

TAGITM Announces President's Award Winner

The Texas Association of Governmental Information Technology Managers (TAGITM) announced the City of Corpus Christi's Director of Information Technology, Tony Tull as the recipient of the 2018 President's Award at its annual conference April 24th in San Antonio.

The President's Award is presented at the discretion of the President for 2017-2018, Mike Sturm, to a member that has made an exemplary and lasting contribution to the organization.

Tony has been a member since 2005 and has served TAGITM since 2010. He is a Past President and most recently served as the TML Affiliate Representative. Tony is the go-to person for TAGITM when Microsoft releases a new Windows operating system. He would have it installed in the first few weeks after it was released and report back to the group on their issues. Tony and the City of Granbury were one of the few that successfully implemented a Wireless mesh network that provided internet service to the citizens of Granbury. The last conversation I had with Tony, there are a few citizens still using this service. Besides being a fulltime Chief Information Officer, Tony is a Volunteer Fire Fighter. When the bell rings, he responds and provides a different level of service to the Citizens of Granbury and he has served TAGITM similarly by always answering the call whether it be through the listserv, board, or membership.

About TAGITM

The Texas Association of Governmental Information Technology Managers (TAGITM) began in 1978 as the Texas Association of Governmental Data Processing Managers. The name of the organization was changed in 2000. A not-for-profit organization, TAGITM provides information systems professionals a forum for generating ideas, sharing problems and developing solutions. Its purpose is to enable Texas cities, counties, school districts and appraisal districts to realize the full potential of automation benefits.
