The SES Announces the 2020 SES Student Scholarship Program

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

19 January 2020

SES - The Society for Standards Professionals announced today the launch of the 2020 SES Student Scholarship Program. The Scholarship program recognizes the important role that students play in supporting the standardization industry and increasing awareness of and use of standards.

Students must be enrolled in a full-time undergraduate or graduate University or College program and use standards in their school curriculum. Applications should include in their submission an essay outlining the use of standards in their academic program and the importance of standards in their future career goals in addition to a letter of recommendation, college transcript and other items.

In support of its mission, the SES seeks to support the work of the next generation of standards professionals and looks forward to reviewing the 2020 submissions and getting to know the applicants.

Applications must be submitted by April 06, 2020, more information can be found here: <https://www.ses-standards.org/page/Scholarship>

About SES

SES - The Society for Standards Professionals is a not-for-profit professional membership society dedicated to furthering the knowledge and use of standards and standardization. SES provides a neutral networking forum where standards users and developers can come together to address mutual issues, opportunities, and interests in ways that work to the benefit of everyone involved with, or affected by, standards. The Society's worldwide membership includes standards developers, users, managers, and information specialists from industry, government, standards developing organizations, trade associations, and academia. SES is the member body for the United States and Canada in the International Federation of Standards Users (IFAN) and accredited by the American National Standards Institute.
