TACCA Donates Funds to TSTC for HVAC Student Scholarships

The Texas Air Conditioning Contractors Association has set up a scholarship fund for students in the Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning Technology program at Texas State Technical College.

TACCA donated $15,000 to the HVAC program for scholarships and plans to continue raising funds. The money creates the TACCA Presidential Scholarship that will go to HVAC students enrolled at TSTC.

TSTC’s HVAC program teaches students to work in both residential and commercial environments. Since 2012, TSTC has placed more than 255 HVAC graduates into the Texas workforce.*

Marcus Balch, Provost for TSTC in North Texas, says, “Having the ability to offer a $1000 scholarship to students that are struggling to make ends meet is huge. Many of these students are working and have families. Helping remove some of the financial burden for these students allows them to focus on their studies while balancing work and families. The financial assistance has been critical in allowing many students to complete our HVAC program and enter or advance into the industry.”

“Air conditioning is a necessity whether it is residential or commercial. Unfortunately, our industry is one that has an aging workforce. The average age of an HVAC technician is 55. So, we need the younger generation to come into the industry, and obviously providing scholarships and other opportunities that help fund a student is something we think is vital. It is important to have programs like TSTC as just one of the many avenues to get the younger people in our industry.”
