The Centre for Renaissance & Reformation Studies, Canada Research Chair Program and the Department of English present

13th INTERNATIONAL MILTON SYMPOSIUM
10-14 JULY 2023
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO | CANADA

Plenary Speakers:
AchsaH Guibbory
Lorna Hutson
Nicholas McDowell
Feisal Mohamed
Su Fang Ng
David Quint

To register and for more information visit crrs.ca/milton2023
CALL FOR PAPERS

13th INTERNATIONAL MILTON SYMPOSIUM
10-14 JULY 2023

Hosted by The Centre for Renaissance & Reformation Studies, Canada Research Chair Program and The Department of English, University of Toronto

The International Milton Symposium welcomes scholars from across the world for five days of convivial discussion and debate. The Program Committee invites proposals for 20 minute papers on all aspects of Milton studies, from established approaches to new and emerging ones. Suggested topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

Atlantic, Pacific, and Global Milton
Milton in the Americas, Milton in Canada
Comparative epic, classical reception
Rhetoric, language, translingualism
Lyric, music, voice
Genre, form, adaptation
Illustration, graphic narrative, film
Cultures of reading: print, manuscript, DH
Romance, utopia, science fiction
Milton’s schoolrooms
Divorce, toleration, censorship
Chastity, marriage, polygamy
Gender, sexuality, asexuality, queerness
Theology, heresy, orthodoxy
Political theology; law and literature

Sovereignty, kingship, tyranny
Colony, empire, archipelago
Church, corporation, nation
Disability, blindness, plague
Monism, dualism, vitalism, mechanism
Animal, human, angel, deity
Ecology, environment, infrastructure
Anthropology, ethnography, indigeneity
Service, servitude, slavery, race
Milton’s Shakespeare
Milton and Cavendish
Milton and Spenser
Milton and Hobbes
Milton and . . .
Milton studies now

Click here to submit a proposal (500 words maximum) on or before July 1, 2022.

Inquiries can be emailed to MiltonSymposium13@gmail.com