Virginia Surgical Institute is pleased to welcome

Susan Sharpe, MD, FACS, FSSO

Dr. Sharpe understands that each patient’s cancer is unique, which drives her to be unrelenting in creating the best treatment plan for that person. By collaborating with multi-disciplinary healthcare teams, Dr. Sharpe, who is board certified in general surgery and complex general surgical oncology, provides exemplary care for her patients at one of the most vulnerable times in their lives.

Dr. Sharpe received her Bachelor of Science in Bioscience from Drexel University in Philadelphia, PA, and then went on to earn her medical degree from George Washington School of Medicine and Health Sciences in 2005. She was a surgical intern and resident at New Jersey Medical School, and then completed a fellowship in complex general surgical oncology at University of Chicago Medicine. In 2015, Dr. Sharpe began practicing surgical oncology at MetroHealth in Cleveland, OH, and later moved on to practice at University of Michigan Health-West.

Involved in clinical outcomes research, Dr. Sharpe has special interest in the areas of pancreatic, liver/gallbladder/bile duct, esophageal/gastric and skin cancers and has published her findings in many peer-reviewed surgical journals as well as shared her research at numerous national meetings. She holds memberships with the Society of Surgical Oncology and the American College of Surgeons.

When not treating patients, Dr. Sharpe enjoys exploring museums, antquing, traveling and spending time with family and friends.
