SAMHSA Oral Fluid Guidelines & Multiple Testing Methodologies: A Primer

Presented by Bill Current, President & Founding Partner
Current Consulting Group, LLC

With the release of the new lab-based oral fluid guidelines from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) comes a new era of drug testing. While SAMHSA's guidelines directly impact federal employees, many states also defer to SAMHSA guidelines, making lab-based oral fluid a viable option for employers across the country. As you look to expand your testing program, understanding how lab-based oral fluid and lab-based urine fit together to create a robust workplace drug testing program is essential.

Join OraSure Technologies for an informative webinar featuring Bill Current of the Current Consulting Group. This presentation will provide an overview of SAMHSA's oral fluid guidelines as well as information on using multiple drug testing methodologies in your workplace and an ROI overview.

Bill Current is the President and Founding Partner of the Current Consulting Group (CCG) and a 30-year veteran of the drug testing industry. Mr. Current is the author of 10 books on substance abuse-related issues and a regular presenter at conferences, seminars, workshops, and webinars, and is widely considered one of the leading experts on drug testing and the drug testing industry.
