New 2017 SES Student Scholarship Program!

The Society for Standards Professionals has established a Scholarship Program to support students involved in the use of standards in their academic curriculum. We know that each new generation of graduating students holds the potential for helping us achieve our mission of increasing awareness and use of standards.

Individual or Organization members may support the SES Scholarship Program. Underwriters Laboratories(www.ul.com) is the first organization to co-sponsor the newly established program. For more information about the scholarship or inquiries on scholarship funding opportunities, please contact admin@ses-standards.org.

2017 Student Scholarship Winner

The Society for Standards Professionals has announced a winner of its Scholarship Program to support students involved with standards in their academic curriculum. Jessica Weinhart is a first year student at Seneca College of Applied Arts and Technology in Toronto, ON, Canada. Jessica is enrolled in the Fire Protection Engineering Technology Program which is one of the leading North American programs for fire protection education. She is on the President's Honors List with a grade point average (GPA) of 4.0. She works with Codes and NFPA Standards in her curriculum which will guide her future profession in the field of fire protection. After Jessica graduates, she hopes to pursue a role of public educator within a municipal fire service, which will allow her to educate others on fire safety and encourage the public on safe options to enhance home and business safety. Jessica's long term goal, is to become proficient in all areas of fire safety, and seek promotion to the position of a supervisor, where she can teach and mentor others the importance of fire safety.
