We sat down recently with Satonya Fair, Director of Grants Management at The Annie E. Casey Foundation, and a TAG member since 2010.

"Now more than ever, it's important that we as technology leaders have the ability to work across the aisle with our partners in communications, programming and more. As our organizations innovate and change, this means we're going to need MORE technology, not less. Technology is driving our world. It's not just driving philanthropy; it's driving the world."

Webinar: Cyber Insurance How To

It's no longer a matter of if, but when. With the rise of cyber intrusions and data breaches in philanthropy, most funders are now expected to encounter a breach and are planning accordingly.

Designed for organizations of all sizes, this webinar explores the role that cyber liability Insurance can play in your risk management strategy.

PEAK Reporting Series

Did you know that 96% of funders require financial reports from grantees and only half of these provide a template (digital or otherwise) for the report.

While grant reports are a fact of life, the efficacy of those reports is at the center of new research, released in PEAK's Insight Journal this year.
