people an hour.

As of the end of last year, 18 people in Jefferson County had died from drug overdoses in 2017, with another possible fatality pending toxicological confirmation.

Not only is the program aimed at keeping dangerous, unused medications such as opioids, painkillers and narcotics out of vulnerable hands, but DEC officials also hope it will reduce pharmaceutical contamination of the water system.

Flushed medications have been found in the state's lakes, rivers and streams, harming fish and other aquatic wildlife and even leading to drug-resistant bacteria.

In 2000, the U.S. Geological Survey studied waterways nationwide.

Low levels of antibiotics, hormones, steroids and other drugs were found in 80 percent of rivers and streams tested.

The program will continue through July.

Commenting rules:

1. Stick to the topic of the article/letter/editorial.
2. When responding to issues raised by other commenters, do not engage in personal attacks or name-calling.
3. Comments that include profanity/obscenities or are libelous in nature will be removed without warning.

Violators' commenting privileges may be revoked indefinitely. By commenting you agree to our full Terms of Use.

0 Comments Watertown Daily Times  Login ▾

 Recommend  Share Sort by Best ▾

Start the discussion...

LOG IN WITH

OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS

Name

Be the first to comment.

 Subscribe  Add Disqus to your site  Add Disqus  Privacy