

Health, Safety & Environmental Legal Support – 24/7

Free initial support for all RISE members

The primary objective of the Renewable Industry Safety Exchange (RISE) is about improving safety, and specifically:

- Collating and benchmarking reliable industry safety statistics
- Providing a secure platform to share industry safety learning
- To help develop and share proactive KPI's and targeted industry knowledge

In order to provide additional assurances and benefits to RISE members, we have appointed specialist regulatory lawyers, Squire Sanders (UK) LLP, to provide access to essential short term legal assistance.

If you find yourself managing a safety, health or environmental incident, you can contact Squire Sanders via the dedicated telephone number and e-mail address below. The service is available 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year, and RISE members will receive up to two hours of free, immediate and practical guidance from an experienced Squire Sanders' lawyer.

Support includes:

- Initial support for operational staff, in-house legal departments, and senior management teams (including Board level), following a major incident or fatality; and
- Objective advice in respect of regulatory investigations and the reporting obligations which arise.

Following the initial two-hour free consultation made available to members as part of the RISE programme, Squire Sanders will be pleased to arrange for any additional legal support required at competitive fee rates on a formal basis.

To discuss an urgent health and safety incident or concern with Squire Sanders:
Please call +44 844 826 8287
or e-mail RISEincident@squiresanders.com

For further information about this service please contact

Chris Streatfeild
T: 020 7901 3017
E: Chris.Streatfeild@RenewableUK.com

Rob Elvin
T +44 161 830 5257
E rob.elvin@squiresanders.com