

51st Annual International Conference of the Society for Psychotherapy Research

With almost 500 individual submissions for panels, brief paper sessions, structured discussions and posters, six semi-plenaries, a plenary session focused on the conference theme, Personalizing Psychotherapy to its Participants and Moments, and Bruce Wampold's presidential address, the planned program and activities were stellar. Unfortunately, this year's meeting was cancelled due to the worldwide pandemic. We wish to thank the local hosts and the program committee members for their phenomenal work and all of the presenters who submitted important research. Our thoughts go out to all of you at this time and we hope that you find the time to reach out to other researchers, colleagues and friends and maintain bonds and connections.
