Name of event:

SLUC’s mission is to engage the public & private sector in collaborative relationships – with the ultimate benefit of promoting positive community and economic growth in our region.

SLUC’s Relevancy: In a busy environment, many times the interaction between the public sector and private sector members tends to be in the context of working on a specific development project. SLUC helps promote industry relationships outside of specific projects by providing a venue where members can meet, interact, and generally get to know each other on a broader level. Beyond cost/revenue metrics and site design, projects succeed through strong working relationships with a broad range of stakeholders.

Sensible Land Use Coalition background: The Sensible Land Use Coalition was founded over 35 years ago as a non-profit organization to bring together influential members of the public & private sectors which impact the economic / community development of the greater Twin Cities. Our audience has a significant and direct influence on the growth & development of the greater Twin Cities’ market – both in terms of regional growth and financial impact.

The Audience: A cross-section sampling of our membership includes key management/officials from the following organizations:

- City Administrators, Mayors, & Community Development members of 32+ developing communities around the metro area;
- A broad cross-section of leaders within the active private development community – including builders, developers, & consultants (engineers, attorneys, etc.);
- Key members of metro counties, regulatory agencies, & state government.
