1. What impact did the Sarnoff Fellowship year have on your career?

The Sarnoff Fellowship had a huge impact on my career. I had such a great experience working in my Sarnoff mentors lab that I continued in cardiology and research spending a year as a post doc in a cardiology lab and a year of fellowship training in the lab and I continued to be active in research.

2. Why should medical students consider the Sarnoff Fellowship apart from other programs?

The Sarnoff Fellowship is unique in that it is the only program that makes a commitment to support you throughout your whole career. Whether you are a medical student, in training, or young faculty- they are there to support you.

3. What are your professional aspirations?

I just finished EP fellowship and joined a practice in Atlanta. We're starting a lead extraction program. I'm hoping to build my clinical volume to a point that I can have the volume to participate in clinical trials.

4. What is your greatest professional accomplishment?

Last year I published both clinical and basic research. I'm proud to have contributed to a Cell manuscript and been able to get my clinical work published in Heart Rhythm.

5. What is your most memorable Sarnoff moment?

I have a lot of great memories from my time in the Sarnoff fellowship. I always had a great time going out with the fellows at the meetings, but my most memorable moment was during my research year. I was working in the lab late one night and ran into my mentor who dropped everything to just talk and give me advice.

6. What are your hobbies?

I have been pretty busy starting a new job, but I been lucky enough to find time to help coach my son's YMCA basketball team which has been a lot of fun.
