

Training Eligibility for all Participating Reserve Categories
(Education & Training)
Resolution 19-29

WHEREAS, all participating Reserve Component (RC) members can benefit from professional military education and training to develop or maintain their competency; and

WHEREAS, many participating RC members are eligible to support missions via military personnel appropriations (MPA) tours; and

WHEREAS, AFI 36-2254, Volume II, Chapter 1, restricts many (i.e., category “E”) participating individual ready reserve (PIRR) Airmen from taking part in active duty for training (ADT) tours; and

WHEREAS, further AFI 36-2254, Volume II Chapter 2, restricts resident developmental education (DE) to members of the Selected Reserve (i.e., unit assigned members, Air Reserve Technicians, Individual Mobilization Augmentees, and Active Guard/Reserve Airmen); and

WHEREAS, the Air Force and the other services can benefit from retaining highly skilled, trained, and experienced personnel who continue to participate while assigned to the IRR;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that ROA, chartered by Congress, urge the Air Force to change policies to make all participating Reserve Component members eligible for active duty for training and developmental education.
