Wolfe elected S.C. Economic Developers' Association president

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. – May 3, 2012 – The S.C. Economic Developers' Association (SCEDA) announced that George B. Wolfe was elected president for 2012-13 at the organization's annual conference in Hilton Head.

Wolfe is a partner with Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough LLP in Columbia, where he practices in the areas of economic development, corporate, and governmental law and serves as chairman of the firm's Economic Development Practice Group. He served as SCEDA's vice president for 2011-12.

"I am privileged to have the opportunity to serve the economic development community as SCEDA president," Wolfe said. "SCEDA's members are at the forefront of job creation in South Carolina, and I look forward to working with them to help our state move forward during the coming year."

Wolfe succeeds Heather Simmons Jones as president. SCEDA's annual conference is taking place this week at the Westin Hilton Head Island Resort. SCEDA will announce its full board of directors for 2012-13 on Friday.

Since 1965, the S.C. Economic Developers' Association has served as the Voice of Economic Development in the Palmetto State. A professional trade association of more than 580 members, with representation from all 46 counties, SCEDA includes local and regional economic developers, as well as officials from municipal, county and state government agencies, construction and engineering firms, utility companies, attorneys, consultants, financial institutions, and higher education.
