

The Transition from ICD-9-CM to ICD-10-CM

Guidance for Analysis and Reporting of Injuries by Mechanism and Intent

On January 23, 2017, the following amendments were made to the ISW9 report:

1. On page 9, the list of codes included as external causes was amended to include Y00 as noted below.

Codes included as external causes for the purposes of injury surveillance: For comparability with historical definitions developed in ICD-9-CM, the codes that are considered as describing an external cause include:

- all V, W, and X codes;
- some Y codes (Y00-Y38 only)^a; and
- specific T codes (diagnosis codes) that convey mechanism or intent information. These codes are shown in Table 3 on page 11.

2. On page 22, the list of codes in Table 6 associated with Assault was amended to include Y09. The correct code range is X92-Y09.

Please access the full report with the updates above included at:
www.safestates.org/resource/resmgr/isw9/ISW9_FINAL_Report.pdf.