

Welcome Your New RFMA Board Of Directors

Director-at-Large Gregory Clark

Director of Construction and Facilities Management White Castle

Gregory Clark, Director of Construction and Facilities Management at White Castle, spent the last several years centralizing the service departments to become a single, highly-efficient facilities team. Today, he leads a 100-plus member team. Clark has a degree in mechanical engineering and has spent 24 years in construction and facility management. A four-year member of RFMA, Clark especially appreciates the membership's willingness to share ideas and best practices. He's proud to be part of an organization in which competitors work together toward one common goal: executing facility management at the highest level. In his community, Clark has served as a church deacon, Sunday school teacher, youth leader, scout leader and sports coach.

Director-at-Large Tom Lykins, CRFP

Director of Facilities Panda Restaurant Group

Tom Lykins, CRFP, is the Director of Facilities for Panda Restaurant Group. A dedicated RFMA member for 13 years, Lykins has co-chaired the Education Committee and the Conference Curriculum Committee, and he won the Certification Rockstar RFMy award in 2016. As a member of the RFMA Board of Directors, Lykins plans to lead by listening. He wants to understand members' needs, be a balanced voice and provide an objective perspective. One of his initiatives is to increase engagement in networking, vendor relations and new vendor hiring.

Director-at-Large Bevin McPherson

Sr. Manager of Facilities Operations Ruby Tuesday

Bevin McPherson is a Senior Manager of Facilities Operations for Ruby Tuesday, a role in which she oversees project management and financial audit controls. Working closely with the real estate and legal teams has deepened her experience and knowledge. She hopes her unique background will offer a different perspective for RFMA. McPherson possesses the spirit of a volunteer: She has co-chaired the Member Engagement Committee, served as a member of the Red Carpet Committee and attended RFMA Gives volunteer days. At Ruby Tuesday, she volunteered to be the administrator for the employee assistance program.

Director-at-Large Jay Roach

Sr. Director of Construction and Facilities TGI Fridays, Inc.

Jay Roach is a Senior Director of Construction and Facilities for TGI Fridays. Having served on the operations side prior to transitioning to facility management, Roach understands the industry from both perspectives. As a 12-year member of RFMA, Roach has seen its impact on the facility maintenance industry. RFMA has greatly elevated the level of professionalism and the organizational status of facility professionals. He's proud of RFMA's diverse membership and hopes to leverage his relationship-building skills and love of data to help the organization's continued success. In his community, Roach has served on various church boards and currently serves as the chairman of the Board of Trustees at his church.

Board Alternate Jay Andruk, CRFP

Facility and Fleet Manager K&N Management

Jay Andruk, CRFP, is a Facilities and Fleet Manager for K&N Management. Andruk enjoys being involved with important and worthy causes, and when he's involved, he's involved 100 percent. He looks forward to bringing his enthusiasm and passion to the Board. Andruk is member of the Community Impact Leadership Team, a co-chair for the 2019 RFMA Gives Project and a member of the Conference Curriculum Committee. Previously, he served as co-chair for the Conference Curriculum Committee and presented an education session at RFMA's 2018 annual conference. He also is a founding team member of the Kageyo Gardens Project, a mission team that builds gardens in Rwanda.

Vendor Representative Michael Vezina

SVP, National Accounts Life Safety and Engineered Systems, Inc.

Michael Vezina is a SVP of National Accounts for Life Safety Engineered Systems. Joining RFMA in 2011 has had a positive impact on Vezina personally and professionally. He recognizes the benefits for restaurateurs and vendors. As the RFMA Vendor Board Representative, he will strive to steer the organization into the future with new and innovative resources. Other goals include increasing membership and enhancing RFMA's value for restaurateurs and vendors. At the annual conferences, Vezina participates in fun runs and golf tournaments and attends the education sessions, RIFtalks and other activities. He is a contributing member of the Resources Committee, has served as a vendor co-chair and received the Resources Rockstar RFMy in 2015. He has also helped spearhead the benchmarking survey, Peer-to-Partner calls and the Facilities Toolkit.
