Fresh Ink: New Perspectives on Early Modern Print

The aim of this session is to highlight the current scholarship of PhD candidates and recent PhDs of early modern print. Papers engaging with new methodologies or objects of inquiry are especially encouraged. Our intention is to provide PhD candidates and recent PhDs an opportunity to share their fresh perspectives on the study of early modern print and receive constructive feedback from an international audience.

Per RSA guidelines, advanced graduate students submitting proposals for this panel must be within one or two years of defending their dissertations and should present dissertation-related research.

Proposals must include:

- paper title (15-word maximum)
- abstract (150-word maximum)
- curriculum vitae (.pdf, no longer than 5 pages)
- PhD or other terminal degree completion date (past or expected)
- full name, current affiliation, and email address

Interested participants are invited to send their proposals to co-organizers Rachel M. Carlisle (rcarlisle@fsu.edu) and Lacy Gillette (lgillette@fsu.edu) by Wednesday, 15 July 2020. Decisions regarding acceptance will be provided at least one week prior to the 15 August deadline for RSA Dublin 2021 general submissions.
