Richmond Academy of Medicine is pleased to welcome

Stephen M. Cohen, MD

As a Board certified General and Colon and Rectal Surgeon, Dr. Stephen Cohen recently moved to Richmond and joined the medical staff at the Hunter McGuire VAMC. Dr. Cohen began his medical education at UCLA, continued with 5 years of surgical training at Boston University, and completed a 2-year colon and rectal fellowship at the Cleveland Clinic Florida in 1994. For 20 years, Dr. Cohen was a senior partner in Atlanta Colon and Rectal Surgery, one of the busiest private practice groups on the east coast. In addition to his busy practice, Dr. Cohen has always been involved in teaching and training young surgeons and was appointed Associate Clinical professor at Emory University in the late 90's. His unique style of teaching and love for the field of colon and rectal surgery has been the driving force for many young surgeons choosing this career path.

As medicine began to change, Dr. Cohen wanted to be on the forefront and obtained an MBA degree through Walden University. This was of paramount importance as he transitioned to the Director of Acute Care Surgery at Greenbrier Valley Medical Center in Lewisburg, WV. Furthermore, Dr. Cohen was part of the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine to help standardize the 3rd-year surgical clerkship, as well as to teach, train, and educate the family practice residents rotating at the hospital.

Dr. Cohen is very excited to be at the VAMC and looks forward to encouraging more young surgeons to choose colon and rectal surgery as their field of practice.
