

FLUORESCENT LAMPS CONTAIN TOXIC MERCURY

Follow the law and protect your health.
Here's how:

- ① When you remove a bulb, store it in a closed, dated, and labeled box or cushioned drum.
- ② If a bulb breaks, open a window to disperse mercury vapor, collect the shards, and place in a closed container. Do not vacuum!
- ③ Recycle mercury products yearly, at minimum.

If you see someone who isn't following these steps, contact the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection at:
