A Professional Cover Page Example for Empirical Submissions to Psi Chi Journal of Psychological Research

Alan L. Richardson¹, Lindsay A. Green², and Joyce A. Stewart¹

¹Department of Psychology, University of Tennessee
²Department of Psychological Sciences, Central Connecticut State University

Author Note

Lindsay A. Green [ID] https://orcid.org/0006-0002-5832-3189
Joyce A. Stewart [ID] https://orcid.org/0006-0001-6014-6864

Alan L. Richardson is now at the Department of Psychology at University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY.

This study was preregistered at https://osf.io/9z3a/. Materials and data for this study can be accessed at https://osf.io/9z2p/. We have no known conflict of interest to disclose. This study was supported by the University of Tennessee Undergraduate Research Fellowship. Special thanks to Psi Chi Journal reviewers for their support and Alice Higgins for insightful comments during data collection.
Positionality Statement: Lindsay and Joyce identify as a heterosexual, cisgender White women. Alan identifies as a bisexual, transgender African American man. All authors are nondisabled and acknowledge that their perspectives are influenced by their positions within all of these dimensions of identity.

Correspondence concerning this article should be addressed to Alan L. Richardson, Department of Psychology, University of Kentucky, 1120 University Dr., Lexington, KY, 40506, United States. Email: alan.richardson@gmal.com

Positionality Statements are OPTIONAL. Because researchers each have their own perspectives and worldviews, these statements help readers to discern perspectives from which research has been conducted. Only authors comfortable disclosing this personal information are encouraged to do so.

You can learn more about writing a cover page in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association 7th Edition, Sections 2.1–2.7.