

RSA Annual Meeting Recording Policy

Participation and attendance in RSA Virtual 2021 and posting materials—whether pre-circulated videos and PDFs or post-session recordings—is at the sole discretion of the Renaissance Society of America.

In order to provide a safe and respectful platform for all participants and audience members (hereafter, “attendees”), RSA staff (or volunteer session monitors or contracted techs acting on behalf of the RSA) reserve the right to mute, disable video, or remove an attendee at any time for any reason. If such action is taken, notification will be sent to the RSA President, RSA Executive Director, and RSA Director of Meetings, one of whom will be in contact with the attendee about future participation in live components of RSA Virtual 2021. The RSA, at its sole discretion, may reinstate an attendee or may continue to disallow live participation.

Attendees agree:

Not to record, publish, distribute, share, resell, or in any other way, exploit the content of this event, whether pre-circulated, live, or recorded.

In addition to the asynchronous academic content, this also applies to links and URLs for RSA Virtual 2021.

Event presentations and materials are the original works of authorship and the individual property of the respective presenters. Written authorization of both the respective presenter and the RSA are required to reference or share any content associated with RSA Virtual 2021.

All sessions will be recorded. By virtue of participation, all attendees consent to being recorded by the RSA and the host platform provided by Confex. Recordings will make it possible for registrants to view sessions during the 30 days following the meeting. The recordings will not be used for any other purpose. No recording will be provided to any party (including use for any RSA marketing purpose) unless all participants (whether speakers or spectators) in that session agree in writing to the specific use of the recording. Presenters retain all rights to their work.

To report a violation of these terms and conditions, or to share questions or comments, please contact by email the RSA Executive Director, Carla Zecher (czecher@rsa.org); the RSA President, Mara R. Wade (mwade@illinois.edu); or the RSA Director of Meetings, Tracy Robey (trobey@rsa.org).¹
