

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact:

Kim McCarl

Crawford Strategy

(864) 232-2302

kim@crawfordstrategy.com

Maceo Nance receives SCEDA Distinguished Service Award

COLUMBIA, S.C. - May 8, 2013 - The S.C. Economic Developers' Association (SCEDA) announced that Maceo Nance, SCCED, director of small business and rural development with the S.C. Department of Commerce, received its Distinguished Service Award during the 2013 SCEDA Annual Conference at the Westin Hilton Head Island Resort.

The SCEDA Distinguished Service Award recognizes exemplary efforts in the field of professional economic and community development in South Carolina.

"Maceo has dedicated more than 30 years to making South Carolina the best state in the country for small business," said George Wolfe, immediate past president of the SCEDA board of directors. "We owe Maceo a debt of gratitude for his role in our state's economic development success. We wish him many more years of success."

Nance has been with the Department of Commerce for more than thirty years, playing important roles in community, rural and national development. He is a graduate of Morehouse College in Atlanta, G.A. He has completed the Basic Economic Developers Course at Georgia Tech, the Economic Development Institute at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, and the South Carolina Economic Developers' Advanced Symposium. Maceo is a native of Orangeburg, S.C. He is married to the former Toni Helms.

About SCEDA

Since 1965, the S.C. Economic Developers' Association has served as the Voice of Economic Development in the Palmetto State. A professional trade association of more than 600 members, with representation from all 46 counties, SCEDA includes local and regional economic developers, as well as officials from municipal, county and state government agencies, construction and engineering firms, utility companies, attorneys, consultants, financial institutions, and higher education. To learn more, visit www.SCEDA.org.